Announce Present Status Of Newton Roll of Honor

Since the dedication of Newton's Roll of Honor a great number of citizens have called to our attention the absence from the Roll of friends and relatives. This regrettable condition existed through no fault of the Citizens Committee. It was due mostly through the inability of the manufacturer to have some 1100 names that reached us later, readied for the day of dedication July 4th. Unfortunately there are many of our Newton boys serving in the armed forces of whom we have no definite knowledge, they having volunteered or enlisted through channels other than our local draft boards. To remedy this, relatives or friends are respectfully and urgently requested to call Bigelow 4700, ask for Miss Duggan, give her the information required and automatically these names will be added to the Roll of Honor in due time.

The status of Newton's Roll of Honor as it exists to date is: 4200 names at dedication—1100 additional names installed this week and 392 names being made, making a total to date of slightly over 5600 names located and authorized for the Roll of Honor.

Approximately 90 names have been withdrawn for correction and will be replaced when completed.

The Citizens Committee is most anxious that no Newton citizen serving in our armed forces be overlooked and we ask the full cooperation of all citizens in this respect.

(Signed) ROY S. EDWARDS,
Chairman C. C. for S. to N. S.

Explosion By Jug of Turpentine Causes $1000 Loss

A fire caused by the explosion of a glass jug of turpentine which had been left by a delivery man on the back steps of the home of Mrs. J. Holbrook, 22 Oxford rd., Newton Centre, damaged the house to the extent of $1000 on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The explosion was caused by the rays of the sun beating down on the glass jug.

Several awnings were destroyed and an outside wall of the house damaged but the fire department succeeded in keeping the blaze from entering the interior of the house. A telephone call was received at Fire Department Headquarters at 12:31 p. m. and at 12:36 an alarm was sounded from Box 751. The "all-out" was sounded at 1:38 p. m.

Is Appointed As Exec. Director

James W. Culliton of 26 Taft ave., West Newton, has been appointed executive director of the committee on postwar readjustment by Gov. Leverett Saltonstall.

Night Dimout Signal To Be Discontinued

Has Not Been Effective As Recent Survey Revealed Infractions On Almost Every Street In Newton

Dimout Rules To Be Enforced

The Newton dimout signal, which has been sounded nightly on the air raid sirens since July 1, will be discontinued beginning next Monday, but strict enforcement of the dimout regulations will be instituted "without further notice" according to a bulletin issued by the Newton Committee on Public Safety.

The reason given for the discontinuance of the signal was that it had not been effective, as a recent survey by local authorities with Army officials revealed "infractions on almost every street." The dimout signal, which had been sounded every evening an hour after sunset, also proved a source of confusion during the recent air raid test. The dimout signal was omitted that night, but residents were unaware of it as the surprise alert started about the time the dimout signal was due. Consequently when the sirens were sounded for the beginning of the raid they thought it was merely "dimout time" and failed to comply with the rules of the alert.

Noon Tests Resumed

The testing of signals at noon will be resumed. Beginning Monday, the R. C. A. sirens (the voice test) will occur daily at noon, except Saturday. The Gamewell horns will be tested once a week, Saturday at noon.

"The testing of these horns is bound to be inconvenient and distasteful to many people," the statement read. "The noon day test seems to be the least inconvenient."

The bulletin, delivered to all homes, was accompanied by another bulletin which included "Laudatory Instructions on Handling Incendiary Bombs," as follows:

"The latest type of German incendiary bomb is a dangerous weapon. It cannot be handled like the 2 lb. incendiary, as described in Bulletin Number 2 issued two years ago.

"The incendiary bomb in common use now weighs about 5 lbs. and carries an explosive charge in its head: the explosive charge is heavy enough to be effective on a person standing up 80 feet away. The 5 lb. incendiary is not likely to lodge in the attic, but can be expected to penetrate the first floor or basement of a house."

New Instructions

Under the heading "What Can the Householder Do?" the following instructions were given:

1. Get everyone out of the house as quickly as possible. Take refuge elsewhere.

2. Wait until the bomb explodes (7 minutes).

3. Go back to fight the fire with all the help available. Your warden will help and advise you.

In connection with the warning that the dimout regulations will be enforced, the committee announced the following "revised dimout regulations":

"Changes affecting householders of Newton are explained here-with.

"(A) Section III, Paragraph 12, has been amended to allow the unshielded portion of a window to be any quarter, not necessarily the bottom quarter, provided that no light fixture or portable lamp may be seen through the opening from any position outside above the horizontal and no direct light is projected above the horizontal.

"(B) Section III, Paragraph 12, has been further amended so that for purposes of ventilation a door or window may be open and unshielded provided that all light visible through it is reflected and that no light fixture or portable lamp may be seen through the opening from any position outside and throws no beam of light outside.

"(C) Dimout occurs one hour after sunset and continues to one hour before sunrise until October 1, when the time again will be set one-half hour after sunset until one-half hour before sunrise.

"For a ruling on any particular dimout problem, consult your Warden or the Village Blackout Officer."

Faculty Member Joins The WAVES

Miss Virginia Kenway, graduate of the All Newton Music School and for many years one of its faculty members in the piano department, left on Thursday, July 29th, for Hunter College, New York, where she will have basic training as a WAVE.

A party was given in honor of Miss Kenway on Monday evening before her departure by Miss Lillian West of Clafin Place, Newtonville, at which members of the staff and faculty of the Music School were present.

During the evening, Miss Elizabeth Effe, director emerita, spoke of Miss Kenway's fine work at the school both as a student and teacher and voiced regret at the loss of her valuable services, expressing pleasure, however, at the thought of her being able to transfer her ability and devotion to the need of the country.

In behalf of the personnel of the Music School, Miss West presented Miss Kenway with a Defense Bond as a token of friendship and of good wishes.

Miss Kenway remains as a member of the faculty on military leave of absence and will keep in touch with the school while away. Among those present were Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. Guernsey Camp, Miss Ruth Crandall, Miss Duro, Miss Irene Forte, Miss Elizabeth Effe, Miss Elizabeth Hartshorne, Miss Agnes Olson, Mrs. Arthur Scipione, Miss Lillian West, and Mrs. Wm. C. Worth.

Entertains French Sailors At Home

Henry F. Purcell, a carpenter, employed by the Newton Street Department, has been entertaining a group of from 12 to 16 French sailors at his home, 52 Elliot ave., West Newton, several evenings each week.

Mr. Purcell is entertaining these men in appreciation of the kindness shown him while a Yankee doughboy in France during World War I. His wife and daughter, Miss Odette Purcell, both speak French fluently and therefore the men can feel at home where their native language is spoken.

Neighbors who are assisting in the entertainment of the sailors are Mrs. Harold Linnell, Miss Eva Linnell, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Paul, Mrs. Martha Paul, Mrs. Lucille Carter, Mrs. James Shea and Miss Mae O'Brien.

THE NEWTON METHODIST CHURCH

The last in the series of summer union services to be held in The Methodist Church in Newton Centre for the season will be Sunday, August 8, at 11 o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. H. D. Hawver, preaching. Mrs. Marjorie Greene Briggs will preside at the organ, with Mrs. Florence Owen Lucas, soloist. The subject of Mr. Hawver's sermon will be, "Your Father Knows".

Waban Home Is Struck In Storm

During the storm on Saturday evening a bolt of lightning struck the home of Frederick G. Wilder at 185 Collins rd., Waban, entering the bedroom of his daughter who was away for the week-end, and, crossing the room, hit the radio and went down the side of the house, scarring the porch and scattering bits of molding around.

Mrs. Wilder was in the living room when the bolt passed within 10 feet of her. The lights went out and she was unable to see what damage had been caused. Mr. Wilder, who was on his way up the driveway toward the house, was also unaware that the bolt had struck the house.

When he discovered the damage which had been done to his daughter's room, Mr. Wilder notified the Fire Department and called for a ruling on any particular dimout problem, consult your Warden or the Village Blackout Officer."

The house is owned by Philip VerPlanck of 46 Windsor rd., Waban.

Promotions Made In Fire Dept.

The following promotions in the Newton Fire Department have been made by Chief of the Fire Department John L. Keating and detail from Engine 8, under direction of Deputy Chief Francis E. Linnehan, placed a covering over the portion of the roof which had been damaged.

Lieutenants appointed were: Francis E. Fitzgerald, 1321 Beacon st., Waban; Lawrence N. Clark, 29 Richardson st., Newton, and Philip J. Coakley, 845 Boylston st., Newton Highlands.

To fill the places of those promoted to lieutenants, the chief appointed John W. Prescott, Elliot McCellan and Richard E. Cronin permanent firemen. They had been serving as military substitutes.

Lights Go Out At Convent As Result Of Storm

Engine 8 responded to a call at 8:49 on Saturday evening from the Notre Dame Convent when the lights went out during the storm. Deputy Chief Corcoran stated that a short circuit may have been caused by the storm which caused the lights to go out.

No fire resulted. At 9:26 on Saturday evening Engine 1 responded to a line box call for a fire in a house over the Brighton line where lightning had caused a slight fire.

At 8:11 p.m. on the same evening Engine 2 responded to a call for a short circuit in an electric refrigerator at 160 Washington st., Newton.

At 5:13 Sunday afternoon Engine 8 responded to a line box call at Watertown where damage had been caused by a defective sprinkler system at the John T. Lodge Company.

BABSON INSTITUTE GRADUATES

Two hundred and forty-three Supply Corps Specialists were graduated Monday, August 2, from the Navy Supply Corps School at Babson Institute of Business Administration, Babson Park. Exercises were held in Richard Knight Auditorium. Mr. John K. Horner, Head of the Division of Finance at Babson Institute, was the speaker. Graduates came to the speaker, and after successfully completing an intensive thirty-day course, will go to all branches of Navy Supply activity throughout the world.

The next unit of about two hundred and fifty Supply Corps Specialists will report to Babson Institute on August 9.

Honor Memory By Donating Blood

In honor of the memory of Ensign Gerald S. Bennett, Naval flier, of 17 Duffield rd., Auburn-dale, who was killed in a plane collision over Puget Sound last March on the day before he was to go to the Aleutian Islands, a group of his friends and neighbors donated a pint of blood each to the Red Cross on last Thursday.

The members of the group, who visited the Blood Donor Center of the Red Cross in Boston, were Arthur A. Hunt, 16 Duffield road, who gave his tenth blood donation; Charles E. Coogan, vice-commander of the Newton Post, A. L. Wallace, L. M. Cox, sergeant-at-arms of the Post, Miss Helen Hunt, daughter of Arthur, and Miss Victoria Anderson, sister of Mrs. Hunt, each of whom made their fifth blood contribution at the center. Arthur Hunt is past commander of Newton Post and is a member of Local Selective Service Board 113.

Newton Payrolls Exceed Million Dollars In June

Payrolls in 38 manufacturing establishments in Newton passed the million dollar mark for the month of June for an all-time high, according to a compilation reported recently by the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

The million - dollar - a-month mark was hit for the first time in May, but June's total was over $3000 more than the previous month. The June payrolls totaled $1,093,397, which nearly doubled the mark of $558,134, set in June, 1942, according to the report.

The average number of employees in the establishments during June was 7331, showing an increase of 2905 over the 4926 average of 1942. The amount of increase in payrolls over June of 1942 was 95.9 per cent, while the percentage of increase in employees was 58.9 per cent.

According to Chamber figures, the 1929 high in payrolls in Newton was four million dollars for the year, and the 1932 depression total was $1,585,000. The 1942 total of manufacturing payrolls was $7,743,000.

The employment of payrolls report of the Newton Chamber also gives the following figures:

"The state average on employment for June, 1943, was 9.2 per cent greater than June, 1942. Newton was 58.9 per cent greater for the same month. The amount paid in wages in the state for June, 1943, was 30.2 per cent greater than in June, 1942; Newton was 95.9 per cent greater for the same month."

Weekly Payments

A further note on the Chamber's report is as follows:

"To those who pay weekly employees by check or draft—an act passed by the State Legislature of 1943 requires employers who pay weekly employees by check or draft to provide means for cashing this paper without charge unless reasonable facilities for doing this are available."

Secretary Rupert C. Thompson also announces that additional copies of the Massachusetts Labor Laws (Chapter 149) are available for members.

Boys Are Given Certificates

Last Sunday afternoon 300 people witnessed the presenting of certificates to 85 boys who participated in the farm-camping program at The Farm and Trades School during July. In presenting the certificates Headmaster William M. Meacham said that these were the first of their kind this 128-year-old private school.

Boys of excellent character had ever awarded and that they represented commendable character, excellent progress in farming and special ability and skill in one or more of the 52 activities of this summer program. Everyone agreed that this pioneer war effort program was most worth while.

The band, conducted by Lieutenant Frank L. Warren, gave a half-hour concert. Lieutenant Edward Rowe Snow, author of several books on Boston Harbor, and recently returned from war service in the North African and European area, addressed the audience assembled on the lawn south of the Bullfinch main building.

The following Newton boys were awarded certificates:

Donald DeWolf, Newton Centre; Roger L. Whitcomb of Newton Highlands; Frank N. Babick of Newtonville.

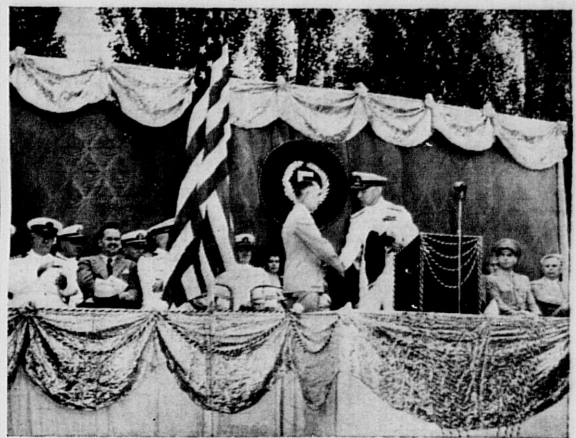

Ark-Les Switch Corp. Awarded Army-Navy E

Rear Admiral Watt Tyler Cluverius Makes Presentation To Former Newton Firm in Colorful Exercises

On Friday, July 30th, the employees of the Ark-Les Switch Corporation of Watertown, formerly of Watertown St., Newton, were presented with the Army and Navy "E" Award for of the Corporation, and Mr. William M. Whitney, Superintendent, also 15 Naval officers and several Army officers.

Malcolm F. MacNeil, President of the Ark-Les Switch Corp. Receiving The "E" Pennant From Admiral Cluverius

Achievement in Production by Rear Admiral Watt Tyler Cluverius at one of the most colorful ceremonies for such an occasion experienced in this part of the country.

The setting for this occasion was the attractive Metropolitan District Park opposite the new plant of the Ark-Les Switch Corporation on the Charles River banks, and among the large audience which attended were representatives of industry from 13 states.

Immediately following an inspection of the plant in operation by the official party and guests, presentation ceremonies were opened with an invocation by Capt. R. L. Lewis, Head Chaplain of the 1st Naval District, and the singing of the National Anthem by Miss Lorraine Garfield, an employee, accompanied by the 181st Infantry band.

The Master of Ceremonies, Bill Cunningham, after addressing the employees and guests on the significance of the Army and Navy "E" Award and the achievement of the men and women of Ark-Les Switch which merited this coveted award, introduced Adm. Cluverius. The admiral, following an inspiring address to the employees, presented the Army and Navy "E" Award Pennant to Malcolm F. MacNeil, President of the Corporation, who accepted it on behalf of the employees.

On the speaker's platform, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, were seated, besides those mentioned above, Capt. John Hyland, USN; Hon. Jarvis Hunt, President Mass. Senate; Mr. Patrick Menton, Chairman of the Watertown Board of Selectmen; Col. E. C. Whiteside, Jr., Chemical Warfare Service, who presented the pins to Anna Speakman and Arthur Irwin, representing the employees; Mr. Hugh W. Batcheller, Treasurer of the 1st Naval District, and the singing of the National Anthem by Miss Lorraine Garfield, an employee, accompanied by the 181st Infantry band.

"UNCLE SAM NEEDS NURSES"

"Uncle Sam Needs Nurses" and it is up to us to fill this all-important need. Uncle Sam needs 3000 nurses a month, 2500 for the Army and 500 for the Navy. The Red Cross is endeavoring to enlist these nurses through its First Reserve. Enlistment is not a problem for the Red Cross alone. It is a community problem one which must be met by every citizen.

First, the nurses must see and feel that their first responsibility is to the armed forces of the country. Those men who are fighting for our homes and our way of life must have the best care in the world, care which only the best American trained nurses can give them. It is vital that their health be safeguarded so that they miss as few days as possible away from the fighting fronts. When they are wounded they must be mended quickly so they can go on fighting. When they have given everything they have for their country and lie on hospital beds painfully maimed, they must recognize that we are in there fighting with them. Nurses can help them recover in spirit as well as in body. Good nursing means not only that chances of our sons coming back are greater, it means their chances of coming back in sound body and mind are better. And that is the way we want them back.

Nurses know that only they, with their training, can give the kind of service that is needed. Nurses make war less horrible. Certainly they can see their responsibility. If they do not, it is up to us to show them. It is up to us with sons at the front whose care is nearest to our hearts. It is up to us who want this war to be over as quickly as possible.

It is also up to us not to interfere with nurses when they see their responsibility and are willing to go. Not only should married and unmarried nurses between 21 and 45 be encouraged to sign up with the Red Cross First Reserve, but no obstacles should be put in the way of their reporting for immediate military service. Hospital superintendents, doctors and business and industrial firms employing eligible nurses should take immediate steps to replace them with older nurses or married nurses who may be excluded from military service. Nurses who have retired because of marriage, financial independence or other reasons should take refresher courses and return to active duty to relieve those who are joining the military service.

Those are the responsibilities of employers; there is a responsibility which concerns every one of us. It is to keep well so that we as civilians won't demand the time of nurses needed by our fighting men. When we do become ill we should be willing to get along with the least special attention the doctor deems practicable. We should not demand special nurses unless they are an absolute necessity. Wherever possible, one person in every home should take the Red Cross Home Nursing Course to learn to prevent sickness and when it does strike, how to cope with it.

The quicker we can show that we don't need these eligible nurses in civilian life, the more responsive the nurses will be to the call, "Uncle Sam Needs Nurses." It is to be hoped that in our city at least, no eligible nurses will fail to heed this call. They should join the Red Cross Reserves through the Local Recruitment Chairman for Army and Navy Nurses, Miss Phyllis Keene, Newton Hospital, Newton Lower Falls.

Merchants Meet On Food Items

A simplified procedure in marking prices in the "cost of living" food items was outlined by a representative of the Boston OPA staff at a meeting of merchants of Newton, Wellesley and Needham under the sponsorship of the Newton War Price and Rationing Board at the City Hall cafeteria on Monday evening.

Franklin S. Hoyt, chairman of the Newton price panel, introduced John Pierce of the Boston OPA, who clarified the new procedure. The new regulations have eliminated posting of prices, recording of prices with the board, listing of prices and ceilings.

The new charts give the specified markup for foods, including groceries and some perishable articles, and the merchant is required only to mark the price on the item.

The new prices go into effect today.

reduced greatly, in many instances from 50 to 100 per cent. Over 20 per cent of the employees have donated blood to the Red Cross in groups.

The record for bond purchases has been outstanding, and the accidents in this plant have been reduced as shown by state figures to one of the lowest percentages of accidents in the state. The ceremonies were closed with the singing of America by Miss Grace Smith, an employee, accompanied by the band and the entire assembly.

Immediately following the presentation ceremonies the "E" pins were presented to the employees by Army and Navy officers accompanied by representatives of the American Legion.

A delightful buffet luncheon was served on the grounds following the ceremony, where Adm. Cluverius and his official party mingled with the employees to congratulate them personally on their outstanding achievement.

CAMBRIDGE SUMMER THEATRE

The season's most exciting dramatic event will take place next week at the Cambridge Summer Theatre when the curtains rise on Monday evening's performance of "The Emperor Jones."

Eugene O'Neill's prize-winning drama featuring the distinguished Negro actor Rex Ingram. This engagement compares favorably with last season's sensational production of "Othello" with Paul Robeson and Margaret Webster.

Rex Ingram has had a varied and interesting career. Originally he studied medicine, actually graduating from medical school. But, in order to defray his educational expenses, he had turned to acting as a student and his remarkable proficiency in this art soon caused him to give up the medical profession. Erudite, handsome and prodigiously talented, Rex Ingram has appeared often in many plays, such as "Marching Song," "Stevedore," "Black Pit," "Hail," and last season's famous musical "Cabin in the Sky." Hollywood has employed the services of this great actor on numerous occasions. Among the more prominent films in which Mr. Ingram has appeared are "The Thief of Bagdad," "Talk of the Town" with Jean Arthur, Cary Grant and Ronald Colman. It was as "De Lawd" in the beloved "Green Pastures" that he made possible his greatest hit. Currently he is to be seen on the screen in the neighborhood houses in the film version of "Cabin in the Sky," playing the character of Lucifer, Jr., which he created on the stage originally.

"The Emperor Jones," a dynamic character study of an ex-Pullman porter turned dictator, is one of Eugene O'Neill's first and most successful stage plays. The supreme dramatist of our day, O'Neill has seldom written a more moving, powerful and unforgettable drama. It is a masterpiece of its kind and richly deserves the many revivals it has had. In Rex Ingram, the Cambridge Theatre has chosen the best possible actor to interpret the role, for seldom has there been such a fortunate blend of actor, play and role at any Summer Theatre.

The supporting cast for this great play includes William Menck, Brattle Hall regular, playing Smithers, broken down Englishman, whose taunts serve to infuriate the "Emperor"; Lawaune Kennard, member of the famed Katherine Dunham group of dancers, will play the Witch Doctor. Neil McFee Skinner, former Cambridge director, will stage the production with the various settings designed by Andrew Mack. There will be two matinees next week—Wednesday and Saturday for "The Emperor Jones."

Keep Vitamins In Home-Canned Tomatoes

The tomato rates respect because it is chockful of vitamins (A and C), those invisible spark plugs that keep one feeling fit.

Tomatoes are an important food, it is imperative that every one not needed for immediate use be saved by canning, but they must be canned right, else there will be little or no vitamin C left in them. Undue exposure to air after the skins are removed and over-cooking in an uncovered container destroy vitamin C. This is one reason that tomatoes should be prepared and canned as quickly as possible. Usually whole tomatoes have more food value than tomato juice, partly because a considerable amount of vitamin A is lost in the pulp that falls to go through the strainer when the juice is made, but mainly because greater exposure to air destroys vitamin C. If you want first-class canned tomatoes, use freshly gathered, firm-ripe, sound fruit—one small bad spot can ruin a whole batch. Wash the tomatoes before scalding; scald a few at a time. Remove all core, slip off the skins, and cut away green spots. Pack the tomatoes tight into clean hot jars—this is best done by pressing each tomato down with a wooden spoon. Add salt to season to suit your taste—the usual amount is one teaspoon to the quart. Seal jars according to manufacturer's instructions and process 35 minutes in hot water bath. If tomatoes are not fresh from the garden, process 45 minutes.

No juice can be better than the fruit from which it is made, so be sure to use strictly fresh, firm-ripe, red tomatoes, which are free from all decay. Wash well and cut away any green spots or weather cracks. Weather cracks are those splits that form around the stem ends when hot sunshine follows a hard rain. Such tomatoes are unfit for canning or juice unless used immediately after picking. Leave the tomatoes whole and steam or bake them until they are soft, then press through a fine sieve, preferably a cone-shaped one; reheat the juice to simmering; pour into sterilized jars and process 30 minutes at simmering. The pulp will separate from the juice unless a very fine sieve is used or if too much heat is applied at any time. Oh, so you boil the juice in an open kettle until it is thick? Well, that's a fine way to get rid of most of those precious vitamins.

The best tasting juice is that made by pressing whole home-canned tomatoes through a sieve just before serving. Any seasonings liked may be added before canning but the juice will be better if seasonings, except salt, are added when the juice is opened for serving, and even the salt may be left out.

HENRY ORNE RIDER

Private funeral services were held for Henry Orne Rider, 83, of 36 Islington st., Auburndale, on Sunday, August 1, at his home. Mr. Rider was born in Salem, June 17, 1860, and was educated in the public schools there and in Newton. He was a pupil of Deans Wells Champerne at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and later studied under Matthias Duval, Louis Boulanger, Leon Germaine Pelouse, Leon Joubert and Edmond Petitjean in Paris.

He was formerly professor of art at Lasell Junior College and Mt. Ida Junior College, and superintendent of art in the Dedham public schools. He had exhibits at the Paris Salon from 1889-1891, at the Chicago Art Exhibit of the World Columbian Exposition in 1893, at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and the National Academy in New York. Some of his works in the Donald McKay Junior High School, East Boston, and other paintings are in the Brooklyn Institute of Art and Sciences; Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.; the Harrison Gray Otis House University Women's Building, Boston; and Virginia Public Utilities Building, Alexandria, Va.

His better known paintings include the "Battle of Lake Champlain" in the salon of the U. S. destroyer Phelps, and the "Battle of Manila Bay" on the destroyer Charles V. Gridley. He was a member of the Society of American Artists, Paris; the Providence Art Association, the Springfield Art Association, and the Boston Art Club. Surviving him are his sister, Miss Elizabeth Rider of Auburndale, and four brothers, Robert of Glastonbury, Ct.; J. Scott of Buffalo, Stewart W. of Minneapolis, and Harold A. Dane of Spokane, Wash.

Camp Frank A. Day

The high spot of the past week at Camp Day was the circus on Saturday. Over one hundred guests arrived in camp a little after noon. Special buses hired for the occasion met the 11:50 train at East Brookfield and made return connections with the evening train at the same station. In addition local campers at surrounding cottages turned out in grand fashion for this annual affair at Camp Day.

For two whole days the campers and the counselors pitched in to make this affair the real success that it was. The ball field was converted into a circus ground. The concessions, booths, and special side shows were constructed along the base lines. The Chamber of Horrors pitched two tents along the third base line that vied for attention with Harvey Carpenter ducking base balls in "Hill the Coon" concession. The circus started with a parade at 3 o'clock. Pollock, the ring master, with the help of two clowns led the way from the assembly ground to the ball field. Prof. Daye and the animals came next, the horses, the giraffes, the jumbies, the elephants, and the beasts from the African jungles. The Midget Indians, Hansen and his clowns, and the tumbler headed by Stuart Evans and Richard Dr'sko followed in that order with ancient Dragoon Hupphus drawing up in the rear.

The circus commenced with Prof. Daye introducing his animals. They all behaved very well with the exception of Hupphus who insisted on doing a Conga. Hansen and Hickey with the other clowns entertained with three specialty numbers. The Midget Indians put on their annual wild west act. The tumbler led by Hansen and Drisko scored a distinct hit with their varied program of tumbling and pyramids. Last but by no means least on the program was the master of the Richard Brackett and his mystifying tricks which intrigued the huge audience gathered at the ball park.

Everyone was of the opinion that the circus was a huge success. The concessions and the show in former years and there was a record crowd in attendance.

A wartime swimming demonstration was planned for Saturday evening, but a severe electric storm caused the program to be postponed. The campers, campers and counselors gathered in the mess hall until it was time for the evening train singing camp songs and playing games. The end of a perfect day!

Last Tuesday evening the Counselor II team defeated the Worker-Ranger Combination by the score of 7-3. The standing in the Two-Light League:

Counselor I	3	0
Counselor II	2	2
Seniors	1	1
Worker-Ranger	0	3

Wednesday night the Junior and the Senior camps went on a night hike directly after supper walking around the lake in the opposite direction from the week before. The campers made good time. The last man was in about 9:15. While the Juniors and Seniors were off hiking, the Midgets were enjoying mass games at the Midget bowl led by the Midget counselors who were excused from the hike for that purpose.

There were no activities on either Thursday or Friday. Activity periods on those days were given over to circus preparation. Thursday evening there was boating for those eligible until 8 o'clock. Then the whole camp gathered in the mess hall to see the movies for the evening. The feature picture was "Geronimo." At the Sunday morning chapel service, Nix read the scripture lesson, Mr. Riley conducted the service, and Rev. Allen, pastor of the Methodist Church at Newton Corner, preached the sermon.

NEWTON MOTOR CORPS WINS RACE WITH STORK

At the request of the 1st Service Command, Newton Red Cross Motor Corps won a race against old Mr. Stork the other day when a service man's wife was rushed from Newton to the Ft. Devens Hospital just a little more than an hour before the birth of a baby girl. The planned request came at six in the morning—by eight, Mrs. Frank Baker of Newton Centre, wife of a young officer candidate at M. I. T., was in the Ft. Devens hospital. Once more, Red Cross was on hand to assist the armed forces!

MILDRED E. HARRING

Mrs. Mildred E. Harring of 30 Glen rd., Newton Centre, widow of Dr. Carl G. Harring, died on Friday, July 30, at the Baker Memorial Hospital, Boston.

Mrs. Harring was in her 70th year. She was born in Rockland, Maine, the daughter of Fred L. and Harriet (Pickering) MacLoughlin. She was a member of the Massachusetts Maine Daughters, the Daughters of Colonial Wars, Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts and the Newton Centre Woman's Club. She was a past regent of Old North Chapter, D. A. R., and past president of the Women's Organization of the Boston Association of Retail Druggists.

She is survived by a son, Dr. Cedric F. Harring, a grandson, Cedric F. Harring, Jr., both of Newton Centre, and a brother, Fred L. MacLoughlin, Jr., of Haverhill, New Hampshire. Funeral services were held at the Short and Williamson Chapel in Allston Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. M. Russell Boynton of the First Church in Newton Centre, of which Mrs. Harring was a member, officiated. Burial was in Knollwood Cemetery, Canton.

Colonel Describes Jungle Warfare To Kiwanians

Lieutenant Colonel Francis J. McGowan of Waltham, recently returned after 18 months foreign duty including the conquest of Guadalcanal described in detail the jungle warfare against Japs in the South Pacific in his address to the Newton Kiwanis last Tuesday.

The Colonel has an extensive military record dating back 27 years and including service on the Mexican border and in World War I. He has been assigned to Fort Benning, Georgia, to instruct officer candidates in jungle tactics. He stated that American troops have no more compunction about killing Japs than stepping on a cockroach. They are a worthy foe, well equipped and well trained. As he states, "Good soldiers, but not gentlemen soldiers." They know every trick in the bag but our men are countering with typical Yankee ingenuity and gradually overcoming the Japs' superior training in this type of warfare. They are tenacious and he said he has little regard for their morals and stated that they were cunning and engaged in a type of battle that the American soldier has been forced to learn. Owing to this cunning and ability to deceive the number of Jap prisoners taken is not high. Americans, he said, cannot afford to take chances with Japanese trickery. This jungle fighting means that a man must pay attention to every sound. The enemy is a wary one. He knows the number of shots your rifle is capable of firing.

Ways of getting through the jungle growth must be evolved. He paid high tribute to the Army Engineers and the Seabees. They have done a marvelous job and made our fight more successful. The conclusion of the brilliant action of the Navy and Air Force against great odds in smashing enemy efforts to reinforce their troops. He said the Japs have an utter disregard for human life and utter themselves into a fanatical frenzy before attacking. He said that casualties among the Jap troops were in the proportion of eight to one to the American losses. In the early days of the South Pacific war there were too few stocks of supplies. Our boys feel that the American public is to blame for these shortages and also are particularly bitter about reports of strikes which have reached them.

American fighters are doing a great job and this is especially apparent as more and more supplies and equipment are reaching them. The speaker said that the American boys in his command included a large number who were former residents of Newton and Waltham and were all game fighters. Guests included Rupert C. Thompson, Roy A. Edwards, Clifford H. Ohnemus, Paul Wentworth and Sal DiFazio. President Jim Riggs presided and the speaker was introduced by Walter Hood of the Program Committee.

Mrs. Walsh was in her 77th year. She had been a resident of Newton for more than 40 years.

She is survived by one son, John Walsh, of Newton. Funeral services were held on Saturday morning from the Doherty Chapel, 327 Watertown st., Newton. A high mass of requiem was celebrated in the Church of Our Lady, Newton, by Rev. John A. Saunders of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, with prayers by Fr. Saunders.

What About Advertising?

In 1917 during the last war, this group continued to advertise their products and services:

Sunkist Oranges
Eastman Kodak
Coca-Cola
Phoenix Hosiery
Corona Typewriters
Wrigley's Gum
Gillette Razors Whitman
and many others

This group began new advertising ventures in 1917:

U. S. Rubber Co.
General Tire Co.
Lucky Strike Cigarettes
Pepsodent Tooth Paste
California Prune Growers' Assn.
Eversharp Pencils
and a host of others

This group quit advertising in 1917:

Pearline
Pear's Soap
Sweet Caporal Cigarettes
Sapolio
Cottolene

Some tried to stage comebacks later. They spent a lot of money trying to recapture public fancy, but were unable to do so. Their effort was wasted because new and aggressive companies had moved in and won the public through advertising.

Washington — As the fortunes of war turn more favorable to the United Nations, America Firsters, ex-bundlers and some lily-white observers are disposed to read evil in the manifesto released by the National Committee for Free Germany in Moscow. The aim of this committee is to bring about "the formation of a real National German Government that will stop the war and set up a democracy."

To accomplish this the committee has called upon the German soldiers to mutiny, turn their backs upon their leaders, and blast their way home. What's wrong with the plan? We, too, have urged both Germans and Italians to do the very same thing. The only difference was that when Roosevelt and Churchill advised the Nazis and Fascists to arise they gave them no clear instructions on how to arise. The Russian manifesto, on the other hand, gives specific instructions. It tells the Germans to turn their weapons against Hitler's officers, to return to Germany, set up a democratic government and ask for peace. It even offers them a slogan, "Peace!" and "A free and independent Germany." Anything wrong with that? "Yes," say certain innocents. "This manifesto proves that Stalin intends to have much to say about the final disposal of Germany. It says nothing of the treatment to be accorded a defeated Germany; and Stalin did not consult London and Washington before releasing the manifesto."

No one in his right mind can deny that the defeat of Germany, under any circumstances and by any means, is a desirable thing. The document, even though it has not been officially endorsed by the Russian Government, carries the implied promise that Russia will stop at Germany's borders and that she favors the setting up of a democratic form of government in a Hitlerless German Reich. If Russia hasn't consulted London and Washington—and we have a feeling that she did—her offer is no more than a tactical move in the propaganda war similar to British-American moves in Italy.

It is our belief that Russia is seeking to assure the world that it does not favor Communist revolution in Nazi-controlled lands and also wants to serve notice that in planning the postwar world that the Soviets must also have their say. Even the most rabid anti-communist will agree that the Russians, who thus far have paid most in blood, sweat and tears to help kill the Nazis, should have a voice in making the peace. And when that time comes we feel confident that a way will be found for a joint solution of the German problem by all of the United Nations.

When this war started the memory of the profiteering scandals were still vivid in the minds of many Americans. So, members of the House of Representatives, the American Legion and Bernard Baruch began studying means and ways of keeping excess profits out of the war. Shortly thereafter Congress decreed that Army and Navy Boards could reopen and renegotiate contracts and could act to recapture excessive profits.

How well these boards have worked is attested by the more than $2,000,000,000 these boards have saved the taxpayer to date. And at the rate they are going, over $300,000,000 will be recaptured every month from now on. Here's how it works: A truck company is making a smaller profit per unit than it did in peacetime. But the enormous volume it now produces has blown up total profits by almost 1000 per cent. Renegotiation terms profits to a scant 8 per cent, but even after taxes, the company is still earning four times its average peacetime income. Fair enough.

The boards have no cut and dried formula. One manufacturer who had no conversion problem may be allowed a 6 per cent profit on sales while another who had to recoup his plant for the duration is allowed a 15 per cent profit to recoup eventual losses.

The boards work slowly. They have to. But they also work justly. They're doing their best to prevent a repetition of the scandals of the last war when a thousand millionaires were born of the blood of fighting men.

Steamer. Silence reigns along the harbors and docks. Even ship-building activities have greatly diminished. As a result of the continuous and deadly attacks on the harbor by the RAF, Rotterdam has been bottled up and largely abandoned by the Germans, who are using Emden and other German ports instead. Not only that these ports are even more susceptible to RAF attacks than Rotterdam, but their use as seaports is an additional burden on the already overcrowded Dortmund-Ems Canal.

The decision to abandon Rotterdam as a port was made after RAF raids between May 12 and June 14 put out of action the Rhine-Herne canal, vital inland waterway linking the Westphalian coalfields with Rotterdam. The canal's sluices and a large percentage of its coal barges were destroyed during the British raids.

A Dutch shipping agent with great personal experience of Rotterdam's situation during the war, points out that shortly after the invasion Rotterdam's mercantile traffic increased visibly, with German authorities dashing all over the city to get wharves. Much iron-ore traffic from the Norwegian port of Narvik passed through Rotterdam on its way to the Ruhr. On their return trips these ships left Rotterdam with cargoes of coal.

In sharp contrast with these facts an article by the German Commissioner for Rotterdam, Dr. Carl Voelckers in a recent issue of a German shipping periodical, makes ironic remarks. "What over the political new order in this western territory will be," Voelckers said, "the Rhine port of Rotterdam will always have to do its share in the great common task of the North Sea ports. It is in accordance with its European economic mission that plans for Rotterdam's future are being drawn up."

Better ask the United Nations for new plans, Dr. Voelckers—they're ready!

WALTER PIERCE PREDICTS: The Allies will occupy Southern Italy by passing Sardinia, Corsica, France and Northern Italy. Then watch for "planequakes" on Roumanian oil fields, Bulgaria, Hungary and South Germany's transportation and vital industries. . . . Decisive battles are coming. The outcome of these battles does not and cannot cause any doubt. Joint powerful blows from the east and west will crush and destroy Hitlerite Germany with her dark, mediaeval barbarity and oppression. . . . Mussolini's fall made your reporter feel — in a small way—how Lindbergh must have felt back in '26, when coming out of the clouds over France, he found himself plump over Le Bourget field. Six months ago this column predicted Mussolini's fall and Badoglio's ascendancy to power. Some time later we said: "Italy will be out of the war by Aug. 1st. — remember the date Aug. 1st." She may well be out of it as this goes to press. . . . We don't profess to have an "in" on our High Command's strategic plans. The next fellow's guess is as good as ours. We merely base our predictions on close observation and common horse sense—so don't get us wrong! . . . An article in the S.S. organ "Storm" reproaches the Dutch people bitterly because of their "unGermanic reaction." The writer demanded deportation to Germany for Dutch merchants who are taking orders for post-war delivery—not on German goods but on AMERICAN HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCES.

NEWTON HOSPITAL GRAY LADIES GRADUATE

Capping exercises for a Newton Hospital Gray Ladies Unit were held recently in the beautiful garden of the Wellesley Hills home of Mrs. Harry Blake. Mrs. William L. Young, chairman of Volunteer Special Services for the Newton Chapter, addressed the group, and the graduates were capped by Mrs. Stanley Hobbs, in charge of the volunteers at the hospital, assisted by Mrs. E. D. Warner, chairman of the Newton Corps, and Mrs. Blake, chairman of the Wellesley Gray Ladies Corps. After the exercises, a delightful tea was served to the Gray Ladies and their guests.

Members of the new Newton Unit include Mrs. Walter M. Mars-ton, Mrs. Clinton Brown, Mrs. C. Yardley Chittick, Mrs. Raymond Leonard, Mrs. Charles Houghton and Mrs. Otto A. Alcide.

This WEEK, This WORLD

by Ted Friend

NOT SINCE William Randolph Hearst proved himself the world's worst prophet, when on the eve of the Roosevelt-Landon election he stepped off a gangplank after a visit to totalitarian Germany and unequivocally asserted, "I will stake my reputation that Mr. Landon will be elected tomorrow," has so puerile a prognostication been made as that by Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune Corporation in his statement that "If a convention was held now, MacArthur would be nominated by acclamation. If MacArthur wins a great victory he will be president."

When Hearst made his famous prediction concerning the certainty of Landon's election he was wrong by exactly 46 states!

McCormick, albeit MacArthur will be wrong by probably 48 states!

While Gen. MacArthur has done a satisfactory military job, and as a useful symbol, an even better morale job, he does not by accomplishment or background justify the enthusiasm emitted by the Roosevelt hatters.

In the rough and tumble of a political campaign it will not be forgotten that, until his sterling defensive work in the Pacific, MacArthur's most publicized action was the unfortunate "Battle of the Bonus Army," when with the benefit of bayonets and tear gas he directed the dispersal of a group of bedraggled, starved World War service men in Washington.

Organized labor, veterans and liberals will never forget that lamented pushing-around of the underdog, though essential blame must in the great part rest on former President Herbert Hoover. There is a photograph in the archives of most newspaper offices, which the opposition to MacArthur will not fail to revive, which records the deplorable "Battle of the Bonus Army," with General MacArthur very much in evidence.

Col. McCormick's cynical exploitation and sponsorship of MacArthur signifies no more respect for the General than it bespeaks a concern for the well-being of the nation. It is based simply on the desire to knife the President. In that it reminds one of the attempted knifing of President Lincoln by Gen. McClelland and his supporters during the Civil War, in spirit, MacArthur by his silence, appears to be falling in with McCormick's campaign to "get-Roosevelt-or-bust," which is hardly fitting for a General whose whole attention should be directed towards the winning of his part of the war.

McCormick's sponsorship of MacArthur may have its attractions on the surface but it is doubtful if it will draw more than flies. And of flies the Republican Party has more than enough this decade!

THE COMPARISON IS ODI- OUS but Mussolini the big Italian Fascist, and Joe McWilliams, the little Chicago Fascist, both abdicated on the same day! In spite of the absurdity of their relative importance there is an affinity between Mussolini and McWilliams as there is between all Fascists great and small. Both have squeezed all there was out of a political racket. Both were abject failures in the end. Neither had contributed anything to the human scene but misery.

As time goes on more and more Caesars will fold up. The big ones will go because of an inherent inadequacy in their make-up. The little ones will go because their sources of revenues, which stem indirectly from the big ones, will dry up.

When the war ends it will serve a useful purpose if a United Nations commission is set to the task of learning how much money was put to work by Hitler and Mussolini in subversive activities. It is estimated that Hitler's anti-semitary campaign cost the near sum of $300,000,000—most of which went abroad to subsidize and organize Copperhead movements. Notable proof is the lessened activities of subversive groups since the war embargo of enemy funds.

THE PRODUCTION WAR IS GOING WELL. The 100,000,000 plane has come off the assembly line! (The Nazis said Roosevelt was crazy when he set a goal of 75,000 airplanes!) Before the year is over the American fleet will be doubled in size. (Italy boasted that the war would be won before American factories even got a full swing!) Merchant ships are being launched four times as fast as they are being sunk! (The average German is sure that United Nations shipping has been swat from the seven seas!)

horses in midstream. England did and got Churchill! will be matched by the Democrats with "Better a fourth term with Roosevelt than a first term for Hitler!"

55 YEARS AGO

It is evident that free trade agitation has not alarmed the proprietor nor affected the business of the Cordingley Mills, Newton Lower Falls, as they are now putting in two new and improved fast machines of a large pattern.

The Newton men who enlisted in the 19th Mass. Regt. during the early days of the late civil strife are looking forward with pleasure to the 18th annual reunion of the Regiment Association in Cambridge.

The police headquarters has been supplied with the latest improved telephone and the officers in charge are consequently rejoicing. The old instrument was very reliable and was among the first telephones put into use in the city.

A prohibition flag has been ordered for Auburndale, and it will probably be the first one put up in the city.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, August 4, 1893

The people of Newton have the greatest faith in the Newton Savings Bank and the trustees have seen no occasion for putting up the 30 days' notice. There have been no withdrawals of money, save in a few cases where depositors have found desirable investments which promise large returns, and they do say that many are to be picked up in the stock market, provided the buyer knows just what to get. The Newton bank is regarded as almost as solid as the city itself, as it has always been very conservatively managed.

Miss Mamie Gould, telegraph operator at Newtonville, employed in the Western Union office, has resigned to take charge of the company's office at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Howard's ice houses, 3 in number, located on Mill st. on the banks of Bulbough's pond, were destroyed by an incendiary conflagration last Friday night. A large stock of ice was destroyed. The building, adjoining, containing the engine, was saved. The loss of the burning structures and contents is estimated at about $1500.

The Local Exemption Board has sent two quotas away from this city this week, and has another ordered ready for next Monday.

The Newton Board of Food Administration has been notified that no more sugar cards are to be issued for the purchase of sugar for preserving in 25-pound lots. Everyone should understand that fruit can be preserved in water pack without sugar, the sweetening to be added later, at the time of consumption.

President Herbert McGill presided at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday, August 2nd.

Frank Richardson presented Professor James W. Culliton, head of the Management School of Business Administration, Boston College, and a member of the State Committee on Post War Readjustment. Professor Culliton gave a clear insight into the employment problems to be faced immediately and after the war. Contact is made with employers to find the number employed before the war, during the war, and the expectation in the peace era. The committee is making a survey of possibilities to cut the time lag from war to peace. The goal is a job for everyone who wants to work. Management is being urged to prepare for the coming recession by "finding" deferred maintenance projects. A movement is now on foot to allow business to set up a reserve for maintenance. Coming in as a "pinch hitter" with two on and two out in the last of the month, Professor Culliton did a wonderful job and made a "hit" with all of the members.

Visitors included Walter Phillips, Boston; Fred Heaney, Carl W. Johnson, and James O'Connell, Watertown; William H. Short, Belmont; Eugene Cronin, guest of Ralph Stewart, and Frederick Philbrick, William Beck, and George L. White, guests of Frank Richardson.

POLITICS

By P. W. C.

The President's Speech

It may cause a slight lifting of the eyebrows on the part of some of my readers to have me defend the President's recent radio address, which brought such bitter repercussions from prominent Republicans all over the country.

Now, I realize that course, that FDR must have realized that his six-point program for veterans of world-war two would improve his political standing at a time when it very much needs to be improved. However, it seems to me a demand that the members of our armed forces all over the world be advised immediately that the Republican party, by and large, considers this speech to be primarily an open bid for a fourth term. Please bear in mind that what I am saying is not just my own thought; it is also a reflection of the views of many good Republicans in this district. It is, of course, possible that Mr. Roosevelt was motivated, in part, by political considerations. However, would it not be prudent for his Republican critics to give him the benefit of the doubt ONCE IN A WHILE? He cannot ALWAYS be wrong. Furthermore, it might be well to remember that there are a great many ardent Willie boosters, who would tirelessly support his election in 1940 who state frankly today that they are more or less reconciled to the President's victory three years ago, simply because he has done an outstanding piece of work in the prosecution of this all-out global war.

They seriously question whether Mr. Willie could have done as well. That, however, is in no sense a reflection on Mr. Willie.

So, my thought is substantially this: let's try hard to get behind the President whenever it is humanly possible to do so. In this way we are helping to shorten the war and get our boys home again. And when they do come home, bear in mind that it is quite possible that they will "take over" anyway, regardless of the best-laid plans of our astute politicians of both major parties. I do not say that I would have any great objection to such a procedure. If I SHOULD, I would be gently but firmly pushed one side, together with our more venerable and distinguished professional politicians.

Dist.-Atty. Robert F. Bradford

My friend Bill Mullins of the Boston Herald has a most interesting way of either starting or squelching political campaigns, provided, of course, he can get away with it. His latest move is in connection with a man in whom I have the greatest interest, namely, Robert F. Bradford of Cambridge, currently Dist. Ct. Attorney of Middlesex County. Curiously enough, George Carens of the Boston Traveler ran a sport story last night about Bradford's two brothers, former Harvard athletes of note, who are serving with distinction in the armed forces. Mullins states in last Sunday's column that "Dist.-Atty. Robert F. Bradford of Middlesex has no intention of running for Attorney General now or ever." He goes on to say, "He does not intend to run for high office, but he has pointed out that he is not a man of great wealth, that he must earn his living and accordingly can hardly afford the luxury of serving a period as Attorney General, awaiting a shot at the Governorship."

Now, THAT is a profoundly interesting statement. What is its significance? Is it a trial balloon for a Bradford-for-Governor campaign? The two Bobs, Bushnell and Bradford, have always, to the best of my knowledge, been very good friends and admirers of each other. Is it possible that Bob Bushnell, mindful of the opposition he has stirred up in certain powerful GOP circles, has decided to give up any possible quest of the Governorship and is now engaged in a campaign behind-the-scenes maneuvering for the office of brushing Lt. Governor Cahill one side? I don't know. I do, however, know this: many of Governor Saltonstall's closest political friends and supporters will be found on the firing-line for Horace T. Cahill in 1944. On the other hand, there may be some of His Excellency's friends who will be a bit embarrassed if they should have to choose between Cahill and Bradford, even tho' they would have no difficulty in making their choice between Cahill and Bushnell. You can probably figure out the reason for yourself if you are privileged to know these two distinguished public servants.

Finally, may I remind my readers again that the records show that NO Attorney-General has EVER risen to the Governorship in Massachusetts. Personally, I would be glad to have Bob Bushnell break that precedent some day.

Our Next Mayor

There appears to be surprisingly little interest in our coming city election. Most people assume that Mayor Goddard will run for a third term and they appear to be satisfied. He has made an excellent record and it is quite possible that he can have a re-election for the asking. None of the insiders look for another challenger. What is there to prevent a serious challenge to His Honor?

Letters To The Editor

The following letter announcing the appointment of Mr. Vincent C. Stanley of West Newton, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, as chairman for the Newton Committee for Economic Development, was received this week from the Newton Chamber of Commerce:

July 30, 1943

Newton Graphic Publishing Co., 11 Centre Ave.,
Newton 58, Mass.

Gentlemen:

No doubt you have heard about the formation in Washington recently of a national "Committee for Economic Development" on postwar conditions with offices in the U. S. Department of Commerce Building.

A Board of Trustees of some 18 prominent business executives headed by Paul G. Hoffman, Chairman; President, The Studebaker Corporation; William Benton, Vice-Chairman; Vice President, University of Chicago, and Chief Executives from Eastman Kodak Company, General Foods Corporation, American Rolling Mill Company, Coca-Cola Company, General Motors Corporation, etc., has been set up to establish the responsibility of this world-wide undertaking. Regional Chairmen, Finance Committee, Field Development Committee, Research Committee and other sections of this organization have been set up.

It will no doubt interest your readers to hear that Mr. Vincent C. Stanley of West Newton, President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed as Chairman for the Newton Committee for Economic Development, which includes Newton, Wellesley and Needham. Mr. Stanley has been a manufacturer of electrical equipment for 40 years, and is well equipped to suggest ways and means to cope with economic development in the postwar period. He plans to develop committees of experienced business men in each city to assist all concerned to consider and adopt plans and measures that will insure a continuation of employment, and prevent any downward swing in business.

Thanking you in advance for your usual interest, I beg to remain

Cordially yours,
RUPERT C. THOMPSON, Secretary

The extent of current public discussion of radar is causing increasing concern to the Government.

The principle of radar is generally understood here and abroad, and some limited disclosures have been made officially. New methods of applying the principle are being developed, however, and there is much the enemy does not know.

The fact of prior publication should not be used to cover added description, discussion, and deduction, or to support a theory or draw a conclusion.

Radar is a secret weapon within the meaning of the Code. Editors and broadcasters are especially requested to be alert to every mention of radar and military electronic devices; to establish beyond all question that there is no appropriate authority for every statement made; and to submit all material on the subject—other than that released by appropriate Government authority—to the Office of Censorship for review in advance of publication or broadcast.

So inclusive a request would not be made if the highest considerations of national security were not directly involved.

BYRON PRICE, Director.

July 30, 1943.

Editor, Newton Graphic,
Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:

During the first of June I had the pleasure of passing my vacation in your charming town, being a lover of nature was entranced by your trees. While there I beheld for the first time a Honey and a Weeping Maple Tree. They are beautiful!

Another joy which I received and a very, very close second was the liberty of the dogs and felines. Especially the beautiful Shepherd Collie outside of the station. I really think your mayor could not extend a more friendly greeting than came from this great gentleman.

While there I was much amused to read a letter in the GRAPHIC by Leonard Monzert of 280 Highland ave., West Newton, who was generous in his expression of the "canine nuisance" expressing strongly his disgust of the destruction of property. All I saw was the joy in a happy life of many, many breeds from the St. Bernards to a Toy dog. Is it not better to see the Four-Foots free as God willed them, than chained to a post or a fence. What better can we mortals ask than to be shown the affection they hold for us by their so-called "yelping and howling."

When we humans are happy we laugh or sing, when a child is happy he shouts. . . . The dogs have their own way of expressing their joy of living in the gift which our Creator gave to them.

Where would we be in these days of war without our dumb animals, they are the silent ears for those patrolling the plants and water fronts. They are eyes for the blind. THEY MAKE BETTER AND FINER AMERICAN CITIZENS of the children of today, as they love and guard them thru the night. As for the parties afraid to walk the streets of Newton. . . . let them stand still, let them speak softly to the dog too

BLUE CROSS NEWS

The 553,000 Blue Cross members who enrolled on a group basis are now entitled to hospital care for 30 days on each admission to the hospital instead of 21 days each year—plus 50 per cent of the cost of such care for an additional 90 days each admission instead of 60 days each year.

In announcing the new benefits R. F. Cahalane, executive director of the Massachusetts plan said, "For the second time within a year, the Blue Cross has been able to increase benefits with no increase in membership dues."

The extension of services in the face of rising hospital costs is due, Cahalane says, to a sound public policy and a remarkably rapid growth in membership is increasing at the highest rate since organization. Blue Cross is designed to serve the people of Massachusetts and further increases in benefits will be made whenever it is in the public interest to do so.

Appeal For Photos Of ARP Activities

The Newton Committee on Public Safety today appealed to Newton citizens who have taken pictures of ARP activities to turn in copies for the committee's scrap book.

The appeal for pictures follows: "All amateur photographers who have taken snapshots of any phase of Newton ARP activities are urged to send copies to the Public Safety Office, Public Library Building, Newtonville. We want to compile a comprehensive scrapbook for posterity. Your pictures will be gratefully received, and proper credit given to the photographer. Please identify as far as possible, dates, place, occasion, and names of people in the pictures."

To Hold Flower And Vegetable Show Here Soon

Everyone is garden-minded this year. The air is full of boasts about the wonderful results. It is hard to find a listener who does not interrupt with a bigger and better story. Only the vegetables themselves have been polite and restrained. The eyes of the potatoes and the ears of the corn have seen and heard in silence the claims of their caretakers. Soon the truth will be known. The Newton Highlands Garden Club is to hold a vegetable and flower show. For two days—Aug. 31st and Sept. 1st—in the Hyde School, exhibitors will proudly display their success.

The committee chairmen are: Fruits and vegetable Displays, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Churchill; Vegetables, Dr. Noel G. Monroe; Flowers and House Plants, Mrs. Donald McKay; Arrangements, Mrs. Carlton S. Perkins; Canning, Miss Carol Hiltz; Children's Exhibits, Mrs. Allston T. Budgett; Garden Shop, Mrs. William Skinner. Garden enthusiasts are invited to confer with them. A schedule of displays will be published in our next week's issue. Attractive prizes will be awarded.

1. All classes, except as specified, open to the community.
2. Exhibitors may enter as many classes as listed in the schedule, but make only one entry in a class, except house plants, where the number of entries is unlimited.
3. The products and flowers, except in the arrangement classes, must be grown by exhibitor or exhibitor's family.
4. No exhibit may be moved before the close of the show.
5. Vases for specimen flowers and plates for vegetables will be provided.
6. Containers for arrangement classes and displays to be provided by the exhibitor.
7. All varieties should be named wherever possible.
8. The exact number specified must be exhibited.
9. Entries not conforming to the rules of the schedule will be disqualified.
10. To be judged according to the rules of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

Lt. Blood Hurt In Plane Crash

Second Lt. Thomas S. Blood, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Blood of 2 Nonantum st., Newton, was one of six men injured in the crash of an Army medium bomber, in which two men lost their lives at the William Northern Army Airfield, Tullahoma, Tenn., Wednesday, August 4.

Lt. Blood received his commission at the Army Air Forces Officer School at Miami Beach, Florida, and continued his training at Brooks Field as an aerial observer. He was graduated in May as a gunner-observer from the Harlingen, Texas, Gunner School where he won his wings. Before his enlistment in the Army Air Forces he was a merchandise controller for the Gilchrist Co.

Report Shows Measles Increase

The Newton Board of Health in a summary of communicable diseases reported during July shows less whooping cough and mumps this year than last year, but an increase of German measles and scarlet fever. The diseases, however, are in accord with a seven-year average chart, according to Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of public health.

In July, 1942, there were 19 cases of whooping cough, while last month no cases were reported. There were 13 cases of mumps last year, but only a single case this year.

The Health Department's summary follows:

Anterior poliomyelitis	1	0
Chicken pox	17	12
Dog bites	29	30
German measles	2	11
Lobar pneumonia	4	0
Measles	31	32
Mumps	13	1
Scarlet fever	3	12
Pulmonary tuberculosis	1	2
Whooping cough	19	0

Housewives Asked To Save All Fats

One tablespoonful of waste household fats saved every day by each of Middlesex County's 249, 074 families during the second year of the WPA fat salvage campaign would provide enough glycerine to make 1,955,552 anti-aircraft shells, it was estimated today by the largest single collector of this vitally-needed war material.

"Although only a fraction of this amount has been saved daily by the average family," said T. A. Connors, head of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's national meat department, "the steadily increasing contributions are very encouraging. During May and June housewives turned in at our company stores as much waste fat as they did during the first four opening months, and our total collections for the year were more than 4,000,000 pounds."

Indications are that nationwide results of the campaign's initial year, ending the first week in July, totaled more than 65,000,000 pounds of household fats, based on OWI reports for the first eleven months. This is one-third of the annual quota for the nation of 200,000,000 pounds.

Massachusetts is asked by the government to salvage 809,500 pounds of fats each month.

Bicycles Are Stolen Here

Robert and Richard Gates of 115 Carver road, Newton Highlands, reported to police that their bicycles were stolen from the Norumbega Gas Station between 1 and 5 p.m. on Monday. One was described as red and white with balloon tires, and the other bright blue with red trimmings.

The bicycle of Robert G. Gill of 295 Cypress street, Newton Centre, which was reported stolen Monday, was recovered by Newton police in Newton corner.

TRUCK OPERATOR FINED— GIVEN SUSPENDED TERM

The driver of the truck involved in an accident on Watertown st., Newton, in which one boy was killed and two others were injured, was found guilty of driving to endanger and fined $100 and given a suspended sentence of three months in the House of Correction in the Newton District Court Tuesday by Judge Donald E. Mayberry. "No probable cause" was found in a charge of manslaughter.

Armand D. Auger, 29, of 58 Valley st., Everett, driver of the truck, pleaded not guilty to both charges. Inspector William H. Dowling, of the traffic bureau, was the only witness to testify. He read the report Auger made to police immediately after the accident in which the defendant stated that he jammed on his brakes and swerved onto the sidewalk in order to avoid hitting a Pennsylvania car which stopped short in front of him. Inspector Dowling testified that he tested the brakes on the truck and found them defective.

The accident, which happened on July 12, took the life of Robert Sennott, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sennott, 352 Watertown st., Newton, and injured John Farrell, 7, of 289 Watertown st., and Charles Moreau, 9, of 41 Capital st.

Tin Collection To Start Monday

Processed tin cans will be collected in Newton starting next Monday, it was announced by John D. Haughey, street commissioner. Street Department trucks will make the collections according to the following schedule:

Monday, Aug. 16—Wards 3 and 4.
Tuesday, Aug. 17, Ward 5.
Wednesday, Aug. 18, Ward 6.
Thursday, Aug. 19, Wards 1 and 7.
Friday, Aug. 20, Ward 2.

The Newton Salvage Committee was yesterday informed that a campaign for the collection of old newspapers will be undertaken soon, since the supply of old paper collected in previous months has been exhausted.

A reminder on the method of processing tin cans for collection was given by the salvage committee as follows: "Wash the can, remove the label, cut out both ends, place them within the can, and flatten the can out."

"The cans should be set out by 7 a. m. on the day they are to be collected and to facilitate collection they should be placed in an open container (not in a paper bag) and set out where they are easily seen by the men on the collection trucks."

"In case your cans are missed the committee requests you to take them in again and save them for the September collection. Your co-operation in this request will be greatly appreciated by the committee and by the Street Department. It is necessitated by the drastic curtailment in gasoline rations so that all special collections have been cut to a minimum."

The total amount of cans collected in July was 19 tons, compared to 16.6 tons in June, and 25 tons in May. The cans will be taken to the Watertown freight yards where trains are prepared to take the tin to Pittsburgh for conversion to tin for war purposes.

Two More Weeks To Finish Street

Street Commissioner John D. Haughey has stated that an additional two weeks will be required to finish the work on Tennyson rd., West Newton.

Tennyson rd. is approximately 600 feet long and runs from Temple to Prospect st. The paving started on Sunday night and the drainage work has been completed. A crew of 15 men have put in a surface of bituminous concrete.

Other projects to be started by the Street Department include reconstruction of Beacon street, Ward 5, from Gordon road to Windsor rd., at a cost of $37,500, and reconstruction of Hall street, Ward 7, from Washington street to Centre street, at a cost of $2,500. The Beacon street reconstruction will be started soon according to Commissioner Haughey.

New Plant For Raytheon Is Nearly Complete

The $70,000 project to renovate the old Steffens Warehouse on Chapel st., Newton, for use by the Raytheon Production Corporation is nearing completion, according to company officials.

The addition to the Newton plant will be ready for occupancy soon and will be used by the production division and office workers. Raytheon has been using the basement of the Steffens building and will now have use of the entire one-story building.

Newton Centre

Lieut. and Mrs. Geo. C. Terkelsen of Charles st., S. C., have been visiting Mrs. Terkelsen's parents Dr. and Mrs. H. J. MacDonald of Berwick rd., and the Lieut's mother, Mrs. Clara Terkelsen of Bradford rd., Newton Highlands.

Lawrence Weiss has been promoted from 2nd Lieut. to 1st Lieut. and has been made Legal Boards and Claims Officer of the Sixth Air Force, the Caribbean Defense Command, has announced. Lieut. Weiss is a graduate of Northeastern University Law School and specialized in finance at Harvard for one year. He was commissioned a 2nd Lieut. December 9, 1942. Mrs. Lawrence Weiss, his wife, resides at 24 Loring st.

Article Tells Of Capt. Carney

In an eye witness account of the landing of American troops in Sicily by Jack Belden, war correspondent of Time and Life, in a recent issue of Life, he tells of the part played in the invasion by a Newton captain.

Capt. Paul E. Carney, 28, of 18 Hemlock street, Newton Upper Falls, was the executive officer of Maj. Walter Grant of Providence, R. I., commander of the first battalion of infantry, accompanied by the correspondent when it landed in Sicily on July 9.

Belden describes how the officers encouraged their men when their landing boat had been discovered by the enemy lights and after they landed on the beach. When the lights flashed on the boat, Maj. Grant stated "Now that they see us, we can't surprise them, but maybe they will be scared to death." After the landing had been made in darkness, Maj. Grant and Capt. Carney stumbled back and forth across the sand, telling the men to separate.

The battalion moved westward through the night, according to Belden and after climbing over high dunes the men came to a house where they captured 102 Italian soldiers. When dawn came, Capt. Carney discovered three guns on the ridge pointing directly at the ship from which the men landed. On closer approach the weapons proved to be crude wooden imitation artillery pieces.

"If those had been real guns, we never would have landed," Capt. Carney stated.

The battalion then proceeded along its course and reached Gela, which had already been captured by Rangers. Capt. Carney has been decorated by the French with a Croix de Guerre with gold star and by the United States with a silver star. He was born in Lawrence and was graduated in 1938 from the University of Connecticut, where he was captain of the football team, member of the track team and president of the student government.

WENDELL L. WILLKIE TO BE GUEST OF SINCLAIR WEEKS

Wendell L. Willkie will be the guest of Sinclair Weeks, former mayor of Newton, over the Labor Day week end at the Weeks' summer home in Lancaster, according to announcement from the State House, Concord, N. H.

Weeks is the present treasurer of the Republican National Committee. The New Hampshire visit is thought to be a bid by Mr. Willkie for New Hampshire's support at the next National Republican Convention.

Police Notes

Mrs. Philip Meyers of Wellesley reported to police that nine B gasoline coupons and a first-aid kit in a metal box were taken from her car while it was parked on the Newton Hospital grounds on Friday.

George Chansky of 142 Parkmer rd., West Newton, reported that a window in his truck parked in the driveway of his home was broken at about 10 a. m. Friday.

Allen Goodman of 236 Waban ave., Waban, told police that boys were destroying vegetables in his garden on Waban st., near Beacon st.

Thomas Aiken, proprietor of the drug store at 301 Elliot st., reported that a jar containing cigarette money had been stolen. The jar is one of those distributed by the Citizens' Committee for Service to Newton Service Men to collect money to buy cigarettes for men in the armed forces.

Since cigarettes for this purpose cost 5 cents a package, it is estimated that service men were deprived of nearly 100 packages of cigarettes by the theft. The sum represented the accumulated gifts of nearly two months.

Mrs. D. Havens of 37 Winchester rd., Newton Highlands, complained to police Saturday that boys were stealing fruit and vegetables from her yard.

The loss of a handbag containing money and a ration book was reported to police Friday by Theresa Fallon, 244 Linwood ave., Newtonville.

Miss Fallon's handbag contained $6 in cash, a ration book, and a check for $15.04. She lost the bag between Walnut and Crafts sts. on Linwood ave.

John A. Twoomy, of Allston, reported that he was bitten by a dog owned by James A. Byrne of 12 Oldham rd., West Newton. Nancy Fitzgerald of 208 River st., West Newton, told police that she was bitten by a dog owned by Mrs. Marie H. Murphy, 198 River st., West Newton.

Dr. Frank Paul reported that he treated Guy Ranno of 144 Edinboro st., Newtonville, for a wound caused by a dog owned by Cornelius D. Duggan, 233 Highland ave., Newtonville.

Eight Harvard Freshmen appeared in the Newton District Court Tuesday morning charged with larceny. Two of the youths were also charged with auto law violations.

Newton police arrested the students after they left the Alhambra Golf Club. Half a dozen greens flag pins and several dozen signs were found in their car. According to John Sheehan, professional at the club, the youths staged a picnic "with all the fixings" on the sixth green, causing considerable damage.

Arrested by Sgt. Cullen and Patrolmen McManus and Mascia at about 3 a. m., the men were taken to the station where they were later bailed. In the Newton District Court, all of the men pleaded nolo and charges of larceny against them placed on file by Judge Donald E. Mayberry.

Summer School To Close Friday

Summer School in Newton will close on Friday at the completion of a six weeks' session in which 181 High School pupils participated.

103 boys and 78 girls attended classes as follows: English, 36; Latin, 38; French, 28; Spanish, 12; mathematics, 77; United States History, 6; Biology, 7; stenography and typewriting, 27. Charles H. Mergandahl is director of the Summer School.

ARP Warned Not To Disband Or Relax Work

Reports of Good Progress In War Does Not Mean Danger At Home Past

A warning that it is not yet time to disband or relax is contained in the Newton ARP bulletin "All Clear" which is being distributed to personnel by the Protection Division of the Newton Committee on Public Safety.

The bulletin describes the steps taken in Newton in enforcing the dimout regulations. There is also the recent tests which were interrupted by the acute gasoline shortage.

In reference to the necessity for continuing to be alert the bulletin states:

"It isn't yet time to disband or even to relax. Don't let a long sequence of good news throw us off balance. At the time of writing this, our enemies are still dangerous. Air raids look remote, but if by long chance they should come, they'd be just as deadly as when they seemed quite probable."

Describing the new methods of enforcing the dimout the bulletin states:

"The Warden's duty, up to this time, has been to correct dimout violations and to report those cases which failed to heed a warning. Such a policy was found necessarily to expose a warden to disagreeable relationships with his neighbors. As a result, there was a natural reluctance to enforce strictly, and countless violations went unchecked.

"An entirely separate dimout enforcement organization has been set up and at the present time is functioning with the full cooperation of the regular Newton Police Department. Groups of these enforcement officers accompanied by regular police are touring all sections of the city nightly. When a violation is observed, one warning call is made to establish the responsibility for the violation and point out the nature of the offense. Any further violation at this address will result in court action, with the attendant publicity.

"Too many people have failed to realize that this is a matter of life or death to our men at sea. The city of Newton lies well within the eastern coastal dimout area. The nightly dimout is an established necessity for this area. Penalties for violation are provided by law. There can be only one conclusion: Newton citizens must observe the dimout."

To Direct Third War Loan Drive

Albert P. Everts of 114 Kirk-stall rd., Newtonville, will direct the Third War Loan drive in Massachusetts as part of the national campaign to raise $15,000,000,000. This is the largest financial undertaking organized by the U. S. Treasury. The campaign will open Sept. 9.

Everts, a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen is a Boston investment banker. He has been prominent in financial circles since his graduation from Harvard University in 1910. He is a former governor and vice-president of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, former national commander of the American Legion, who was state administrator of the War Savings staff, will be executive manager of the War Finance Committee of which Everts is chairman. Lucius T. Hill, Boston Banker, who was assistant executive manager of the Victory Fund, will be executive vice-chairman of the Third War Loan Drive.

Nearly 300 Attend Weinie Roast

On Saturday evening at 7:30 nearly 300 children, parents and interested citizens gathered at the Upper Falls playground to participate in a giant weenie roast, the largest one of the season.

Those who have been gathering dry wood all week were David DeFazio, Janice Panella, Buddy Daniels, Paul Schiavone, Joseph Daniels and Thomas MacDonell.

The supply of relish, piccalilli and mustard donated by the instructors was soon exhausted but was supplemented by Mrs. Mary Anastasia.

Before the roast an exciting football game was played in which the following people participated: Louis Tarabelli, Anna Schiavone, Yolanda Daniels, Viola Mastropieri, Maureen Leary, Joseph Tarabelli, Marie DeBourke, Henry DeMichele, Jr., Thomas DeCicco and Dorothy Prendergast.

The record for eating the most hot dogs is held by Carl Tarabelli, with seven to his credit, while Paul Schiavone made close competition by eating six.

Mothers who aided in making the roast a success, were Mrs. Thomas Mahoney, Mrs. Mary Anastasia, Mrs. Michael Daniele, and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

Guests—Mr. John B. Dacey, Instructors—Miss Margaret Cotter, Miss Jennie Chesarene, and Mr. Carl M. Penny.

Building Permits Decline In July

The month of July showed a building decline in Newton when less than $6,000 was spent for all types of work in the City, according to a report by the Building Department.

Permits granted for two garages, cost $450, representing the entire sum spent for new structures. Other permits granted during July were: Seven miscellaneous, $285; one sign, $35; 16 alterations in residential buildings, $3,046; five alterations, non-residential, $1,190. The total cost of all July work was $5,726.

The first seven months in 1943 also were lower than in the two previous years. In 1943, during the first seven months, a total of 214 permits were issued for an expenditure of $87,198; compared to 278 permits in a similar period in 1942 for $385,310, and 537 permits in 1941 for $1,593,780.

In July, 1942, there were 34 permits for an expenditure of $24,555 and in June of this year there were 41 for $10,600.

A bee sting was the source of an accident which occurred Thursday on Commonwealth ave. near Manet rd., Newton Centre. The operator of the car, Mrs. Florence M. Lake, who was severely injured, told police that she lost control of her car when a bee stung her in the face. She was treated at the scene of the accident by Dr. C. A. Riley and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolmen Burke and Donohue. At the hospital she was treated for contusions, abrasions and injuries to her ribs but was released after treatment. The car, which was badly damaged, is owned by Elmer Lake of Brighton.

"The Only Girl" At Cambridge

Victor Herbert's "The Only Girl". The Cambridge Summer Theatre's first musical show, will be the attraction next week at Brattle Hall. These two radio favorites Patti Pickens and Bob Simmons will co-star in this gay, luring and tuneful show. The book for "The Only Girl" is by Herbert Blossom.

Patti Pickens is the youngest of the famed singing Pickens Sisters. She has appeared with her sisters on practically every program of importance on the radio, she has made records, has been in the movies and has been seen with her sisters in the Broadway show "Thumbs Up". Her dancing and singing alike have delighted audiences from Coast to Coast. To learn acting, Patti took a summer's job at the famous Wharf Theatre in Provincetown two summers ago, playing every type of role from ingenue to "heavy". Upon her return to New York the following Fall, she appeared as one of the leads in the successful musical "One For The Money". Last season, this talented young lady replaced her older sister in Ed Wynn's "Boys and Girls Together". Plus all this theatrical activity, she has been seen often singing and dancing her way as a headliner in the better nightclubs throughout the nation.

Robert (Bob) Simmons is a Missouri lad who came East to become one of the top singers on the big-time radio programs, such as The Campbell Soup Hour, The Philco Hour, Salada Tea, Davy Tree, Mobile, The Gulf Show, A and P Gypsies and the Cities Service Hour. He has recorded for all the major recording companies and has made many personal appearances at the New York Capitol, the Roxy and other leading theatres.

Patti Pickens and Bob Simmons met and sang many duets together on the Gulf program. There they discovered how beautifully their voices blended and decided to join forces professionally. Together only a year and a half, they have in that short time built up a national reputation as one of the greatest teams on the air and in the prominent night clubs. Their style is anything from light comedy to swingeing new ideas to give their songs variety. They also excel in use of the light comedy musicals and have endeared themselves to all who have seen them.

"The Only Girl" has always been considered one of the great Victor Herbert's finest musical shows. All the great talents of America's most beloved composer is shown in the gay, delightful songs which fill up the musical moments of this lovely show, and with Patti and Bob Simmons one may be sure that the Maestro's tuneful score will receive excellent performance. The large supporting cast will be made up of Brattle Hall regulars, Allan Gay, Brookline's well-known director, will stage the entire production. Andrew Mack has designed one of his most suitable sets for the background. There will be a matinee of "The Only Girl" on Saturday of next week.

March to Guns

Today, as never before, troops advancing into battle "march to the sound of the guns." On all fronts artillery is thundering, cannon of calibers ranging from the 20 mm. aircraft weapon to 14-inch railway and 16-inch coast defense guns. Airborne troops are landed and roll their deadly little 27 mm.'s from the planes. Paratroopers float down along with the chutes carrying parts of their 75 mm. howitzers, assemble them and go into action. Mountain artillerymen strip their 75 mm. pack howitzers from the backs of pack mules and emplace them on the heights. Horse artillery gallops along with the cavalry. Infantry mortars lob their flamed shells in high arcs into the enemy trenches. Field artillery trucks halt, 105-mm. howitzers are uncoupled, laid and open fire. The swift self-propelled guns of the tank destroyers and the self-propelled howitzers and guns, which are the artillery of armored divisions, speed on to the field of battle.

Malaria Present in U. S.

Not confined entirely to tropical countries, malaria is endemic in 36 of the United States, and in 11 states it constitutes a major public health problem. "The only states apparently free of indigenous malaria today are the New England states, West Virginia, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, and Nevada," according to a recent declaration approved by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Although exact statistics are not obtainable, an estimated two to four million cases a year are normal, concentrated among the South Atlantic and Gulf states and reaching up along the lower Mississippi valley. A million cases were reported in 1939.

The first round opens on Aug. 14th and continues through the 25th for singles, and from Aug. 21st through Aug. 31st for doubles. No entry fee is required. James Morrison, 129 Wood End rd., Newton Highlands, chairman of the committee in charge, reports that employees can be seen at tennis courts after working hours and on Saturday and Sunday brushing up on their tennis.

The Jr. U.S.O. hostesses of the Raytheon Production Corporation, 55 Chapel st., Newton, were fortunate in being invited by the Greater Boston Soldiers and Sailors Committee to attend two tea dances held at forts in Boston Harbor on consecutive Sundays. Fort Andrews on July 25th and Fort Stanish on August 1st.

The boat carrying the girls sailed from Rowe's Wharf at 12:30 p.m., and after a thrilling ride down Boston's historic harbor, docked at the Fort where groups of service men greeted the hostesses. Partners were plentiful and the afternoon's festivities were concluded with refreshments of punch and sandwiches.

At 5:30 p.m. the boat whistle blew warning that the dance was over, and the hostesses and their partners walked slowly to the dock. The return sail went all too quickly. Back home again, the girls began looking forward to other U.S.O. dances.

Battle of the Atlantic

A sinking smokestack, a great air bubble, an empty lifeboat, all that is visible of a torpedoed tanker, all that is evident of the hard work, the savings we put into War Bonds to build this tanker, to load it with 50,000 gallons of high octane gas.

Our money is still safe but the tanker is lost forever. Another and another and another must be built to take its place. The men who sail the seas are giving their lives to win the Battle of the Atlantic. We are asked only to lend our money.

French Guiana Chiefly Is Known for Devil's Island

French Guiana, which has given up its Vichy title, is the easternmost of the European "triplets" set in South America's north coast.

Tropical, mountainous and heavily forested except for the coastal lowlands, the colony has lagged behind the adjacent British and Dutch Guianas in commercial and industrial development. With only 8,000 acres cultivated, stimulation of the use of land has been a persistent government problem.

Before the war, gold, sugar, rum, hides, fish glue and various woods were exported. The banana market was expanding. Growers of maize, sweet potatoes, and cassava, for the most part consumed their products themselves.

French Guiana is best known as a penal settlement. For almost a century convicts have been sent from France to the Guiana mainland or to one of the penal isles off the coast. Devil's Island is a green bit of tree-capped land about 27 miles from the mainland. It was reserved for political prisoners sentenced to life imprisonment. At times it has held less than a dozen convicts. Its ill-fame has been epitomized in its other name, "the dry guillotine."

NEWTON MAN TELLS OF RED CROSS RELIEF OPERATORS

The British are amazed at the care ill and convalescent American soldiers in the Near East receive, according to a letter from Charles E. Bailey, former executive of the Newton Taxpayers' Association who is civilian relief director of the Middle East for the American Red Cross and assistant director of Middle East operations of the Red Cross.

Mr. Bailey was recently ill in an Army hospital in Cairo, Egypt, and wrote home telling of the care received by soldiers at the institution.

After serving in the Navy in World War I, he did relief work in Mesopotamia and later became president of Temple Tours. He joined the Red Cross in 1941 and was sent to the Middle East last September. He was the first American to enter Tripoli after its capture by the British Eighth Army. He lives at 21 Lake ave., Newton Centre, with his wife and two children, Charlene, 19, and Hamilton, 17.

The letter follows, in part:

"Mr. Bailey, it is time for your sulfa pills. The sweet American voice of the night nurse brought me out of my stupor. When I came to I was lying on my back, eyes and the unearthly groans of camels. Every four hours of the day and night, I had been handed these sulfa pills, every four hours I had looked at the vision of beautiful white-skinned American nurses, with their clean and starched white or blue uniforms.

Not hit and miss medical care for the boys in this part of the world. Blood count, blood tests, X-rays, and every kind of test one can imagine, and each done by an expert. The American Army is taking care of its charges.

We were visited each day at least once by one of the American Red Cross girls who are stationed at this and other hospitals in the Middle East. They brought us books and magazines, did shopping errands for us in the city, offered to write letters home if we wished, went over the P. X. to buy for us, or just sat and talked. I guess the last was the most welcome, for they talked of the going on at home and of the good American things to eat, and of the movies (the Red Cross runs a movie for the patients almost every night) and they laughed at our corny jokes as if they had never heard them before, and we heard the gossip of the hospital. One night the Red Cross girls brought out the Cairo Police Band for an open air concert which we could hear through our open windows. The fathers and mothers of the boys in this hospital gave to the Red Cross in the spring drive at home in the hopes that their boy or some neighbor's boy might be helped in his hour of suffering far from home. And the Red Cross is living up to its job doing the little things that are such big things when one is ill.

Nothing is too good for the boys, according to the attitude taken by the nurses, the medical staff and the American Red Cross units. Even the British are amazed at the equipment we have here, and over from the States, particularly as regards the recreational opportunities for the ill and convalescents. Uncle Sam is looking out for his boys. If we don't get too far away from Army hospitals, we shall return home a healthy lot, and that is pretty important with this job we have to do when this war is over."

War Brings Many Changes In Industry Among Nations

The war has brought about a number of important changes in the national economies of the United States and other countries, says the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The United States has become economically more self-sufficient than ever before. Various basic raw materials, which were previously imported, are now being produced domestically. It is probable that synthetic rubber is here to stay and that the importation of tin in the post-war period will be less of a necessity than it has been in the past. In addition, a number of industrial products previously imported are now being produced in the United States.

The industrialization of Canada, Australia, the Argentine and Brazil has progressed at a rapid rate. These countries will be much less dependent on the importation of many of the manufactured goods which they have imported in the past. In view of these developments, the opinion has often been expressed that the United States will be much less dependent on the rest of the world than it was before the present conflict. Furthermore, it is held that the industrialization of the Western hemisphere and the increased output of agricultural products in Europe will lead to a material decline in the volume and value of international trade in general.

There are reasons to believe, however, that these conclusions will not prove to be correct. Past experience has shown that industrialization does not lead to a decline but to an increase in international trade. The development of industries has invariably caused an increase in the standard of living of the people. This, in turn, has created demands for commodities which did not exist before. While industrialization has brought about a change in the type of commodities traded, it has caused an increase in the total volume of exports and imports. This was the case in Germany, Japan and, recently, in Canada. The industrialization of these countries not only did not cause a decline in their international trade, but, on the contrary, increased it. It may be expected that this will occur in the future.

Torpedo Junction

"Awash amidstship!" "Sparks," the radio operator, has sent his final message from another U-boat victim. The lifeboats are pulling away from the doomed vessel as millions of dollars' worth of food, supplies and munitions settle to the ocean bottom in another allied catastrophe in the Battle of the Atlantic.

Millions of dollars' worth of material that was paid for by the dollars we saved and invested in War Bonds. Thousands of man hours have been lost.

We can have but one answer: work harder, save more and invest more frequently in War Bonds.

Nylon Screens

An entirely new window screen, chemically made, and containing no metal, will be available to American householders after the war. It is made of nylon, now used exclusively for vital military purposes. Having all of the good characteristics of metal screening, and many qualities besides, it can be produced in any color, it will not stain the sills, it will not corrode, it requires no painting, and tests indicate it has extraordinary durability. Pencils or other sharp-pointed objects can be shoved through it without damage; the strength and elasticity of the strands is so great that they come back into place merely by rubbing them with one's fingers.

Africans Prize Army Cans

The millions of steel cans brought into Africa by American forces on that front are proving a bonanza to natives, who use them as cooking and drinking utensils and for a variety of other purposes. In many native homes the lid of the empty can is cut and shaped into a fairly comfortable handle and the edge pounded into a smooth rim. In many cases the labels are left on the can to help each member of the family identify his exclusive drinking cup.

Larger cans are fashioned, often with considerable ingenuity, into pans, kettles or ornamental objects. Tops and bottoms are turned into the wheels of toy wagons. Jagged edges make cutting tools when tied to wooden handles or shaped into forks or hand rakes.

Peroxide Has Many Uses

For Army and Civilians

Hydrogen peroxide, familiar to most women chiefly as a hair bleach and a means of removing stains from household linens, should be known also for its far greater use in bleaching civilian and military textiles, and for other essential applications.

Textiles such as cotton, wool, rayon, silk, or linen are bleached with hydrogen peroxide. Cotton cloth for nurses' uniforms, surgical gowns, sheets, pillow cases, and handkerchiefs—a drab gray when it slides from the looms—is turned a permanent snow-white by peroxide bleaching. Wool, which today goes into soldiers' uniforms and other military uses, is treated with the chemical before olive-drab dyeing.

In addition to textiles, a variety of materials are bleached by this chemical—fur, skin, straw, wood, buttons, fats, and hair. A vital military use is in the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

Popular blonde furniture is made so by the action of hydrogen peroxide on wood veneer. Casein for light-colored plastic articles is often peroxide-bleached. Cow and goat hair for household articles are made light enough so they can be dyed to desired colors. Straw for summer hats is bleached with peroxide, and rabbit fur for felt hats is treated with the same liquid.

Jar Rubbers Are Different This Year

It is now thought that red rubber will be available for jar rings this year but there will be no cause for alarm if the rubbers you buy turn out to be black. It is the rubber, not the color, that counts. True, you may be a bit startled when you open your first package of the war models. "But what of it?" asks Gedy Embrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company. "Our grandmothers got along well enough with lipless rubbers and so can we."

Months ago, manufacturers began experiments to learn how to make jar rings that would conserve both rubber and food—the same task. One of the first things upon which all agreed was that lips are unnecessary for opening jars. The point of a thin knife can be run under the rubber to make a tiny space for air to seep through and break the seal. It is then easy to remove cap or lid. It was also agreed that jar rings could be a small fraction of an inch narrower but the thickness must remain at the pre-war standard.

War-time rubbers will keep jars sealed airtight, but they won't stand abuse. To get good results, break yourself of that never-good habit of stretching to test and follow these four simple rules:

1. Wash and rinse rubbers. Boil them to sterilize if you can't find the old-fashioned open-kettle way. If processing is to be done, drop the rubbers in boiling water and set aside until needed.
2. Have rubbers wet when they are used—and be sure that each rubber lies flat on the sealing surface of the jar.
3. Partially seal all jars before processing.
4. Screw zinc caps and bands on glass top seal closures slowly when sealing, as quick or jerky turns cause rubbers to slip out of position.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vinson Collins of 500 Lowell ave., Newtonville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Swen Collins to Sgt. Harris William Hatchett of Miami, Fla., son of Mr. P. Franklin Hatchett of Ponce de Leon, Florida, and the late Mr. Hatchett.

Miss Collins attended Atherton Hall, Boston. Sgt. Hatchett attended Miami University and is at present stationed at Fort Standish, Boston Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Croft Fennell of 47 Lewis st., Newton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jane Fennell to Robert Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Schreiber of Belmont.

Miss Fennell is a graduate of Westbrook Junior College and Mr. Schreiber graduated from North-eastern.

Mr. A. A. Smith of New York announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Charlotte Hope Smith of Auburndale, to William Bourne Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ross of Auburndale.

Miss Smith graduated from the Chandler School. Mr. Ross, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval Construction Training Center, Camp Peary, Va., attended Tufts Dental School.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldfine of Brookline announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gloria Goldfine, to Ralph Martin Goldberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goldberg of Newton.

Mrs. John J. McDonald of Newton announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Constance McDonald, to Cpl. Roger Seymour Walen, son of Mrs. Harry L. Walen of Newton.

Miss McDonald was graduated from the Girls' Latin School in Boston and is now a student at Radcliffe College. Cpl. Walen, who is stationed with the Army Air Forces at Maxwell Field, Ala., attended Northeastern University.

Mrs. Martin R. Roth of San Francisco announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Betty Janet Roth, to Lt. Andrew Moss Wales, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Quincy W. Wales of 21 Sylvan ave., West Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leigh Tower of North Hampton, N. H., formerly of Newton Centre, announce the engagement of their daughter Margaret Kathryn, to Cpl. Irving C. Whittemore, Jr., son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Irving Chamberlin Whittemore of Belmont, and East Orange, N. J.

Miss Tower is a sophomore at the University of New Hampshire and is a member of Chi Omega sorority. She prepared for college at Newton, and Portsmouth, N. H., high schools. Cpl. Whittemore is now at Anti-Aircraft Officer Candidate School, Camp Davis, N. C., having recently graduated from P.O.C. Camp Fort Eustis, Va. Before entering the army last February, he attended the University of New Hampshire for which he prepared at Belmont High School, and Mount Vernon School. While at the university he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and trained for Coast Artillery in the Enlisted Reserve Corps. Lt. Col. Whittemore, who is also in the same branch of the service, is now overseas as Anti-Aircraft and Harbor Defense Commander of a port on the Mediterranean coast.

No date has been set for the wedding.

JONES—MICHAELIS

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Michaelis of 126 Beethoven ave., Waban, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Selma J. Michaelis to Sgt. William H. Jones of Pueblo, Colo., son of Mrs. J. W. Burpo. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. A. Leavitt in the Harvard Congregational Church, Brookline, on Saturday, July 24. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an aqua print with a matching hat and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Dorothy Solas, of Newton, was the matron of honor, and Cpl. Alexander Kawalik, of New Jersey, was the best man.

Mrs. Jones graduated from the Newton High School and the Boston Art School.

DREW—HAYES

A recent wedding was that of Miss M. Charlotte Hayes and Warren Joseph Drew, which was performed in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, on Sunday, August 1. White jonquills decorated the altar for the three o'clock ceremony which was performed by Rev. John A. Saunders. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nehemiah D. Hayes of 100 Crescent st., Auburndale, and Mr. Drew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drew of 11 Eddy st., West Newton.

The bride wore a princess gown of white faille and lace with a long train, a veil of net and lace from a coronet of seed pearls and carried white sweetheart roses and baby's breath with an orchid corsage in the center. Her sister, Miss Irene E. Hayes, wore aquamarine brocade taffeta and carried red roses with jasmine. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy A. Hayes, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Dorothy V. Bowe, of Worcester, a cousin of the bride, wore yellow taffeta trimmed with velvet and carried yellow roses. Mrs. Hayes wore a gown of rose chiffon and lace over satin while Mrs. Drew wore a gown of beige crepe. Paul J. Hayes of Newton, was the best man and the ushers were William H. Bagley of Waltham and John Swift of Brockton, both cousins of the bride.

The bride graduated from the Newton High School and the Sacred Heart Academy. She is employed by the Raytheon Production Company in Newton. Mr. Drew graduated from the Framingham High School and Amherst College. He is an engineer at the Raytheon.

Following a trip to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Drew will live at 58 Adams st., West Newton, after August 15.

DAY—WILSON

American Beauty roses decorated the altar in the Protestant Chapel at Selman Field, La., on July 10 for the marriage of Miss Mildred Eleanor Wilson to Aviation Cadet Emerson Day. The double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain Forrest Hubbell. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wilson of 39 Fairway drive, West Newton, and Cadet Day is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Day of 23 Sylvan rd., Waban. A reception followed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of white marquisette and Chantilly lace was fashioned with a basque trimmed with lace and puffed sleeves. Her illusion veil from a crown of seed pearls flowed beyond the hemline of her gown. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. Miss Boydes Marie Wilson was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a robin's egg-blue gown, a crown of pink roses and carried a spray of pink roses and baby's breath.

Cadet Richard Forbes was the best man. The bride and groom passed through a sakaki arch as they left the church. The aviation cadets in the guard were John Brundeman, William Cavanaugh, Burgess Blackburn, Leo Dietz, James McIntosh, Keith Kingsbury, Bernard Dutch and Charles Gridley.

Mrs. Day will remain in Louisiana, where Cadet Day is receiving his pre-flight training.

LINDLEY—CHAPPLE

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Chapple of 93 Hillside rd., Newton Highlands announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Priscilla Hope Chapple to Lt. Nelson Ogden Lindley of the Army of the United States, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Lindley of Wellesley Hills on Sunday, Aug. 8, in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

The bride was given away by her father and had as her attendants her sister, Mrs. Hubert M. Kemp of Germantown, Pa., and Miss Winifred Lindley, sister of the groom, as matron and maid of honor, respectively.

Aviation Cadet John M. Lindley, Jr., U.S.A., was best man for his brother, the ushers were Mr. William B. Chapple, Jr., and Richard F. Chapple, both of Newton Highlands, brothers of the bride and Lt. Angus McLeod, U.S.N.R., Rev. Angus Dun of Cambridge performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the parish house.

Mrs. Lindley was graduated from Newton High School and from Lasell Junior College in 1940. Lt. Lindley attended Westtown School at Westtown, Pa., and was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1942, where he was a member of Chi Psi Fraternity.

After a brief trip, the young couple will leave for Maryland where they will make their home.

Kiwanis Activities

At the regular meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club, held on Tuesday at the Newton Y.M.C.A., the guest speaker was Augustus P. Williams of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company.

He traced the history of oil back to 5,000 or 6,000 years before Christ. He also explained how the oil wells today go down to three miles in depth as against the first oil well of 60 feet. He spoke of the dependence of the United States Navy upon petroleum and stated that in 1917 95% of the Navy was dependent on coal for fuel, whereas today over 99.44% is dependent upon oil. He also spoke of the many uses and by-products of petroleum and quoted an instance where a New England small arms company was able to reclaim a great number of small, highly polished finished parts, which had become rusted through an accidental discharge of water from a fire sprinkler. Through the use of a special oil this rust was removed and all but 3% of the damaged parts saved.

He defined a barrel of oil as 42 gallons, a tank car's capacity as between 9,000 and 10,000 gallons, while tank steamers ranged from barges holding 100,000 gallons of oil to a regular tank steamer holding as much as 6,000,000 gallons of oil.

In connection with the tank steamers he told of an instance where one of the large oil companies lost a brand new tanker two miles from its home harbor before it ever had a drop of oil in it.

In allocating the world's production of oil, he told how the United States produces 61% of the world's supply and Russia 10%, thus giving the allied nations a preponderance of the world's supply of oil.

He also explained that due to new processes of refinement, the United States is far ahead of the rest of the world in the quality of gasoline being supplied to our Armed Forces.

In connection with the quantity of gasoline, he explained that a large bomber burns approximately 1 gallon of gasoline per mile, and if you take into consideration the fact that in a thousand plane raid, they often carry 2,000 gallons a piece, it gives one an idea of the tremendous consumption of high test gasoline for War purposes.

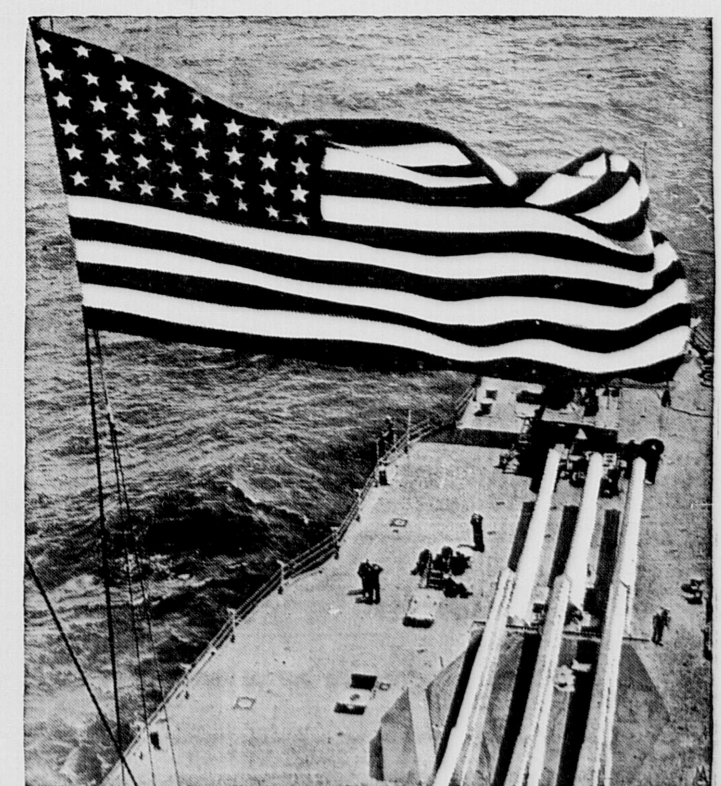

He was very optimistic over New England's outlook for next Winter, in regard to fuel oil. With the completion of the "big inch" pipe line to Bay Way and Philadelphia, as well as a new twenty-inch pipe line to the New York Harbor area promised for completion in December, our transportation problem is very much bettered.

The members present very enthusiastically greeted the appearance of Sgt. Paul Shannon, a former member of the Club, now stationed in Wisconsin.

Next week a subject of international interest will be presented, entitled "THE INDIAN PUZZLE". Our Country is more interested in the affairs of India today than ever before in its history and to have it presented by Edson C. Lockwood, who has lived and worked in India for many years, is to receive information at first hand.

Among our visiting Rotarians were Herman Wheeler of the Boston Club; James O'Connell of the Watertown Club; Wm. Rinehart of the Waltham Club; Walter Sutherland of the Belmont Club and Messrs. George Mahoney and Earl Dunbar of the Needham Club.

First Lieutenant Bernard A. Rolfe, son of Mrs. Annie Rolfe, 68 Adella ave., West Newton, graduated August 10 from the Engineer Supply School, Granite City Depot, Granite City, Illinois.

The school is maintained by the Corps of Engineers and the course, open to student officers, is of six weeks duration, concentrating upon the functions of Depots, including technical training and handling, storage, processing, packing and marking of Engineer items, as well as detailed instruction in administrative procedures involved in supply operations.

Lieutenant Rolfe, a former student at Boston University, was employed at the West Newton Savings Bank prior to his entry into the Army. Before his assignment to the Supply school, he received various types of combat training at Camp Carson, Colorado, Camp Phillips, Kansas and Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Robert G. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Murphy of 117 Edinboro street, Newtonville, has finished his course as aerial gunner at Laredo Field, Tex., and has been awarded his silver wings and the rating of sergeant.

Sgt. Murphy is now stationed at Davis-Monthan Field in Tucson, Ariz., and has been appointed first flight engineer on a B-24. Before enlisting in the Army Air Forces in October, 1942, he was employed by the Lederle Laboratories in Boston. He was graduated from Newton High School in 1941.

Pvt. Paul R. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ward of 150 Edinboro street, Newtonville, won his private first class chevron this week by qualifying for enrollment in the B-24 Liberator bomber mechanics class at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss.

Pfc. Ward will undergo a 17-week course in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command and will be qualified for line duty with a B-24 unit.

James Redmond Corcoran, Jr., U.S.N.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Corcoran of 33 Bolton road, Newtonville, has been promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) at Pensacola, Fla., where he is now an instructor.

Lt. Corcoran was commissioned an ensign a year ago and has seen duty with the Transport Unit in the European theater of war and in the African campaign. His brother, R. Burton Corcoran, is studying under the Navy V-12 program at Middlebury College, Vt.

Ira Schoolman of Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, has been commissioned a second lieutenant at the Army Air Forces Miami Beach Officers Candidate School.

Two Newton men have been awarded their silver wings at consolidated graduation exercises at airfields in Texas.

Included in the large class of newly made lieutenants are Leonard E. LeSourd of 206 Waverley avenue, Newton; and Robert E. LaCroix of 970 Centre street, Newton Centre.

Miss Katherine Wilson of 1156 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, was among the SPAR recruits sworn in during the exercises at the Coast Guard Day Pageant in Boston.

Lt. Joseph E. Ryan, son of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Ryan of Belmont, formerly of Newton, has completed his transitional training in flying the B-25 bomber, the plane used by Gen. Jimmy Doolittle in the raid over Tokyo.

Lt. Ryan received his training at the La Junta, Colo., Army Air Field, where he recently was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces and was awarded his wings. He attended Newton High School and was a telephone repairman for Comb. Tel. and Tel. before being appointed an aviation cadet.

Joseph Edward Sullivan, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Michael J. Sullivan, of 15 Edgewood road, West Newton, enlisted recently in the Navy. He left recently for the Newport Training Station, Newport, R. I.

Russell S. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Brown of 34 Whitlow road, West Newton, has arrived at the Army Air Forces Training Command at Greensboro, N. C., where he will receive a course in radio operating and mechanics.

James W. MacLellan, former New England light heavyweight boxer, is home on a furlough after seeing action on Guadalcanal with the Marines and is visiting his mother and sister at 2081 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.

His brother, Sgt. Archie MacLellan, is still with the Marines in the South Pacific. MacLellan will report back to the Marine base at New River, N. C.

Philip Joseph Walsh of 103 Warwick road, West Newton, graduated August 10 from the Engineer Supply School, Granite City Depot, Granite City, Illinois.

Walsh, who was graduated last June from Newton High School, was a well known athlete, having been a member of the varsity football team and track team. He won the state championship for the 12-pound shot put on the Newton High School team.

Pierre Missak Stepanian was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army of the United States Aug. 4, upon successful completion of the Officer Candidate Course at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga. Lt. Stepanian is the son of Mrs. M. Margaret Lee of 31 Perkins st., West Newton.

The new lieutenant enlisted into the army on January 16, 1943, and served with Company C, 101st Infantry, 26th Div. Before going to Officer Candidate School three months ago, he held the rank of Staff Sergeant before being commissioned.

The new officer is a graduate of the Newton High School.

Enrolled in the preflight school at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, Texas, with the latest class were 129 cadets from Mass., who are now undergoing a rigorous course designed to fit them for the controls of America's war planes.

After successful completion of the studies, they will be sent on for more training in flying schools and finally will be awarded the silver wings of a pilot in the air forces of this country.

Pfc. Dominic L. Guzzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Guzzi of 68 Auburndale ave., West Newton, graduated as an airplane mechanic after 17 weeks of specialized training in the service and maintenance of Liberator bomber at the Keesler Field, Miss., Army Air Forces Training School.

Alexander Gordon MacMillan, son of Mrs. Jean M. Sutherland of 150 Melrose st., Auburndale, has been commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Navy.

MacMillan, who had been employed at Filene's, is a graduate of Boston University. He applied for induction in the Sea Bees and was ready to leave for his indoctrination course when he received notice that his application for an ensign's commission had been granted.

Albert J. Melanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin P. Melanson, 10 Columbus place, West Newton, has been promoted to sergeant at the Altus Army Air Field, Altus, Okla., where he is an aircraft mechanics crew chief. He was employed in a Waltham department store prior to his enlistment in the Army in January, 1942.

W. Frederic Provost of 209 Austen st., Newtonville, recently received his commission as an officer in the Coast Guard. He was trained at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. Previous to that he had been on active duty in Panama. After six more weeks of instruction on Diesel engines at Beloit, Wisconsin, he will be stationed on a Destroyer Escort as an officer in the engine room.

Naval Aviation Cadet William Charles Wyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Wyman of 10 Myrtle st., West Newton, has completed the intensive 11-week course at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School at Chapel Hill, N. C. He has been promoted to primary flight training at the Naval Air Station at Glenview, Ill.

Wyman attended Lenox School, class of '42. The extra-curricular activities in which he took part included Varsity Club, Glee Club, Football '40 and '41.

Newton Graphic, August 10, 1888
The rate of taxation last year was $15.80. This year it has been reduced to $15.20, the assessors having found nearly $9000,000 in new property. The valuation has not been marked up but has increased owing to the addition of taxable property.

A brief and interesting description of the Church of the Messiah with a handsome illustration of the new ecclesiastical edifice is shown on page 1 of the GRAPHIC.

The bell of the New Baptist church, Newton Centre, has been cast, and will weigh about 2000 pounds.
Mr. Miner, the proprietor of the Newton Upper Falls, Depot Barge Line, has come out this week with the barge nicely painted and repaired. This, with the addition of a new horse, makes the barge line very well equipped for business, which, it is hoped, will prove to be entirely satisfactory.

The Bryant and Stratton Commercial School, Boston, which our readers will notice advertised in this week's issue, will reopen Tuesday, Sept. 5. This school needs no recommendation from us as its present standing and reputation, gained during the last 30 years, places it at the head of all schools of a similar character. It can be patronized with full confidence, for nothing that is possible to be done for its pupils will be left undone.

It is now only a question of a short time when the B and A railroad will have a four-track line between Boston and Wellesley, and ere long to South Framingham. The 4-track equipment at present extends only to Riverside, but with the few months the preparatory work for foundations for two more tracks from that point to Wellesley has been progressing rapidly. The present small, wooden station at Riverside is to be replaced by a new stone structure of attractive design, with wide porches extending over the platform.

John Monaghan, of West Newton has secured a license for a public carriage and stand at the West Newton station.

Some of the carpenters employed about here are interested in the movement for an 8 hour day. Some of the contractors here refuse to make this concession, and in consequence several men who insisted on calling 8 hours a day's work, found themselves out of a job this week.

Capt. Joseph Cousins, who enlisted from Newton in Co. K, 32nd Mass., regiment away back in the sixties, will attend the annual reunion of the regiment Saturday at Plymouth.

The surviving members of Co. K, now in this city, number less than a dozen.

The new Nurses Home, near the Cottage Hospital, will soon be shingled, when work will be pushed both wet and dry weather. The new building is delightfully situated and commands a grand view.

The new rate on taxes has just been set at $18.40—$14.40 less than last year.

The Boston Transcript advances the idea of naming various trees on the Common and other parks for the men who give their lives in France to make the world safe for us all. The plan would work admirably in this city, and we urge its adoption by His Honor the Mayor. The trees selected as such a memorial should be appropriately marked, and would give an individual and personal touch which would be far more appropriate than the usual "soldiers' monument."

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Alderman Temperley Retires

At long last John Temperley, frequently referred to by former Mayor Edwin O. Childs as "Hon. est John" has decided to retire. It must be a source of considerable satisfaction to him that he never failed to beat an opponent, despite the fact that he faced stern opposition on more than one occasion. He was not, however, so fortunate in his efforts to mount Beacon Hill via the State Legislature. As a matter of fact, it is my opinion that the Ward 5 Alderman's talents and vast knowledge of our city made him rather more valuable to our Board of Aldermen than to any other governmental body. His intimate, detailed knowledge of the entire history of Newton constantly amazed me. For many years now he has served as a connecting link with the gradually fading past. Even those who sometimes chided him in a friendly way for frequently asking questions and raising objections to undue haste in voting on various measures will, way down deep, regret his departure from the Board of Aldermen.

Good-luck, John. You have been a conscientious, faithful servant of our beloved city for many, many years. You are entitled to a well-earned rest. You host of friends throughout the city join me, I feel confident, in wishing you long life and real happiness.

Senatorial World Tour

Everybody is following with keen interest the current world tour of the five distinguished United States Senators, headed by Senator Richard B. Russell, Democrat, of Georgia. The other members of the party are Senators Albert B. ("Happy") Chandler of Kentucky and James M. O'Connell of New York, Democrats, and Senators Ralph O. Brewster of Maine and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. The general purpose of the tour is to study the efficiency of American Army equipment and the operation of lend-lease. One of the hoped-for results is a closer co-operation between the Senate and the military authorities.

A Boston paper, commenting editorially on this tour, refers to our own Senator Lodge as "a careful student of war" and states that "he will grasp the significance of methods, arms, organization, camps, etc., which mean life to his four companions." That friends, is giving our Junior Senator all the best of the argument. To be perfectly frank, I have heard considerable plain and fancy "crabbing" anent this second tour of Senator Lodge. There is a rapidly-growing army of people in this state who, regardless of party affiliation, sincerely believe that Mr. Lodge should spend a larger part of his time in the United States, not to mention Massachusetts. After all, we are the people who elected him and then rejected him last fall. He is, of course, secure in his position for another five years and we cannot expect him to be unduly responsive to public criticism. However, some of us would appreciate more activity by the Senator in connection with food, fuel and gasoline rationing, which are vital matters like the East Boston Airport, and a bit less magazine article writing. (American magazine and now Coronet). Furthermore, it has been obvious to even casual observers for several years that Senator David I. Walsh has more or less outlived his usefulness. He is almost certainly serving his last term in the Senate and Mr. Roosevelt can hardly be expected to shed tears when he disappears from the scene. The same may be said for the bulk of Republicans. In the meantime, Massachusetts is overburdened along with the weakest representation it has had in many decades. Virginia, on the other hand, has a couple of party stalwarts, Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd, whose fame has traveled the length and breadth of the land. Byrd, in particular, is making the most daily contributions to the war effort and to war economy. More power to this splendid public servant. He may possibly wind up as Vice-President of the United States. What a relief he would be after four years of Henry Wallace.

Congresswoman Luce
What a stir the glamorous Claire Luce, of Connecticut has made in Congress. First she opened up the vital question of air supremacy AFTER the war and called attention to a possible clash between United States and British interests and now she is about to start off on a country-wide speaking tour. Her aides have said that this junket requires almost as much preparation as a trip to the South Pole. It seems that the Republican National Committee was anxious to have Mrs. Luce take this swing around the circuit in order to stimulate the growth of Republican women's organizations. Furthermore, it is more than likely that Mrs. Luce will succeed in arousing a lot of interest in political matters wherever she goes. From her own point of view, this tour will increase her chance of getting elected to the United States Senate in 1944. Incidentally, she may help boost the circulation of Time, Life and Fortune. That will not displease her equally famous husband, Henry R. Luce, the publisher.

Willkie and Weeks
It's just too bad that the Hon. Sinclair Weeks cannot invite Mr. Wendell L. Willkie of Rushville, Indiana, to spend a week-end with him at Lancaster, New Hampshire, without all the political experts

Letters To The Editor

The following letter was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wildman, 16 Winter st., Newton Upper Falls, from their son, Sgt. Edward B. Wildman, Jr. Although the letter is written to the Sergeant's parents, it is published here so that his many Newton friends will know that he is well and in good spirits.

Dear Folks:
Thank you for your many many letters. I enjoyed reading them all. I am somewhere in — and that is all I can disclose for the present. All your questions as to where I've been, what I've been doing, what I have seen must, for the present, remain secret. I am glad to hear that Tom Jr., is in the service for that is what he wants. Send me snapshots now and then as I don't have any of you.

Please notify the others of my change in address. Only my A. P. O. has been changed. It is now A. P. O. 824. Tell the others that I'll write as soon as I can but right now I can't. I am in good health, feel fine, in fact I never felt better. In your letters include a couple of extra sheets of blank writing paper. Preferably air weight paper. I will notify you later regarding packages. Perhaps Dad already knows.

When I return home I shall have plenty to tell. I have seen many interesting things that I never expected to see. There is no need for you to worry about my welfare. I am O. K. and we are having a swell time.

Take this letter to the Newton Graphic Editor and let this be read by him.
Please send me the NEWTON GRAPHIC as it is the best way I can get the complete news of the Newtons. This is a request and I really want the paper. I feel lost without it.

Yours truly,
Sgt. EDWARD B. WILDMAN, JR.

—Announcement is made by Lt. Marston S. Leonard, USAAF, and Mrs. Leonard of 20 Fairfax st., of the birth of a son, Marston Calvin Leonard on July 29, in New York. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. Marston Leonard of West Newton and Mrs. Helen Dawney Kiraly of New York.

getting excited and trying to read something between the lines. I know that country very well. I have climbed most of the mountains in that sector and fished many of the streams. Our former Mayor and his father before him have spent many, many, many years in Lancaster and vicinity. It is one of the most beautiful spots in the entire country. Inasmuch as it is an unwritten law that all our Presidents must be fishermen of one sort or another, what could be more natural than that Sinclair Weeks, who happens to be Treasurer of the G. O. P. National Committee should ask Wendell Willkie, who chanced to run for President in 1940, to look over the fishing situation in northern New Hampshire. Also, both men are fond of horses. The Newton statesman rides horse back frequently and the Indiana gentleman was a "dark-horse" three years ago. It is all quite simple, isn't it? Or is it?

Women In Service

Auxiliary Marie B. Moreau, daughter of Mr. Leon J. Moreau, 176 Commonwealth, West Concord, Mass., has arrived at the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps Training Center, Fort Devens, Mass., to begin her basic training.

Four Newton WAVES and one SPAR were among the 500 women who received commissions as ensigns in the women reserves of the Navy at exercises held last week in Green Hall of the Smith College Campus, Northampton.

Marion A. Roberts of Auburndale, Dorothy E. Rowe of Newton, Luvina F. Wentworth of Waban and Dorothy E. Wilson of Newtonville are the newly commissioned ensigns in the WAVES. Rosalie W. Martin of Auburndale was commissioned an ensign in the SPARS.

Now stationed at Madison Barracks, N. Y., is pretty Dorothy M. Veducchio, daughter of Mary Agnes and Nicholas Veducchio of 30 Riverside ave., Newton.

Auxiliary Veducchio had her basic training at Fort Devens, Mass., and is one of the hundreds of girls now being sent into the field to take over some soldier's job thereby releasing him for active combat duty.

How Auxiliary Veducchio feels about the WAC is made very clear in a letter recently written to her parents. She says: "We had to sign up to re-enlist. We had two hours to decide whether we wanted to stay in the WAC. It only took me a split second to say 'I'm staying in to serve my country.' I love every bit of my work."

Auxiliary Veducchio's father is Chief of Police in Newton.

Million Dollar Hospitals For Armed Forces

Million dollar Army Hospitals staffed with the finest American professional talent are now serving United States Army soldiers in the European Theater of Operations. These hospitals are staffed by physicians and surgeons of prominence, many of whom taught medicine at America's outstanding universities or held posts in America's most advanced hospitals and clinics.

Listed as general hospitals, they are situated far from military objectives in rural sections of Great Britain. Each of them is complete with medical, surgical, dental, x-ray, and laboratory services. Combat casualties requiring prolonged or specialized treatment are transported to one of these hospitals, which are military organizations streamlined to give the American soldier the best of care and treatment. One typical hospital has a professional complement made up almost entirely of men who taught at Harvard University before the war. Some of them were resident surgeons and physicians at prominent Boston hospitals. The majority of the nurses were recruited from the same hospitals.

Succeeding the men of the Harvard Unit base hospital which served the A.E.F. in France during World War I, they are walking in the footsteps of such predecessors as Harvey Cushing, the world-famous Professor, V. H. Kazanjian, and the former president of the American College of Physicians, Doctor Roger I. Lee.

The entire hospital is spidered out and built to minimize the damage which might result from air raids. The surgery rooms are located in a low, flat-roofed brick building superbly equipped. Laid out for speed, two spacious operating theaters afford room for four surgical teams to work at one time. The theaters are connected by long, parallel rooms, one for anesthesia, and the other for sterilization. In case of emergency, these teams can be kept busy without interruption. New cases and sterile tools and dressings may be wheeled in as fast as required.

The chief surgeon at the Hospital is Lieutenant Colonel Robert Zollinger of 15 Brimfield rd., Newton Centre. In addition to his regular surgical duties he is conducting research to improve and streamline Army medical methods. The surgical service, working with the medical department, has set up a laboratory for the study of shock. Colonel Zollinger recently developed a new kind of mobile surgical team to be sent into a battle zone to follow the heavy fighting and lighten the load of the medical troops in those sectors.

Research also is being carried on in the medical department. An important innovation worked out there in the past few weeks is a complete blood transfusion kit which has been adopted by the Office of the Chief Surgeon for use in this theater.

Directing the dental department is Lieutenant Colonel Moses Stock of 474 Beacon st., Boston. His section deals not only with repair, tooth extraction, and the making of artificial replacements, but with the reconstruction of jaws and faces shattered in combat. This job is doubly complex because a special, tailor-made apparatus must be constructed in each case.

One of the department's ace construction men on this and other appliance work is a former watch maker, Sgt. Francis Marks of 9 Maple ave., Lancaster, N. Y. Of him, Col. Stock has this to say: "When I give him an idea on paper he hands it back to me in metal."

In all of such important work the dental and surgical services consult the piercing eyes of x-ray for food proof analysis of the condition to be remedied. The chief radiologist is Lieutenant Colonel Magnus I. Smedal of 103 Larchmont rd., Waban. His studies contain a wide range of up-to-date equipment, including fluoroscopes and stereoscopes which lend the missing third dimension to x-ray prints.

A patient in this typical ETO Hospital has no aspect of his welfare overlooked. The medical treatment he receives is rounded off by an elaborate special service recreational program. The special service unit shows movies and arranges appearances of various celebrities of the entertainment world.

A huge library of books from Ellery Queen to metaphysics is available at the Red Cross Building. Convalescing patients also go there to shoot pool, play ping pong and listen to the radio and phonograph.

The patients worship Sundays at the service of their choice in an especially decorated Nissen Hut Chapel.

Vegetables Supply Nutrients

Reduced civilian supplies of milk and cheese mean that we shall need to eat other foods rich in calcium or lime. Cauliflower supplies calcium in season, but for a year-round supply of this food element, it has been suggested that calcium be added to bread.

As supplies of meat and cheese are limited, vegetable protein foods must take their place on the dinner table. Beans, peas, cereals, all contain some protein. Though citrus fruits furnish much vitamin C, along with foods like tomatoes and green vegetables, much of the citrus vitamin C is wasted by being thrown away in the peel.

Camp Frank A. Day

Monday, August 2, was lazy day at camp. Following the annual circus performance, the boys as well as the animals required a rest. Hoofbeats regrettably is hibernating until next July. The boys did not have to rise at the customary 7:30 o'clock, and on one day there was no talk about murdering the early morning bugler. Breakfast was served cafeteria style anytime between 8 o'clock and 9:30.

In the afternoon some of the usual activities were scheduled for those who had grown tired of being lazy, and in the evening three scavenger hunts were held. One for each of the three camps. They were a huge success and kindled much interest. Tedesco and DiGregorio won the senior scavenger hunt. Scherer and Eudington came in first in the Junior scavenger hunt. Another lazy day is scheduled during the third period of camp.

Tuesday evening, the whole camp, counselors, campers, workers and rangers assembled in the mess hall for a Professor Quiz program. Mr. Riley acted as Professor Quiz, and with numerous questions contributed by campers he questioned first three women and three men. Mr. Johnson, Rev. Allen, and Prof. Day lined up on one side against Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Allen, and Miss Martinson. Our nurse, Mrs. Johnson won. The questions were an assortment of humorous, sport and serious. Mr. Allen was asked to firemen wear red suspenders? Failing to give the proper answer, he was eliminated from the contest but Mrs. Allen came through with the correct answer to put the ladies in the lead.

Prof. Quiz then questioned a group of seniors, one representative from each senior camp. Rick and Brackett proved that he was just as good at the Quiz game as he is at his magic and came out on top.

The third quiz program was limited to junior campers. In that contest Paul Sinesi was the winner.

Following this Quiz program on Tuesday evening, the boys were dismissed so that they could retire at the proper hour, and then the evening continued with a contest in the senior line and in the Junior line to see which tent in each line could produce the best cheer. Tent 3 was awarded the cheer contest by the judges in the senior camp, and tent 17 was awarded the cheer contest in the Junior contest with tent 9 a close second.

Wednesday evening the camp had its second cook-out of the season. This was followed by a ball game in which the Counselor I team paced by Mr. Reginald Smith, the waterfront man at camp, trounced the senior team minus their stars, Humphrey, Bob Seaward, and Noel Roberts. The score 11-1 tells the sad tale.

At eight o'clock, following the ball game under the supervision of Mr. Riley, Black, and Stevie Evans a boxing show was conducted in the mess hall. Great interest was shown. More juniors and seniors wanted to participate than time allowed for. As a result of the exceedingly great interest in this sport, boxing instruction is being scheduled on the daily program, and an evening of boxing at the ball field under flood lights with regulation ring, seconds, etc., is scheduled for the near future.

Friday the track meet for the second period was held at the ball field under the direction of Ross Humphrey, Newton High star track performer.

Friday evening, The Workers overwhelmingly defeated the Counselor I team in a game of basketball at the Junior camp. Hansen was the star performer for the workers.

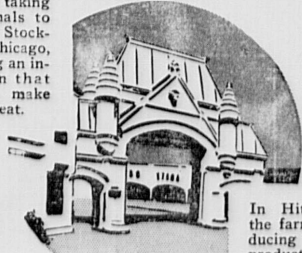

Saturday afternoon, the usual activities were called off to allow for a hike to Quabog. The whole camp left the lake directly after rest hour, some by boats and canoes, others by foot. They reached Quabog in the late afternoon. There they had an interesting program of games and swimming. After a leisurely picnic supper, they returned to camp by water and via the long dusty road.

One of the interesting contests that has developed this past week is the contest for Swing Lo that Mr. Johnson introduced at noon on Tuesday. Swing Lo is a Chinese character that has to be displayed once a day by the tent having it in their possession, but try and do it. Let the campers tell you about it in the letters that they write home.

Alvord Bros., of Newton, report having recently consummated the sale of the property located at 176 Langley rd., in Newton Centre. This smartly styled, mansard-roofed Colonial dwelling was built by Burnham, and contains on the first floor four comfortable rooms and a screened porch; on the second floor there are four bedrooms, bath and open porch; and there is a third-floor studio room. The heating system is excellent, being hot water fired by oil. The lot of about 6,075 square feet is attractively laid out, with lovely rock garden at the rear which is built around an old pudding-stone ledge. Elvira Eggle Potter, of Brookline, has conveyed title to Peter Holdensen, also of Brookline. The premises are assessed for tax purposes at $6,900.

Alvord Bros. further report that title has been passed on the premises situated in Belmont, at 187 Lewis rd. It consists of a brick and frame Garrison type Colonial containing eight rooms, two baths and a lavatory. The two-car garage is attached to the dwelling, and the lot is ample, containing approximately 11,334 square feet. Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Sharpe, of Riverside, California, were the Sellers; and the Buyers, Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Beebe, were represented by Mr. Charles E. Tremholm, of Belmont. The new owners plan to occupy their home immediately. The valuation for tax purposes is $10,435.

John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. report that they have sold for the Fitchburg Savings Bank, the attractive brick single residence located at 74 Homestead rd., corner of Woodward st., in the Waban section of Newton. The house contains seven rooms, three baths and together with 10,744 square feet of land, is assessed for $13,400. Marion L. Gaffney was the buyer.

In the Newton Centre district, Burns' office has sold the house numbered 27 Clark st., which comprises nine rooms. The house, two-car garage and 7000 feet of land is valued for tax purposes for $7,860. The New England Trust Company and Robert C. Wilkie, Executors of the will of Robert J. Wilkie was the grantor and Charles D. Train was the purchaser.

In the Newton Centre district also, John T. Burns and Sons, Inc.

Teach WAACs to Cook

At the war's end, hundreds of WAACs will return to civilian life, as expert cooks, trained by army methods to feed hundreds at each meal. Among the women who are daily attending classes, there are many whose sole claim to culinary fame before entering the WAAC was the ability to open cans. Now they are rapidly qualifying as experts in the food line. Others, already experienced dietitians, are adding to their specialized knowledge. Third Officer Maggie Lynn Willis of Starkville, Miss., executive officer of the cooks and bakers of the Second WAAC Training Center, explained: "In my opinion the health of our nation will be raised 100 per cent according to standards of nutrition when our cooks and bakers return to civilian life."

SAYS SOUND WAVES MAY CAUSE DEATH

Evidence that intense sound waves can cause death has been noted during the present war, according to a report to the International College of Surgeons submitted by Com. Bartholomew W. Hogan, U. S. Navy, native of West Newton, who gained fame in treating casualties aboard the Aircraft Carrier Wasp.

Com. Hogan is the son of Thomas F. Hogan of 12 Allen place, West Newton, caretaker at St. Bernard's Church. He was graduated from Boston College in 1921 and from Tufts Medical School in 1925. On graduation he enlisted in the Navy Medical Corps.

His report to the College of Surgeons states in part:

"The observed facts clear some long-standing mystery's about death or injury to men whose bodies bear not a single external mark. They also reveal some new things. The deaths occur both in air and water, and of the two, the water is the more deadly. In both cases the lethal blast is compression which travels in a wave at the speed of sound, and which is in fact the sound the ears hear."

"In air this speed is about 1,180 feet a second; in water 4,800 feet, more than four times faster."

"Men standing in passageways near the area where the torpedoes struck the Wasp were seen to get their abdomens double over and collapse in death. No external injuries were apparent. But there were prominent personality changes in men who survived bombs or shell fire hits close by, at times within 10 feet. The men were lethargic, apathetic, dull, sometimes with impaired memories."

After the Wasp had been abandoned, Com. Hogan, himself in the water, describes some deaths he witnessed:

"I saw a group of men swimming towards a destroyer. A depth charge went off, the water blew high in the air and the surrounding water was churned and violently agitated. When it had quieted, there were very few bobbing heads, and these were lifeless."

"I felt this concussion wave. It was like someone grabbing you around the waist, holding you very tight and suddenly releasing you."

Summer Barracks for Hens Give Chicks Old Quarters

Summer barracks for the laying hens may enable the poultryman with early hatched winter chicks to house the early pullets when they start to lay and still keep the productive old hens. A temporary rough shelter for the old birds will protect them through the warm summer weather, and if they are moved from the laying house in late May or early June, there will not be much slack in production. This leaves the laying houses to the pullets that mature in summer and early fall.

The birds should be moved at night and handled carefully, and perhaps be given special feeding, such as wet mash, to make sure their laying is not disturbed. The open summer quarters may actually be more comfortable for the birds in hot weather than the winter laying house.

A barracks house should be inexpensive, designed mainly as a roosting place, and as protection from storms and hot sun. The roof may be a frame of poles covered with slabs, straw, hay or canvas, or boards covered with roofing paper. A tool shed or some other out-building may sometimes be used as a barracks for the summer. The building needs no permanent floor. Nests, roosts, and water should be provided, as in the laying house. Birds in summer-laying barracks should have free range. This enables them to get plenty of sunshine for vitamin D, and also to get part of their feed from pasture, to reduce ration costs and also the demand for some scarce feeds.

Electronic Tubes Speed Weld'ng in U.S. Warplanes

American warplanes can now be sewn together at speeds as fast as 1,800 welding "stitches" a minute, with the aid of electronic tubes much like those in an ordinary radio set.

Peak production in airplane plants depends upon resistance welding, a speedy new process that stitches metal together just as an electric sewing machine runs down a seam. This fast method of fabricating aluminum and stainless steel for plants depends upon precise control—and that is now being supplied by electronic tubes that have no moving parts to get out of order. Some of these tubes act as switches, jumping into action in one 2.500th of a second to start the weld. Previous methods of starting the weld were many times slower than this.

Other tubes measure out electric power in exact doses to make each stitch uniformly strong.

Air raid wardens have taken over the manning of the Newton report center from the auxiliary police, according to an announcement of the Protection Division of the Committee on Public Safety.

Since its inception, the report center has been manned 24 hours a day by the auxiliary police, the crew being called the "duty watch." Starting this month the night duty watch has been taken over by the wardens, with the chief, deputy chiefs, village and neighborhood wardens each to spend one night a month, serving in pairs, on the night shift.

Driven From Home By Fires

Twice in the same night six members of the household at 112 Norwood ave., Newtonville, were aroused by fire and the second blaze drove them out in the early morning of August 15. The first fire occurred about 2:45 a.m. in an upholstered chair in the living room. Without the help of the Fire Department, the occupants extinguished the blaze and carried the chair to the front porch. However, it is believed that the sparks smoldered in the chair until flames burst forth quickly spreading over the front and west side of the two-and-one-half wooden story dwelling. An alarm was sounded from box 2351 at 5:06 bringing engines 1, 4 and 8 and ladders 1 and 3 to the scene. The firemen, under the direction of Chief John L. Keating and Deputy Chief John E. Corcoran, succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading to the house on the adjacent lot, 15 feet away. The "all out" was sounded at 7:09 a.m.

The owner of the duplex, one side of which was unoccupied, is Mrs. Clara Adams of 361 Lowell ave., Newtonville, as trustee for the Adams estate. The loss was estimated at $1,500 and the cause reported by Fire Department officials was "probably a cigarette." Damage to telephone wires caused neighborhood phones to go out of order.

Six Girls In Canoe Accident

B. Frederica Hart, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Hart, Jr., of 185 Hobart rd., Newton Centre, was one of six girls in a party of nine, who returned safely to Camp Nobscussett from a canoe accident in Dennis. The girls were canoeing when a severe wind storm swept the bay. Three members of the party in one canoe were washed ashore unharmed at Brewster while a trio in another canoe were picked up by a fishing boat well out of sight of land in the bay. These six all returned to camp unharmed. Coast Guard units combined with planes furnished by the Army Air Corps and a posse of civilians searched for the 32 group of girls, and found the bodies of Joyce Wilcox 17, of Pelham, N. Y., and Xernia Claro, 14, of Santiago, Chile. The body of Jane Summer 13, of Wellesley Hills is still missing.

MISS WALSH TO ENTER NOVITIATE

On September 8, Miss Carolyn Maureen Walsh, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Walsh of 24 Mague ave., West Newton, will enter the Novitiate of St. Joseph at Framingham. She was graduated from St. Charles High School, Waltham, in 1941 at the age of 16. Since that time she has been in the employ of the Newton Trust Company, and at present holds the position of senior bookkeeper.

Miss Walsh was given a surprise party on Monday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Patrick Doherty of Waltham where about eighty friends and relatives gathered in her honor. Co-workers at the Trust Company will honor Miss Walsh Friday afternoon when Mr. Herbert W. Kestle, assistant treasurer, will present Miss Walsh with an appropriate gift from her friends at the bank.

Two Centres Camp Closes

One hundred and fifty-five boys and girls from Newton and West Newton have had the opportunity of enjoying a camp program at Two Centres Camp, Saxtonville, Mass., during the past seven weeks. Twelve of these youngsters attended more than one week, when cancellations in registrations provided extra places, and they were considered extra privileged by those who could only go for one period.

Crafts, story telling, singing, swimming, fishing and plenty of time for rest and free play, proved an attractive and beneficial program for the children.

The adult members of the West Newton Community Centre and the Rebecca Pomroy House look forward to going to camp for evening trips just as eagerly as the younger members, and forty-seven women attended evening groups held at the camp, with swimming, games, and picnic suppers as their entertainment.

The Two Centres Camp is co-operatively run by the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., and the Rebecca Pomroy House, both member-agencies of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., and the Greater-Boston United War Fund. Miss Helen I. Sandstrom and Miss Gertrude MacCallum, Executive Directors of the two local organizations, direct the activities of the camp, assisted by Miss Sylvia Frey of Newton, a member of the Pomroy House.

At a time when families are hard put to provide adequate means of recreational activities for their boys and girls, Two Centres Camp has filled a very definite need in providing necessary vacations and evening trips for two hundred and five individuals, with a total attendance of nine hundred and twenty-nine camper days.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS COUPLE SURPRISED

Two surprise parties were tendered to Mrs. Elmer Atwell of 36 Indiana terrace, Newton Upper Falls, in observance of her 25th wedding anniversary by members of Echo Circle, Companions of the Forest of America on Tuesday, August 10. Mr. and Mrs. Atwell were married 25 years on August 11. Mr. Atwell is a machinist at the Gamewell Company, Newton Upper Falls.

The first surprise was given to Mrs. Atwell at a Bridge and Whist party held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Capobianco of 92 Thurston rd., Newton Upper Falls, when Mrs. Atwell was presented a large bouquet of gladioli in honor of her wedding anniversary and her completion of her 30 years of service as treasurer of Echo Circle. High scorers at the card party were Mrs. Schyler Smith, Mrs. Florence Daley, Mrs. Mary Wiecek, Mrs. Annie McQuirk, and Mrs. Charles Marden. The second surprise came at the close of the business meeting of Echo Circle, Companions of the Forest of America at Odd Fellows held on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Florence Daley in behalf of the Circle presented a beautiful cake to the happy couple.

To Be Less Costly To Have City Construct Streets

Owners Of Private Ways In Newton Will Share In "Fifty-Fifty" Plan

Owners of property on private ways in Newton will find it less costly in the future to have their streets constructed and accepted by the city.

The reduction in the cost was announced by Vice-President Joseph B. Jamieson at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last Monday night at the same time that the board adopted an amendment to its rules and orders clarifying the conditions under which the city will undertake street improvement projects.

Jamieson announced that as an inducement to property owners on private ways to seek construction and acceptance of the streets by the city, a "fifty-fifty" plan, recommended by the Planning Board, will be adopted. Under the terms of the plan, the maximum charge to the property owners will be $3 a linear foot. Thus, if the cost exceeds $6 a linear foot, the city would bear, in addition to its share of $3, whatever expense there should be in excess of $6.

In the past the maximum cost to property owners has been $4.50 a linear foot.

Jurors Selected

The following were drawn for jury service:

Criminal business, Cambridge, Wednesday, Sept. 8: Arthur W. Kirkpatrick, 15 Water st., Newton Centre, salesman; Paul J. Cassell, 29 Wedgewood rd., West Newton, monument business.

Morse, 35 Prentice rd., Newton Centre, retired; Raymond C. Baker, 58 Fine Crest rd., executive vice-president; Philip H. Beach, 8 Brookdale rd., Newton Centre, technical adviser; Karl H. Ways, 36 Morse rd., Newtonville, salesman; Edmund T. Collins, 117 Nantum st., Newton, statistician.

A traffic regulation setting a one-hour parking limit on Washington st. from the telephone building to the bus stop at Central ave., Newtonville, was adopted by the Board on recommendation of the street traffic committee.

Hearings were held on an order "discontinuing a portion of Langley rd., east side, from Jackson st. to Boylston st., as a public way, and dedicating the land for park purposes" and an order "authorizing the construction of a drainage ditch in the vicinity of rd. from Heatherland rd. northerly about 500 feet."

The board appropriated $600 for the purchase of a new car for Water Commissioner Joseph J. Murray, and $100 for auto maintenance for the Assessing Department.

The sale of a lot of land owned by the city on Jeffrey cir., Ward 5, to Hector Priestly was authorized by the board on condition that he increase his offer from $250 to $500.

The board granted the petition of William A. Shaughnessy for a first-class taxi license at 257 Washington st., Newton Corner, when Mrs. Atwell was presented a large bouquet of gladioli in honor of her wedding anniversary and her completion of her 30 years of service as treasurer of Echo Circle.

High scorers at the card party were Mrs. Schyler Smith, Mrs. Florence Daley, Mrs. Mary Wiecek, Mrs. Annie McQuirk, and Mrs. Charles Marden. The second surprise came at the close of the business meeting of Echo Circle, Companions of the Forest of America at Odd Fellows held on Tuesday evening.

Named Head Of War Fund Council

Judge Charles C. Cabot, Superior Court justice and Dover farmer, has been named president of the Massachusetts War Fund Council, it was announced at the Council's headquarters, 261 Franklin st.

Under his leadership the Council will coordinate the fund-raising activities of war funds and community chests throughout the state. In accordance with a national plan, Newton and the President's War Relief Board, the Council will function under the National War Fund's united effort to provide funds for wartime and community needs.

The Greater Boston United War Fund, which Judge Cabot headed in last winter's campaign, will cooperate closely with the State Council. In the nationwide effort being made to include every community in the National War Fund plan, Newton and neighboring communities fit into the picture through their affiliation with the Greater Boston United War Fund.

A native of Brookline, Judge Cabot, named to the Superior Court bench by Governor Saltonstall in March, is president of the Boston Dispensary, Community Fund member; secretary of the State Bar Association; and a member of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety. He is town moderator of Dover, and served as a private in the Marine Corps in the first World War.

Awarded Silver Star For Action

First Lt. John Bernard Doyle, Jr., 24 of Newton, has been awarded a Silver Star for heroic action in saving wounded men, according to a delayed dispatch from the South Pacific. Doyle was in charge of a platoon of Marines on Guadalcanal, in the battle of Matanikau River.

His citation is as follows: "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity while under fire from the enemy in the vicinity of Matanikau River on Guadalcanal, he showed special courage by descending a steep wooded hill west of Matanikau River to attend the wounded."

"Lt. Doyle was under such heavy mortar and machine gun fire that one of the wounded men he was helping was killed in his hands."

"Lt. Doyle carried out his task safely, and succeeded in retrieving three wounded men."

In refusing to take credit for the feat, Doyle said: "Anyone in my position would have acted in the same manner. After all, they were my boys, we had been through a lot before this affair together and I couldn't leave them lying there wounded without any help."

He was born in Newton and when his family moved to Stamford, Conn., he attended school there, graduating from the Stamford High School. He received his A.B. degree from Boston College in 1940 and attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He was commissioned a second lieutenant, January 24, 1942. His brother, Pvt. Michael Doyle is stationed at Fort Devens.

To Retire From School Duties

Three teachers and one custodian will retire from the Newton School Department according to an announcement by Superintendent Jul E. Warren. Their combined service totals 106 years of service to Newton.

Teachers who retired are as follows: Mrs. Helen G. Leavitt who taught at the Angier School from 1920 to 1943; Miss Ellen G. McGrath, assistant principal at the Weeks Junior High School, who served from 1905 to 1916 and from 1925 to 1943 and Miss E. Louise Richardson, who taught at the Newton High School from 1916 to 1943.

Edward M. Bagley, a janitor from 1915 to 1942, is the fourth member of the staff, whose resignation was announced.

Julius E. Warren New State Education Com.

Gov. Saltonstall Honors Newton Supt. of Schools in Recognition of His Exceptional Record and Ability

Governor Saltonstall this week named Julius E. Warren as State Commissioner of Education. Mr. Warren is Superintendent of Schools in Newton. Pending confirmation of the appointment by the Council, the Acting Commissioner of Education will be Patrick J. Sullivan, Director of the Department's Division of Elementary and Secondary Education. This procedure was made necessary, the Governor explained, because there was no Council meeting this week, and in order to give Mr. Warren opportunity to complete his obligations with the Newton School Department.

The Governor said he would accept the resignation of Commissioner Walter F. Downey as of August 25. Mr. Downey, who was appointed by the Governor in 1939 will return to his former post as headmaster of Boston English High School.

Mr. Warren has had a long career as a teacher, principal, and superintendent of schools. A native of Leicester, Mass., he graduated from Dartmouth College in 1910 and received his Master of Arts Degree from Columbia University in 1922.

Following two years in the employ of the Western Electric Company in Chicago, he taught at Rutland, Mass., and at the Mohegan Lake School. From 1913 to 1918 Mr. Warren was head of the English Departments at Schenectady, New York, and Boston, Mass. Subsequently he was principal of the high schools at Brattleboro, Vt., and at Columbusville, N. Y., where he also served as superintendent of schools from 1922 to 1925.

Before going to Newton in 1924, he was Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Springfield, Mass., and Superintendent of Schools at Lakewood, Ohio, where he was also a member of the City Charter Commission. He has served as an instructor in various summer schools including Harvard Graduate School of Education and Boston University.

To Head Sallies Fund Appeal

Arthur G. Curran, of Needham, will head for the second consecutive year the Industry and Finance Division of the 1943-1944 Greater Boston Annual Maintenance Appeal of The Salvation Army, according to announcement made by John E. Wilson, General Chairman of the campaign. This unit, carrying the largest objective of any of the divisions associated with the gathering of funds to carry on the ever increasing program of the Army, will be assigned a quota of $125,000, gladly accepted by Mr. Curran.

Mr. Curran will supervise approximately 25 divisions and 200 groups that cover business, professional and financial avenues in Greater Boston. Already, the work of securing chairmen for these sections of the work has progressed in rapid stride.

For many years, Mr. Curran has been associated with the humanitarian program of The Salvation Army, as a member of the Greater Boston Advisory Board and in many capacities in the annual appeal for funds. He is now active in the Home Front war doing for Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

He is president of the Arthur G. Curran Company, in State st., Boston, and vice-president of Boston Rotary.

For many years, the Currans have resided in Needham where Mr. Curran is chairman of the Needham Recreation Commission and a member of the town's Board of Trade. Since Pearl Harbor, he has been affiliated with Needham's defense program. His son, Arthur G. Jr., is serving Uncle Sam on foreign soil as a Captain in the United States Army.

Drowned After Dory Capsized

Harry Cormier, 56, of 19 West st., Newton, became exhausted while clinging to a capsized dory and was drowned several miles out to sea off Brant Rock, Marshfield, last Sunday. Two other Newton men, Walter Sampson of 75 Faxon st., Newton his brother John Sampson of 93 West st., Newton, and Fred Young of Marshfield, were rescued.

The men had left Brant Rock on a fishing trip in the afternoon and their predicament was seen by a Navy Blimp returning from duty at sea. The blimp dropped a bomb which sent up huge billows of smoke attracting the attention of a mackerel seiner which picked up the men and later brought the survivors to the Coast Guard station. The Coast Guard sent out boats for Cormier but his body could not be found.

Cormier is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Cormier, three sons, Edward, Clarence and Arthur and five daughters, Mrs. Celia Poppleton, Mrs. Alice Bigger, Miss Florence M. Irene, and Miss Barbara Cormier, all of Newton.

Dedicate St. Raphael's Hall

The formal dedication and opening of St. Raphael's Hall, 770 Centre st., Newton, the new home for aged blind and deaf-blind women of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Boston, took place August 15, with outdoor services on the spacious and beautifully landscaped grounds of the home. The property was formerly the Victor M. Cutter estate.

The exercises, attended by about 500 persons, included an address by Msgr. Francis L. Phelan, D.D., chancellor of the archdiocese, who also officiated at benediction. He was introduced by Rev. John J. Connolly, director of the Catholic Guild for the Blind.

Msgr. Phelan, representing Cardinal O'Connell, formally presented the home to the Guild. Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, who as chaplain of the home will reside there, also spoke.

Two blind students at the New England Conservatory of Music, Anthony Cirella and John DeFrancisco sang. Cirella recently was graduated from Pius X School of Liturgical Music.

UPPER FALLS HOT-DOG ROAST

Thursday evening, August 12, 1943, Upper Falls was again well represented at the weekly hot-dog roast at the lower playground. Even though the evening was cloudy, spirits were high and as it was the last roast of the season, everyone cooperated to make the affair a success.

The obtaining of firewood is not too hard a task, was again proved by Thomas Mahoney, David DeFazio, and Joseph Daniele. Tommy enlisted the aid of his uncle, Mr. Gordon Turner, who supplied several baskets of wood.

Parents who again aided the instructors were Mrs. Thomas Mahoney, Mrs. Marie Anastasi, Mrs. Harold Wenger, Mrs. Ford, Mr. Ducker Walker, Mrs. Michael Daniele, Mrs. Joseph Matherwitz, Mrs. Patrick Mulhern, and Mrs. Joseph Gustowski.

Record hot-dog eater of this week was Joseph Tarabelli, and Conrad Bambini was second.

Each Thursday evening seems to be the time for a feast not only for children and parents but also for "Duffy," "Butch," "Jerry," "Pal" and several more of the neighborhood dogs. The neighborhood dogs are invited to see tables, benches, swings, slide, and Jungle Gym all crowded with children happily munching hot-dogs, marshmallows, candy kisses and drinking tonic.

Boys and girls who have been officially dog masters are: Ronald Murphy, Robert Lash, Albert Daniele, Christy Turantino, Rita DeBourke, Dorothy Prendergast, Barbara Overstrom, Patsy and Alton Lane were chief fire-extinguishers.

Instructors in charge were: Mr. Carl Penny, Miss Margaret Cotter, and Mrs. Ellen Chesnone. Paddle tennis players were: Anna Schiavone and Yolanda Daniele, vs. Gordon Vlass and Fred Schiavone. The girls were the winners. Score 6-0; 6-4.

First-ball game, boys vs. girls. Ronald Murphy, Robert Lash, Albert Daniele, Christy Turantino, Rita DeBourke, Dorothy Prendergast, Barbara Overstrom, Patsy and Alton Lane were chief fire-extinguishers.

REV. HENRY HARRISON RIGGS

Stricken at Jerusalem only a short distance from his goal at Beirut, Syria, after a three months journey by steamer from the United States to Egypt, Rev. Henry Harrison Riggs, after having a day's illness in the hospital there, according to a cable received today by the American Board of Foreign Missions, of which he had been a missionary since 1902. He was on his way to resume his duties as Secretary of the Near East Christian Council after having been prevented by the military situation for several years from returning. He was buried at Jerusalem after a service conducted by Mr. Sloan, the chairman of the Council.

Born in Turkey of missionary parents and coming from a missionary family which has served for three generations in Turkey under the American Board, Mr. Riggs was thoroughly acquainted with the problems of the Near East.

Educated at Carleton College and Auburn Theological Seminary, he served for Turkey in 1902 under the American Board of Foreign Missions and first did evangelistic work in Talas. Within a year of his arrival he was elected president of Euphrates College, Harpoot, Turkey, in which position he served for seven years. Ill health compelled him to withdraw, but later he went back to Turkey for evangelistic work. It was during this period that he lived through the terrible experiences of the Armenian deportations and served under the Near East Relief for a period. After a period of work in Istanbul he was sent to Beirut, Syria, to work among the refugees from Asia Minor. Since that time he has been on the staff of the Near East School of Theology and in recent years has served under the Near East Christian Council, a body which binds together the Missions in North Africa, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, the Balkans, Iraq, Iran and Arabia.

Mr. Riggs is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charlotte E. Churchill, of 144 Hancock st., Auburndale, Mass.; two daughters, Ruth of Auburndale, and Helen, a student at Middlebury College; two brothers, Rev. Charles T. Riggs in Istanbul, Turkey, and President Ernest W. Riggs of Anatolia College, Thessalonika, Greece; and 144 Hancock st., Auburndale, Mass., and three sisters, Mrs. Dana K. Getchell of 660 Mayflower rd., Claremont, California; Miss Mary W. Riggs of 601 Mayflower rd., Claremont, California, and Mrs. George C. Barnard of 2365 Euclid st., Denver, Colorado.

MRS. HILDA BROCKMAN

Mrs. Hilda (Applequist) Brockman of 286 Derby st., West Newton died on Thursday, August 12, Born in Sweden on March 1, 1861, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Applequist, she came from Sweden to Framingham sixty years ago and had lived in Newton during the past eight years.

She is survived by two sons, Henry Brockman, of Framingham and Fred Brockman of New Haven, Conn.; three daughters, Mrs. Florence Gunning of Stratford, Conn., Mrs. Elsie Eldridge of Chatham and Mrs. Anna Eaton of West Newton, with whom she made her home; 15 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Rev. Norman R. Olsen, pastor of the Beth Eden Baptist Church, Waltham, officiated at the funeral service on Saturday, August 14 at the William R. Miller Chapel in Waltham. Burial was in Dell Park Cemetery, Natick.

Her full-length veil was caught to a cap of duchesse lace from her mother's wedding gown, and she carried gardenias. Miss Dorothy Lindeman, of New York, was the maid of honor. She was gowned in pastel green marquisette with a matching head-dress and she carried a sheaf of shaded gladioli and gypsophylla. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Bishop of New York, Miss Nancy Hegeman of Providence, Miss Ruth Pass of Syracuse, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Edward Simpson of Georgia, a cousin of the bride. The bridesmaids wore two-tone pink gowns with matching head-dresses, fashioned similar to that of Miss Lindeman's, and carried gladioli.

Mr. Besse was the best man for his son in the absence of the groom's brother, Ensign Richard W. Besse, who is overseas. The ushers were Alden Besse, brother of the groom, Lt. Julien V. Weston of San Antonio, Texas, brother of the bride, Carvel Collins, and Leonard Weiss both of Cambridge.

Mrs. Besse graduated in 1939 from Dana Hall and from Wheaton College this year. Mr. Besse prepared for college at Avon, Ct., and graduated in 1942 from Harvard. He is engaged in naval research work with the Harvard under-water sound laboratory. Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Besse will live in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Kiwanis Activities

The guest speaker at the regular Tuesday meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was Wallace G. Strathern, Director of Sales Training, New England Coke Company, who spoke on the subject "Standing Still or Going Ahead."

Mr. Strathern prefaced his remarks with the quotation "What you do when you don't have to, determines what you will be when you can't help it," and went on to elaborate this theme by stating that every man is a salesman.

He is either interested in selling the public services or goods, or selling his boss the idea that he should keep him, or perhaps even selling his wife the idea that he is still the man for her.

He reminded his audience that even in this sellers' market, there was still room for good salesmanship, and gave it as his opinion that people resented being told "Don't you know there is a War on" or "You're lucky to be able to get even this."

He feels that when the War is over, people are going to remember who made these remarks and govern themselves accordingly.

He went on to say that there is no rationing or priority on courtesy, and that the three requisites for selling are first, technical knowledge and information, second, hard work, and third, selling personality.

His first advice to any sales person is that they should take a Public Speaking course, so that they can learn to talk intelligently to their customers.

Since enthusiasm is a product of one's thinking, he could see no reason why any one should have a defeatist's attitude.

In conclusion he stated that one should attempt to measure people by their own yard stick, and not by ours.

MYERS—CLARK

The Payson Park Church in Belmont was the setting for the marriage on Monday, Aug. 9, of Miss Roberta Antonia Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carlton Clark of Belmont, and Lt. Robert Allen Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Myers of 63 Orchard ave., West Newton. The eight o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard H. Bennett and a reception followed at the Oakley Country Club.

With her gown of white satin, the bride wore a full-length tulle veil from a lace coronet and she carried white roses, stephanotis and gladioli. Her maid of honor, Miss Ella Jane Davies, of Lynn, wore a gown of pale yellow chiffon and carried white gladioli, blossoms and pale blue delphinium. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ernest C. Clark, Jr.; Miss Marjory Wood, Miss Evelyn De Grosse and Miss Mary Elizabeth Briggs. They wore similar gowns of sky-blue chiffon and carried yellow delphinium and white gladioli. Mrs. Clark wore jade green with a lavender orange corsage while Mrs. Myers wore a gown in pale blue and gold with yellow spray orchids.

John Callahan, of Newton, was the best man and the ushers were Palmer Sargent of Belmont, Richard McGarry of Vermont, Gordon Morrison, USNR, of Wellesley, and Thomas Hayden, USNR, of Newton.

The bride graduated from Colby Junior College and the Katharine Gibbs School. Lt. Myers was graduated in 1942 from Dartmouth. Lt. and Mrs. Myers will live in Wilmington, N. C.

BESSE—WESTON

On Saturday, August 14, in The Old Village Church of Whaling Days at Edgartown, Miss Virginia Whiting Weston became the bride of Arthur Lyman Besse, Jr. The 4:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Wesley Annas and was followed by a reception at the Edgartown Yacht Club. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daniels Weston of 15 Blackstone ter., Newton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyman Besse of Scarsdale, New York, and Vineyard Haven.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with long sleeves, a long circular train and heirloom lace at the neckline. Her full-length veil was caught to a cap of duchesse lace from her mother's wedding gown, and she carried gardenias. Miss Dorothy Lindeman, of New York, was the maid of honor. She was gowned in pastel green marquisette with a matching head-dress and she carried a sheaf of shaded gladioli and gypsophylla. Enrich Social Life Of Spars

Plans to further enrich the social life of the SPARS at SPARship Branch, the U. S. Coast Guard Women's Reserve residence in Brookline, by increasing the recreational, social, and spiritual activities and opportunities have been made by the newly-organized Advisory Committee to SPARS which is under the honorary chairmanship of Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall.

A program consisting of five recommendations and one motion was adopted as the committee met yesterday at the SPARship with Lt. (j.g.) Ruth Reynolds to discuss the principles governing the relationship of the SPARS to the community in which they live, and to inspect the SPARship. The three working members of the committee are Mrs. Carolyn Ely, training director of Filene's; Mrs. Frank R. Breath, president, Guild of the Infant Saviour; and Mrs. Dora Hallberg, women's personnel officer, First National Bank, Boston.

SPARS will go to local churches Sunday mornings with their civilian neighbors if the committee's first recommendation is carried out. This recommendation involves changing the meetings of the Young People's Fellowship of the SPARS from Sunday mornings to Sunday evenings. The committee also hopes to arrange for visits of two or three SPARS at a time to homes of typical civilian neighbors.

Other recommendations include providing the SPAR Glee Club with instructors and coaches from the New England Conservatory of Music, visits by suitable civilian women to SPARS confined at the Marine Hospital at Brighton, and increased recreational opportunities including horseback riding and bowling parties.

Flowers for the social and reception rooms at SPARship Branch will be provided by committee members and their friends according to a motion passed whereby floral contributions will be made from the flower beds of the large circle of acquaintances of the committee members.

The Advisory Committee of three was selected by Mrs. Saltonstall recently in co-operation with Commander W. N. Derby, District Coast Guard Officer, who welcomed the interest of civilians in providing increased homelike touches to the daily routine of SPAR military activity.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST OF NEWTON
391 Walnut St., Newtonville
Services—Sunday, 10:45—
Wednesday, 7:45

"Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." These words from Psalms 147:5 comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, August 22, 1943, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and in all of its branches.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Mind," and included among the Scriptural passages will be: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen" (Romans 11:33, 36).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included in the Lesson-Sermon: "Matter and Mind are opposites. . . Spirit diversifies, classifies, and individualizes all thoughts, which are as eternal as the Mind conceiving them; but the intelligence, existence, and continuity of all individuality remain in God, who is the divinely creative Principle thereof" (pp. 270, 513).

THE CAMBRIDGE SUMMER THEATRE
Glamorous Glenda Farrell will be the guest star next week at Brattle Hall, in The Cambridge Summer Theatre's production of "Brief Moment." S. N. Behrman's fascinating comedy. Featured with Miss Farrell, who will be making her Brattle Hall debut, will be Dean Norton, Louise Valery, Richard Hart, Allan Tower and various others of the resident company at Cambridge.

A word about the charming movie star, Glenda Farrell, star of many pictures. Born in Enid, Oklahoma, the glamorous Brattle Hall has the usual schooling but always accented with the thought that some day she would become an actress, a great one, for early in life the fever and fervor of the stage manifested itself. To gain experience on the professional stage, after the usual triumphs before friendly high school audiences, young Glenda went to Los Angeles, not so much for a movie try-out, as to join one of the stock companies then flourishing on the coast as "farms" for movie talent. She badgered Henry Duffy, proprietor of one of the most famous groups, into giving her a job. First came walk-on, then "bit" parts and finally she began playing ingenue leads—and with considerable success. Feeling that the stage was her medium, she turned her back on Hollywood and came to New York where her first appearance was as replacement for Erin O'Brien-Moore in a play called "Skidding"—the play on which the Andy Hardy movie series was based. Her work in this play won her the lead in "Divided Rooms" and in "Stage Door," the latter a brief appearance this past winter.

The comedy, "Brief Moment" by the ace of American smart comedy writers, S. N. Behrman, will be staged by William Mendreck, while Andrew Mack has designed one of his highly satirical sets. There will be a matinee Saturday.

Washington — Military experts predict that the Luftwaffe will theoretically cease to be an enemy weapon when we are able to destroy 2500 Nazi planes every month. During July over 1800 German planes were shot down. At that rate the cracking point should come soon.

Hitler's air strength is presently stretched to the breaking point on three fronts—Russia, western Europe and the Mediterranean. That he is actually on the defensive on all fronts is proven by the fact that no more offensive aircraft are being produced in Germany. The growing swarms of Allied bombers, which have razed Hamburg and are threatening to spread the same kind of death and destruction over all of Germany, have compelled the Nazis to convert their aircraft factories to the production of fighter (defensive) planes almost exclusively.

In Sicily the Allied Military Government of Occupied Territories (AMGOT) — a project conceived and nursed in Washington and consisting almost entirely of civil and military personnel trained at an army school in Charlottesville, Va., and similar schools in Great Britain—is bringing the island back to its normal life and functions, leaving the Allied armies free to attend to military affairs.

The first order of the AMGOT in Sicily dissolved the Fascist Party, and with it discriminatory laws against persons for race, color and creed. It is obvious that the Allies, while disclaiming any political policy, do not intend to tolerate the support of the ideologies that fostered this war. Next, the AMGOT started to get life moving in its old grooves. Food was brought in to cities where grain was running short. (And, incidentally, our invasion was cleverly gauged to get the grain harvest at exactly the right time.)

To this and other Allied plans, including the release of political prisoners and administration of local government through local officials, the people of Sicily are responding with happy grins and full cooperation.

Former isolationists, bunched and native fascists, convinced that Germany must soon fold up, have turned Nazi apologists. In articles to the press, speeches and lectures to milk-toast congrega-

This WEEK, This WORLD

by Ted Friend

THE POLITICAL DEMISE of Mussolini has shaken totalitarianism to its very roots but nowhere more severely than in Spain, where the Falange, which is fascism with a Spanish accent, has been scared out of its wits.

The comparative ease with which Italian fascism was scuttled and the delight of the Italian people at its end, is also the handwriting on the wall for Franco and his cohorts. Mussolini was Franco's banker—politically, socially and economically—and the bankruptcy of Mussolini assures the not distant liquidation of Franco.

There is also a military reason for Spain's hysteria. The United Nations' conquest of Africa not only outflanks and cuts Spain off from German and Italian aid, it all but drops Spanish Morocco into the lap of the Anglo-American military forces.

Franco's retreat from fascism will probably take a monarchist form if for no other reason than that there is nothing else for it to do. But after the monarchy will come revolt, and after revolt will come the Spanish peoples settling of accounts with Franco and his gang of army officers.

Mussolini's end has also shown its effects in Sweden which, though under duress, has played the invasion of Norway. The stiffening of Sweden's attitude toward Germany may be directly traced to Mussolini's downfall. The Swedish turnaround is convincing evidence that Germany, having reached and passed the maximum of its military power, can march in no new directions.

The Newton Branch of the Red Cross had practically completed the more than 2100 garments called for in the July quota. It has been found that the workrooms have made 9570 buttonholes in a single month. A large number of Refugee Garments are to be made for some time to come. This is a part of the Red Cross effort towards the winning of the war.

The first training camp for soldiers, which has been held at the Newton High School for the past 8 weeks broke up on Monday, the 28th men who have been here leaving for camps in the South. Yesterday a new quota of 298 drafted men, most of whom came from Connecticut, arrived for a training period of 8 weeks.

Italy, which in both the two World Wars has played fast and loose with its allies and enemies alike, has no place among the front-ranking powers. It has no real national strength nor character—and its most recent double-dealing is proof of it.

There will be little need to worry about effectively impressing the Germans with the enormity of their defeat if the Russians, rather than the British and Americans, arrive in Berlin first.

When the Germans set out in their conquest of Russia they acted as if victory was a foregone conclusion. Behaving like vandals they raped, burned and murdered. Civilians, prisoners, women and children were subjected to inhumanities and indecencies which the Russians will remember for years. Communities were leveled to the ground, forests destroyed, territories plundered. Treating the Russians as an inferior race, the Germans dug their heels into the faces of the helpless workers and peasants.

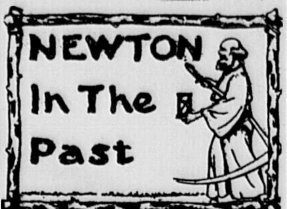

The defeat of the Germans at Leningrad, Stalingrad and Moscow has had a sobering effect on the so-called master race. Mass executions of civilians are slowing up. Not quite so many hangings of hostages are being perpetrated. Retribution is in the air.

The Nazis are turning yellow before the prospect of having to pay for some of the crimes which they committed in the full flush of their first onward rush.

Berlin knows what is in store for it if the Russians ever get to it. It is, if there is a Berlin still standing after the British and American air forces get through with it the coming winter season.

TIP-OFF: Make the best use you can of your present supply of automobile tires. Unless your work is essential to the winning

POLITICS

Pressure Groups

I realize, of course, that it is one thing to object to a certain situation and another thing to remedy it. Theoretically, almost everybody is, presumably, opposed to pressure groups or blocs. It makes no difference whether it is a farm bloc, a labor bloc or a business bloc. Unfortunately for us all, a situation has developed in this country which has resulted in a vast amount of power being wielded by a number of special interests, to the detriment of the country as a whole.

What I have in mind at the moment is a very frank talk on the radio a day or two ago by one of the better-known commentators, who is not afraid to speak his little piece. He referred to a recent speech by Roane Waring, the rather talkative National Commander of the American Legion, who frequently "sounds off" on a wide variety of subjects and announces just what the Legion proposes to do about all our complex problems. The radio commentator was analyzing the recent Waring speech and was trying to figure out if the latter was a perfectly sound "America First" plea or whether he was an isolationist with a small I. The point was that Waring had made it quite clear that the Legion did not propose to let the United States become part of a world-wide police force after the war is over. He didn't propose to allow any group of foreign governments to dictate to us when and where our soldiers and sailors were to be sent to fight and die. He took the stand that the American people as a whole should make the decision as to just what commitments we will make in the post-war period. The radio speaker then said that that sounded all right to him; however, he went a step further and suggested, gently but firmly, that ALL the American people and NOT just the group which Mr. Waring represented should make these vital decisions.

What intrigued me about this radio talk was not so much the fact that the radio expert differed from Mr. Waring as the fact that he had the intestinal fortitude to slap him down. I happen to be one of the original members of the local post of the Legion and I have consistently striven to help it grow and to avoid the pitfalls which have hurt so many posts throughout the country. It has always seemed to me that one of the most popular complaints about the Legion has been that it tried to cover too much territory in comparison with its record of purely civic accomplishment. There are, of course, many exceptions to this situation. In Newton, for example, our post has admittedly done a very great deal for the city as a whole and for the veterans, especially during the past decade or so. However, you do not hear our Newton legionnaires "sound off" in either state or national politics. When OUR veterans speak (and remember that Leverett Saltonstall, Sinclair Weeks, C. Raymond Cabot and Henry D. Cormier are all Legionnaires of high repute) they speak as Governor, business man and party leader, not as state or national sponsored war veterans. They don't assume to speak for a million or two other people. Do I make myself clear?

State Politics

Throughout the hot summer there has been considerable speculation as to the future plans of Senator President Jarvis Hunt of Attleboro and Speaker Rudolph F. King of Millis. Many people have assumed that these two G. O. P. leaders would, of course, collide head-on in a race for the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. It seemed to be a reasonable assumption on the part of many people, but worried. The Republican party, as a party, does not enjoy much, if any, lead in state-wide politics. It could scarcely afford the luxury of a bitter state-wide contest between two ambitious party stalwarts. How solve this problem? Obviously, the idea would be to let one of the two men take a shot at second place on the state ticket and interest the other man in some other political office. According to one of our local experts, the problem is, according to Dave Rumor, has been interested in the idea of going to Congress some day. Now, if the G. O. P. makes a clean-up in 1944 and Congressman Joe Mart of Attleboro becomes Speaker of the National House, he may possibly serve in that term and then receive a very important appointment. In that event, there would be a Congressional vacancy in Attleboro and the Hon. Jarvis Hunt would be in a perfect position. Of course, this may be a weather vane, but it seems very plausible.

Local Politics

I can state on the highest authority that Mayor Paul M. Goddard will, shortly after Labor Day make a decision regarding his future plans in the political arena. If I chanced to be a betting man, I would give odds of ten to one that His Honor will be persuaded to serve another term. (That was a grand picture of him at the Block party in Newton Highlands. Apparently a Mayor does have a LITTLE fun.)

In Armed Forces

Pvt. Edward S. Culver of Waban, has arrived at the finance replacement training center, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., recently to begin basic training in finance. He is the husband of Mrs. Frances Culver, 51 Wyman St., Waban, and prior to his induction June 24 he was a senior accountant for Robert Douglas and Co., of Boston.

Richard H. Warren, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius E. Warren, 115 Claremont st., Newton, is a member of the first basic pre-meteorology class to study at Haverford College in Pa., under the Army Air Forces Training Command program to train weather officers for Army Air Forces combat units.

On completion of the 12-month course at Haverford, Warren will be eligible to attend one of the five universities conducting advanced meteorology courses under AAF Training Command supervision.

A graduate of Newton high school, Warren was attending Haverford College as a student when he entered the Army. He enlisted in the reserve corps October 22, 1942.

Francis J. Burke, son of Lieut. and Mrs. Edward J. Burke of 85 Waltham St., West Newton, graduated from the Army Administration School, Enlisted Branch No. 6, at Huntsville, Texas upon successful completion of an eight weeks course covering all phases of Army Administration. He was a member of the seventh class of 300 men to attend the school and his course began on June 17. The graduation took place on Aug. 11.

Edmund W. Goode, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Goode of Auburndale, has recently been promoted from Corporal to the grade of Sergeant according to an announcement by the authorities at the Army Air Forces Proving Ground Command at Elgin Field, Florida. Sergeant Goode has been in the Army since September, 1942.

Pfc. David W. Emerson, son of Mrs. F. B. Emerson of 168 Warren st., Newton Centre, has recently been promoted to Corporal. Corporal Emerson was born in Newtonville, attended the Newton schools and upon his graduation enlisted in the Army. He received his basic training at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, and is now stationed in the Pacific area.

Announcement has been made of the promotion of Donald Jerome Quigley, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Quigley of 963 Centre st., Newton Centre, from first lieutenant to captain in the Army Air Forces.

Capt. Quigley, an aerial navigator at Stout Field, Indianapolis, Ind., was graduated from Sacred Heart High School in Newton Centre and in 1940 from Holy Cross College. He enlisted in the Air Forces in September, 1940, and after preliminary training was sent to Hawaii. He was sent back to the States two months before the Pearl Harbor attack for flight training.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant on July 4, 1942, and was promoted to first lieutenant in October, 1942.

Richard W. Grimm of 579 Centre st., Newton, was commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps at Quantico, Va., on Thursday.

Enrolled in the preflight school at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, Texas, with the latest class were 129 cadets from Massachusetts, who are now undergoing a rigorous course designed to fit them for the controls of America's war planes.

After successful completion of the studies, they will be sent on for more training in flying schools and finally will be awarded the silver wings of a pilot in the air forces of this country.

Included in the class were two from West Newton, William S. Caruso, 25 Mague Ave., Richard T. Curley, 274 Derby st., and Robert L. Day, 170 Sargent st., Newton.

Seven youths from Newton, and vicinity have reported to the Army Air Forces Pre-Flight School for Pilots at Maxwell Field, Ala., to begin the third phase of their training as pilots in the U. S. Army Air Forces' expanding program.

These aviation cadets are receiving nine weeks of intensive physical, military and academic instruction at Maxwell Field, preparatory to beginning their actual flight training at one of the many primary flying schools located in the Army Air Forces Southeast Training Center.

These men are Aviation Cadets: Perry M. Hudson, 45 Ashton ave., Aaron M. Jones, Jr., 8 Birch Hill rd.; John H. Knight, 20 Meadowbrook rd.; Charles S. McNamara, 2117 Commonwealth ave.; Norman F. Pheneey, 20 Lombard st., and William R. Stokes, 55 Green st. Robert B. McCutcheon, 518 Chestnut st.

Mrs. C. H. Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Horsman, 344 Centre st., Newton, was included in three platoons of Greater Boston girls who left Boston Thursday for training as WAVES at Hunter College.

Mrs. Pearson's husband, Pvt. Allen M. Pearson, was inducted into the Army two months ago, and is now serving with a medical unit in Charleston, S. C. Prior to entering the service, the Pearsons lived in Boston.

Little Tots Steal Field Day Show

A group of children, aged three to five years, stole the show at the annual field day of the Horace Mann Playground, in Newtonville.

The program included a large variety of games, dances, handwork exhibitions and a costume parade. Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson gave prizes to the winners of the contests. District supervisor, Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, was in charge of the program and Miss Annie F. Geoghegan was the judge. Others assisting were district supervisors John F. Donahue and John B. Dacey; Miss Catherine E. Harney, Miss Rosemary Hughes, Miss Julia Farrington and Miss Betty Bernt, instructors; Mrs. Margaret Hills and Miss Georgianna Curtin, dancing supervisors; and Miss Gladys Forbush, sewing supervisor.

John Barton was awarded the boys' "most creative" handwork prize for his lamp, and Shirley Callebaut won the girls' prize for a flower pot container. Paul Kelly won the woodwork prize and Carol MacDonald was second. The sewing awards were made as follows: Mary Ann Whalen, first; John Barton, second; and Mary Jane Barry, third.

Dancing Groups
The "little tots" presented two dances, "On the Bridge of Avignon" and "I Had a Little Sail Boat." The older girls' dance was entitled "Ace of Diamonds." The tots in the dance were Mary Jane Barry, Patsy Dobbins, Helen Benson, Connie Waters, Patricia Durand, Carolyn Mullen, Betty Murphy, Jackie Desautel and Jerry Desautel. Older girl dancers were Bridie Baldwin, Jean Spencer, Julie Spencer, Carol MacDonald, Ann Dobbins, Mary Ann Whalen, Frances Carroll and Peggy Ann Paden.

Prize winners were as follows: Costume parade—Won by Connie Waters as a clown; Jean Spencer, "pirate," second; Jack Barton, "Uncle Sam's nephew," third; Paula and Marilyn Murphy, "mother and daughter," fourth and fifth.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS GARDEN CLUB
The members of the Newton Upper Falls Garden Club, held an all day outing at Riverside Recreation Grounds on Monday, August 16.

Lunch was enjoyed in the form of a cookout around the three fireplaces on the grounds. Games followed with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Geo. Braceland, Miss Florence Osborne, Mrs. Antonio Valente, Mrs. Austin W. Flint, Madam Lazonga, fortune teller, added to the enjoyment of the afternoon with her mysterious predictions of the future.

The next meeting of the Club will be observed by a progress supper and garden tour on September 2, members meeting at Aiken's Block, at 5:30 p. m. and proceeding to Mrs. H. T. Sprague's for fruit cup followed by supper at the home of Mrs. Raymond Capobianco of Thurston rd.

Camp Frank A. Day

Monday evening, August 9, Joe Lorraine was the featured entertainer at Camp Frank A. Day. He gave a two-hour performance that all the campers assembled in the mess hall greatly enjoyed. Joe Lorraine in his tour of Y. M. C. A. camps in the summer makes an annual visit to Camp Day. By popular acclaim he was invited back for another year.

On Monday evening the Camp Day baseball team played a twilight game with the Brookfield town team at Brookfield. Roberts did the pitching for the camp team, and Seaward, the receiving. The score was close, 8 to 5 in favor of Camp Day. In addition to pitching Roberts turned in the best hit of the evening, a long double to left field. Brookfield wants a return game before the camping season is over.

Last week model airplane construction was on the upswing, and it is still going strong. The past week showed a decided increase in tennis competition and in boxing. The campers are so occupied that it is difficult to get a chance to play, the waiting line is so long. Instead of the two courts now in use at camp, right at present we could use four or five additional ones. Boxing also seems to have got on. Black has been in charge of that sport. On Tuesday evening of last week a regulation ring was constructed in the mess hall with all the paraphernalia of the boxing ring apparent, pail, towel, sponge, gong, etc. Five classes were arranged in a special "Golden Gloves" boxing tournament. Two flood lights played down upon the participants, and the setting was very realistic. The outer sections of the assembly hall were in complete darkness with all eyes glued on the ring under the bright flood lights shining down from above. Smithy was the referee, Keith the chief time keeper to ring the gong. Thompson and Evans with towels over their shoulders were the seconds; Blackie, the liner-up of the boxers; and Mr. Riley, the chief tournament official.

The moves shown this week because of the poor weather conditions for any outside activity were advanced from Thursday to Wednesday. Word quickly spread around camp and the residents on the shores of Quacumquasset of the change of date, and the usual large audience showed up for the showing of Charles Laughton in "Ruggles of Red Gap." It was a long pit to bed until late, but they did not seem to object.

Thursday proved to be another rainy day at camp to test the ingenuity of the Program Director. So, instead of the outdoor program planned, a change to indoors had to be made. An "Information Please" program similar to the "Professor Quiz" of last week proved to be a huge success.

Friday evening was given over to sports. The Counselor II baseball team defeated the Worker-Ranger combination 7-2. Batteries for the Rangers, D. Keith and Gleason; for the Counselor I team, R. Eley and R. Keith.

Saturday evening Mr. Marotto after a lay-off of two weeks staged the customary Saturday Nighter. The counselors really came thru in grand fashion and saved the show with the singing of their old favorite "The Desperado from the wild and woolly west." The campers called for more and more, but the counselors exhausted their repertoire with "Camptown Races" their one and only encore.

On August 14 the final Camp Day track meet was run off, with individual competition for ribbons being used instead of the usual league team competition.

The midget camp meet was held in the morning while the junior and senior meets were held in the afternoon. In the midget meet David Bonnar came through with flying colors to take two blue ribbons and one red. He topped the fifty-yard dash by five yards and took the 220 yard dash with a ten yard lead. He won his red ribbon in the running broad jump leaping ten feet, five inches.

In the senior camp Dick Gleason, Ted and Fred Connors won six ribbons among them. Ted Connors won the fifty-yard dash, took a third in the 220-yard race, and ran on the winning relay team. Dick Gleason, high scorer, won the 440 yard run and the running broad jump. He placed second in the 220 yard dash also. Fred Connors won the 220 yard dash to keep the honors in the family.

In the junior camp meet Jack Terandi ran wild, winning four blue ribbons. He won the fifty yard dash, the 220 yard dash, the 880 yard run, and also ran on the winning relay team.

The meet was received enthusiastically by the boys as most every boy in camp entered in one or more event, and of these fifty-seven will receive ribbons at the final banquet on August 31, the final evening of camp.

Next week watch for the election news. The political fever is running high among the Whigs, Tories, and the White Caps of Quacumquasset, all advancing candidates for office on Campers' Day when the campers take over the running of the camp.

Two women and a man were removed to the Newton Hospital Monday afternoon after the auto in which they were riding collided with a truck at Watertown and Walnut sts., Newtonville.

The car, operated by John S. Sanchez, of Fall River, was proceeding on Walnut st. and had entered the intersection of Watertown st. when the collision occurred. The truck, driven on Watertown st., was operated by James H. Kenyon of New Jersey.

Occupants of the car who were injured were Mrs. Emily Sanchez, Anthony Souza and Mary B. Souza.

Rotary Club

Our genial past president, "Mat" Ruane, presided at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club, last Monday.

The speaker of the day, Mr. Edson C. Lockwood, was introduced by Arthur G. Robinson, superintendent of the Walker Missionary home in Auburndale, Mass. Mr. Edson C. Lockwood, until recently, was instructor of mathematics at the American College in Madras, India, and at Jaffna College, Ceylon, India. Having lived and worked among the people of India he presented a most enlightening talk on the problem that confronts not only Great Britain but also the United Nations as a whole. What makes the problem so complex, according to Mr. Lockwood, is the fact that among India's 389,000,000 people situated in an area about one-half the size of the United States, the questions of caste, religion and languages are always a puzzle. Brahmins are the upper caste with several lesser and ending with about 90,000,000 outcasts. Mingled with the caste problem they also have 222 different languages and the constant friction between the two leading religions, namely the 270,000,000 Hindus and the 90,000,000 Mohammedans. The Hindus are classed by Mr. Lockwood as peaceful and not much for outward demonstration while the Mohammedans are more of a scrappy lot and seem always willing to "mix it up" so to speak. Among the Hindus are found the well educated, people engaged as professors, doctors, etc., while the Mohammedans are mostly the merchants and trading class. Mr. Lockwood said that the reason for the failure of the Cripps Mission to India, was more due to the timing of his visit, which was just after the fall of Singapore. This caused the English stock to drop greatly and the people of India felt that the Cripps offer was like a falling concern offering a check that did not have the funds to back it up. Lately this feeling has improved with the many allied victories. Had the Cripps offer been presented at this time, Mr. Lockwood feels it would have been accepted. While Great Britain is willing to give India its freedom or the status of a Dominion, there is still much to be overcome in the forming of a national Constitution which will guarantee the rights of the minority. While the battle of Bataan was at its height the people of India would compare the American method of winning over a people so that they willingly fight as the Philippines did side by side with the Americans. Britain apparently is not giving India the chance to govern themselves as fast as they would like and this with the long list of set backs earlier in the war made India impatient and angry that she might lose out if she did not get her independence now. We Americans can be thankful we do not have this problem directly in our hands even though as an allied nation we are deeply interested and hope for a settlement of mutual benefit to all.

The visiting Rotarians were: J. W. A'Hearn, Watertown Club; Chas. Dacey, Boston Club; John Peterson, Needham Club; Harry Brown, Needham Club. Theodore Lockwood, Newton Alderman and Chairman of its Finance Committee, was guest of our Roy Edwards.

The speaker next week is being supplied by Jim Melcher. He is Rev. F. Havis Davis, minister of the Union Baptist Church, Cambridge. His subject will be "Better Race Relations." Rev. Davis will be introduced by Rev. Lewis E. Ford, minister of the Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton.

MARY AGNES SMITH
Miss Mary Agnes Smith passed away on Friday, August 13, at her home, 31 Wetherell st., Newton Upper Falls, following a long illness.

Miss Smith's survivors by three sisters the Misses Helen and Rose, of Wetherell st., Mrs. John Simpson of Rockland place, Newton Upper Falls, and a brother, Rev. Bernard J. Smith of St. John's Church, Cambridge. Funeral services were held from her late home at 31 Wetherell st., on Monday, August 16, at 9:00 a. m. followed by a solemn high mass of requiem at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls, at 10:00 a. m.

Rev. Bernard J. Smith of St. John's Church, Cambridge, brother, celebrated the mass assisted by Rev. Frederick Driscoll of Cambridge, as deacon, and Rev. Frank Desmond of St. John's Cambridge as sub deacon. Rev. Thomas Dwyer of the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church was master of ceremonies with twenty-five priests representing the clergy.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham Heights. Rev. Hugh Blunt, pastor of St. John's Church, Cambridge, offering committal prayers.

An elderly man suffered fractured ribs Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile on Watertown st., near Adams st., Newton.

Nicola Gregorian, 82, of 403 Watertown st., Newton, was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolmen Mascia and McManus.

The operator of the car, Arthur H. Roberts, of 117 Edinboro rd., Newtonville, reported to the police that he did not see the man in time to avert the accident.

Can Use Many More Nurse's Aides In Newton

"Patriotic women of Newton," says Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., chairman of Nurse's Aides for the Newton Red Cross, "this is a message to you. The Newton Chapter has just capped a class of Nurse's Aides composed of college girls and teachers who have added to the total of over 200 Aides trained and certified at the Newton Hospital. But this is not nearly enough. The Army and Navy call to the colors has greatly depleted the nursing staffs of the hospitals, and we have been called upon to supply Aides to the Newton Hospital, the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, the Wellesley Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital and the Newton District Nursing Association. We are also planning to send our Nurse's Aides to the new Federal Hospital under construction in Framingham, where they will have an opportunity to serve the returning wounded service men. To carry out this program, we need many more volunteers who are willing and ready to assist the nursing staffs of these hospitals."

A new day class will be started around the middle of September. Any woman between the ages of 18 and 50, having a high school education or its equivalent, a citizen of the United States, willing to volunteer her services and receive no remuneration, and who can pass the required physical examination, may become a Red Cross Nurse's Aide, and render an outstanding service to her community and country.

Mrs. Moore will interview applicants for the September day class on Tuesday, August 31, Wednesday September 1, and Thursday, September 2, from 10 to 12 in the morning, at the Chapter House, 21 Foster st., Newtonville.

Members of the class recently capped included Miss Barbara Barry, Miss Alice Bisbee, Mrs. James Cawley, Miss Theresa N. Caruso, Mrs. Burton Chadwick, Miss Virginia W. Graham, Miss Paula M. Johnston, Miss Alice L. Johnston, Miss Natalie McKenzie, Mrs. Kenneth Nugent, Miss Mary J. O'Connell, Miss Barbara Peabody, Miss Joanne Reiman, Miss Lenore Shea, and Mrs. Helen Terkelsen.

To Hold Event At Crystal Lake

The first Annual Greater Boston Swimming and Diving Championships sponsored by Community Recreation Service of Boston, Inc., will be held this year in the beautiful setting of Crystal Lake, Newton, Mass., on Saturday, August 28th, at 3 p. m.

Some of the finest swimmers and divers in the New England area will be entered in the meet, and competition is expected to be keen.

In addition to the aquatic stars,

Curb the Weeds with a Fall Feeding of MILORGANITE

You will have fewer weeds next year if you "Milorganize" your lawn this fall. Most weeds grow in spring and reach maturity before late summer.

Grass on fall-fed "Milorganized" lawns stays green all fall. Many new shoots develop, so turf becomes thicker and denser. There will be fewer weeds next year because such grass resists reinfestation.

Let us prescribe and furnish the correct amount of Milorganite for your lawn. Take advantage of favorable growing weather all fall... so don't delay; call or see us today.

Milorganite is available in 100, 50, and 25-pound sift-proof bags.

Want Many To Aid In Service Work

One of Greater Boston's organizations, where service men find fun and food and a fine place to sleep, has issued an urgent call for both men and women volunteers to aid in its work for the armed forces. The jobs in which help from volunteers is needed are many and varied. They include serving at the reception desk where both men and women are wanted throughout the day and evening to welcome service men and answer their questions. Another need is for women volunteers to take telephone calls, chat with the men, and give out guides. Additional needs are for men to take charge of the check room, to instruct in boxing, wrestling and weight lifting, and to assist the staff in various ways at the evening dances held outdoors.

Women who respond should be at least 25 years of age, the organization states. In most of the jobs to be done there is a choice of afternoon or evening service, and although it is desired that volunteers offer two periods of four hours regularly each week, some will be accepted for one such period per week. Those ready to assist our service men in this way should apply at Volunteer Office of the Boston Committee on Public Safety, CAPitol 3939.

Water Here Is Rated Very High

Announcement has been made by the Newton Board of Health that bacteriological examinations of the Newton water supply made in the laboratory of the Water Department show the sanitary quality of the water to be exceptionally high.

Examinations made in the laboratory of the State Department of Public Health show that the Newton water supply more than meets the requirements of the standards of the United States Public Health Service.

Equipment Is Stolen From H. S.

A report was made to the Newton police on Thursday that the athletic office in the Administration building of the Newton High School had been broken into during the night and athletic equipment stolen.

The glass in the office door had been broken and the door then unlocked from the inside. Cabinets and lockers containing athletic equipment were ransacked.

FLORA PACKARD SHUTE

Mrs. Flora Packard Shute of 28 Bowdoin st., Newton Highlands, widow of the late Frank Asbury Shute, died on Tuesday, Aug. 17, Mrs. Shute was 67 years of age and had been a resident of Newton for 30 years.

She was a graduate of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., was a charter member of Lydia Partidge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., of which she was chaplain, ex-regent and a member of the board for many years. She had been active in local Red Cross work during World War I and the present war, and was also active in affairs of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands.

She is survived by two sons, Frank Asbury Shute, 3rd, of Orange, Conn.; Henry Arthur Shute, USNR, Miami, Fla., and a daughter, Dorothy Shute Rochester of Needham; also by three grandchildren Sandra Mary Shute, Richard Rochester and Eleanor Rochester.

Funeral services were held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, on Sunday, Aug. 22, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Charles O. Farrar, who has been the family minister for the past 20 years, officiated. Interment was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

Drive On To Clear Up Business Yards

Chief Inspector Alexander A. Robinson of the Newton Health Department announced that the drive being made by the department to improve sanitary conditions in yards in the rear of business blocks has to a marked degree proved effective but there still remains much to be done.

Meetings have been held with owners and managers of stores in several sections of the city in an attempt to work out a solution to this problem. Present at these meetings, in addition to members of the Health Department, were representatives of the Street Department who have charge of the collection of dry refuse.

Inspector Robinson reported that out of a total of 2935 inspections made during the past year, 2235 were of store yards. Other inspections made were as follows: Cesspools 31, dumps 107, poultry yards 319, tenement houses 48, undertaking establishments 19, other routine 176.

Named Member Of Board Of Appeals

Lucius E. Thayer of 27 Estabrook rd., West Newton, has been appointed by Mayor Paul M. Goddard as a member of the Board of Appeals to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Roger B. Tyler who has moved out of town. Mr. Thayer, who has been serving as an associate member of the Board of Appeal will complete the term of Mr. Tyler which expires December 31, 1944. His appointment to regular membership will come before the Board of Aldermen for confirmation at their next meeting on September 13.

DUNCAN—GOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan have just returned from Florida Park, Long Island. They attended the marriage of their son, Robert J. Duncan, to Miss Ann Marie Good, of the marriage took place at the Church of Our Lady of Victory and the nuptial mass was celebrated by the Honorable Father Irwin, pastor. Miss Good wore ivory duchess satin with finger tip veil. The maid of honor wore robin egg blue and Miss Good was attended by a nine-year-old relative who wore jonquil yellow with blue larkspur. Mrs. Good was given away by her father, Mr. Lawrence Good.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan will make their home in Forest Hills, Long Island. Mr. Duncan is employed in defense work in New York.

Organize Coast Guard Flotilla

A Flotilla of the U. S. Coast Guard, Temporary Reserve, is being organized in Newton by Winfield C. Anderson, 57 Elmhurst rd., Newton.

The United States Coast Guard, in addition to its many other important responsibilities is charged with the duty of guarding many of the docks, terminals and other maritime facilities of the Nation.

In order to release the regular coast guardsmen for combat and sea duty, the U. S. Coast Guard is enrolling Temporary Reservists to guard our docks, terminals and other maritime facilities against sabotage and negligence. These volunteers serve twelve hours a week, without pay.

They are given a course of instruction and training before being accepted. They are then furnished with uniforms and put to work.

Members are enlisted in the Temporary Reserve of the Coast Guard and are not exempt from the provisions of the draft. Men with the draft status of 1A are not eligible to join.

Hours of duty are arranged to suit the availability of the member. The minimum of duty is three watches: 12 a. m. to 8 a. m.—8 a. m. to 4 p. m.—4 p. m. to 12 p. m. Men must report one hour before their watch begins.

Applicants for membership must be between the ages of 18 and 60, and of normal health. Those interested in further information regarding registration should contact Winfield C. Anderson, 57 Elmhurst rd., Newton, or call Lasell 3528.

Fine Season At Crystal Lake

As the swimming season nears the end, Miss Clara McCarthy, Director of Water Safety and Life Saving at Crystal Lake, reports a very successful summer of water sport activities. Since June, instruction has been given to 55 Beginners, 47 Intermediates, 11 Swimmers and Advanced Swimmers, 16 Junior Life Savers, and 1 Senior Life Saver.

Miss McCarthy, who has been connected with water instruction in Newton for the past eleven years, was assisted by Miss Barbara MacDonald, a graduate of the Bouve School, who helped in teaching swimming to the girls. Six life guards have been assigned to Crystal Lake on the swimming pools and in all, everything has been done to make this a safe, pleasant sport for Newton children.

Those who passed swimming tests at Crystal Lake within the past week were Brooks Parker, Thomas O'Leary, Howard Downing, Michael Malkasian and Barbara Peck in the Beginners group; James Alvord and Roger Howlett in the Intermediate group and James Doyle in the Swimmers class.

Miss McCarthy also gave tests at the Auburndale Playground last week and passed Francis Downes, Robert Curley, Leonard Hayes, June Devlin, Jerome LeVert, Beverly Hayes, Philip Goulding and Richard LeVert as Beginners, and Donald Thompson, Jerome LeVert, Philip Goulding, Richard LeVert and Jean Hayes as Intermediates.

Honor Roll To Have More Wings

The honor roll, which was recently dedicated on the grounds of the Newton City Hall, is to have two wings added to provide additional space for names of men and women serving in the armed forces.

It has been estimated by Edmund T. Duncan, soldiers' relief commissioner, who is in charge of compiling records for the honor roll, that 5400 names have already been placed on the present honor roll, which has a capacity of 6000 names. About 600 new names have been received to be added.

The new wings will each have a capacity of 1000 names. Commissioner Duncan has issued an appeal for residents of the city to report the names of members of their families who are serving in the women's branches of the service.

Buses To Follow Street Car Route

The State Department of Public Utilities has notified the City of Newton that the War Emergency Certificates issued to the Boston Elevated Railway for the operation of a bus line from Roxbury to the Raytheon Corporation on Chapel st., Newton, has been amended so that the buses will now follow the route of the Boston Elevated street cars along Tremont and Park sts. to Newton Corner and thence to the Watertown line.

The application for the bus line originally applied for called for the route of the bus line to be over Washington st., Brighton Hill, from the Brighton line. The Newton Board of Aldermen objected to the proposed route over Washington st. and asked that the route be changed to the route of the street cars.

The State Department also notified the city that the application of Peter Pickenly, doing business as the Peter Pan Bus Line, for a special license and War Emergency Certificate to carry passengers for hire over a proposed route which would pass through Newton over the Worcester Turnpike, had been denied.

Bathing Beach Is Re-Opened

The bathing beach at the Newton Upper Falls playground, which had been closed because of evidence of pollution in the water, has been reopened following an announcement by Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of Public Health, to Playground Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson that the latest tests of samples of the water had proved favorable.

Allison Beach in Nonantum must still remain closed as the latest tests show no improvement in the condition of the water at that location. The beach, which has been closed for several years, was reopened for a time this year when the tests showed improvement, but tests made this month have again made it necessary to close this beach.

Heads Boston District In Drive

Frank A. East, secretary-commissioner of the Massachusetts State Board of Registration in Pharmacy and immediate past-president of the Massachusetts State Pharmacy Association, will again serve as Chairman of the Boston Districts in the Greater Boston Annual Maintenance Appeal of The Salvation Army. This was announced by John E. Wilson, General Chairman of the campaign committee.

Mr. East is past-president of the Boston Druggist Association which is one of the oldest luncheon clubs in the United States, and is past lieutenant governor of Kwanians in District No. 5, including Greater Boston and adjacent cities. The head of this important section of The Salvation Army campaign work now being organized was the first president of the Rosindale and West Roxbury Kiwanis Club and has set up a perfect record of attendance during the past nine years.

The Easts live at 108 Tyndale st., Rosindale. The son, Frank, Jr., is a medical student at Boston University, while the daughter, Marion, is following in the footsteps of her father. She will graduate in the 1943 Class of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

Have Discontinued Co-up Course

City Engineer Ernest H. Harvey has been notified by officials of Northeastern University that the agreement whereby students from Northeastern have been employed as rodmen in the Engineering Department of the City of Newton has been cancelled because of the discontinuance of the co-operative course at the university for the duration of the war.

Under this co-operative plan the Engineering Department had employed three students as rodmen over a number of years, the students attending classes and working during alternate periods.

The City Engineering Department is planning a program of public works consisting mostly of street and sewer construction work to be started after the war is over.

Fruit Show To Be Held Next Week

Amateur and professional gardeners are showing increased interest in the vegetable, fruit and flower show to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday by the Newton Highlands Garden Club in the Hyde School.

A twenty-five dollar War Bond is to be the grand prize for the sweepstakes. Saving Stamps will be awarded as lesser prizes, and the usual colored insignia in all classes.

A slight change in the rules has been made. Quarts as well as pints may be exhibited in the canning classes. This is due to the fact that so many have confined their efforts to the larger container. A special department for children's classes are under the chairmanship of Mrs. Allston T. Budgett.

Children's Classes

Arrangement of Flowers for children under 11 years of age. Arrangement of flowers. Ages eleven to sixteen.

Arrangement of flowers representing a story book or music (any age).

Vegetables. My Best. The public will not only view with admiration, but may carry something home from the show. The garden shop will have flowers for sale, also miniature bouquets, flower containers, vegetables, and canned goods, fir pillows, aprons, and many interesting and instructive books.

Light refreshments will be on sale.

Home On Furlough After 13 Months On Foreign Soil

Corp. John J. Murphy, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Murphy of 1316 Centre st., Newton Centre, is at home on a furlough.

Corp. Murphy served overseas for 13 months during which time he took part in five major engagements with the Japs and received internal injuries from a bomb which fatally injured one of his fellow soldiers. He also was stricken with yellow fever and malaria. He returned to the United States in April and was in the Naval Hospital at San Diego for four months. During his convalescence at the hospital he received visits from his cousin, Pfc. William F. McGrath of 1325 Beacon st., Newton Centre, who was stationed at the West Coast after receiving his basic training with the Marines.

Corp. Murphy has been awarded the Purple Heart and has received three citations. In January, 1942, he resigned from his position as an instructor in automobile mechanics at the Newton Trade School, of which he was a graduate, and joined the U. S. Marine Corps. After training at Parris Island and Quantico, Va., he was sent overseas and served in Australia and New Zealand before taking part in the invasion of the Solomon Islands with the first detachment of Marines to land there.

Is Taken Prisoner At Bataan

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fowler of 16 Taft ave., West Newton have received word that their son, Capt. John M. Fowler, who was taken a prisoner when Bataan fell in April 1942, is in good health in a Philippine prison camp.

Capt. Fowler's wife, the former Louise Joy of Amherst who is now in Los Angeles, recently received a card from her husband stating that he was well and uninjured.

Is Found Asleep Under Tree

Morrison I. Swift, 88, of 91 Pleasant st., Newton Centre, who was reported on Thursday of last week as missing from his home, was discovered asleep under a tree in the rear of the Brighton police station Friday afternoon.

The Newton police were notified and the elderly man was taken to his home by a friend. He was unable to recall where he had spent the time since he disappeared Thursday morning but it was evident he had lost his way and wandered to Brighton.

Suggests Five Cents For Short Distance Rides

In an open letter to President Harry Hanson of The Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company Alderman John Temperley has suggested that the company reduce their bus fares to 5 cents for short distance rides and eliminate the double fares which now have to be paid by persons traveling within the city on lines where two transfers are not permitted, such as from Newton Upper Falls to Oak Hill, where two bus changes have to be made and the only transfer is now issued, the patrons having to pay 20 cents in fares.

The letter reads as follows: "Getting the riding public from one spot to another in greatly increased numbers is a job, I surmise, that is making you sit up nights. As one of many patrons of your buses, may I be allowed to make one or two suggestions which possibly you have heard before or your directors are already considering similar ones?"

"Take the matter of fares and transfers, to be specific. Your company has a rule that no 'transfer' is given on a transfer. While good in the main, the rule works a hardship upon some riders in the City of Newton who go from one village to another. A ride from Upper Falls to Oak Hill calls for one transfer, two bus changes and the payment of 20 cents in fares.

This for a distance of less than three miles. And Thompsonville has a similar situation—residents there must patronize two bus companies who do not exchange transfers, hence a 20-cent fare for a ride of less than two miles. Other like cases as above might be mentioned.

"It would appear that a 10-cent fare should be sufficient to carry a person anywhere in Newton where buses are operated, and furthermore, that without a transfer, a five-cent fare is not unreasonable for short distances. Patrons now 'shell out' a dime for a ride of a half mile. Other bus companies have five-cent fares and it does seem that your directors could do likewise. There are companies that sell a dollar ticket good for a week's riding by one person.

"You may declare that your company cannot afford to change the present setup. Let me suggest why, in all probability, you can. Waltham for years has been benefited by attracting retail buyers to its stores by reason of long distance riding—six to seven miles with a transfer, from the Charles River, Upper Falls, to across the same river beyond to Upper Main st., Waltham or to Waverley. Have not noticed that the directors of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. have requested to be relieved of that long distant carry for 10 cents, or in fact any comparable routes. Granting there's profit or advantage to the company in maintaining the many-mile 10-cent ride, where's the justice in obliging riders to pay 20 cents for a ride in Newton?"

"In two or three years the 10 year contract between your company and the City of Newton will be up again for consideration. It may be that your directors will, before that time comes, have brought about revision of fare tariffs in line with those other companies."

HENRY H. FARNHAM

Henry H. Farnham of 66 Walker st., Newtonville, who had been maintaining and buildings for the Boston & Albany Railroad, died suddenly on Monday, August 23 at South Lyme, Conn. where he and Mrs. Farnham had been spending a vacation.

Mr. Farnham who was 66 years of age was born in Peabody. He was a member of the Masons. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence (Payne) Ladd Farnham and a sister, Mrs. Joseph J. Thorndike of Peabody.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at one o'clock in the Newtonville Methodist Church. Burial will be in Harmony Grove Cemetery, Salem.

THE CAMBRIDGE SUMMER THEATRE

Jeanne Cagney, younger sister to Hollywood's famous Jimmy, will star all next week at The Cambridge Summer Theatre in a gala farewell attraction of the 1943 season. The play chosen for this year's wind-up is the comedy by Eric Hatch, "The Little Darling," a thoroughly entertaining comedy that enjoyed a moderate run in New York this past winter. Originally starring Karen Morley of the films and Barbara Bel Geddes, "The Little Darling" affords Jeanne Cagney a magnificent opportunity to display her unusual ability as an actress of great talent. As Cynthia Brown, daughter of a wealthy author, Jeanne Cagney plays the role of a young lady who is at first a great problem to her father but who sees the error of her attitude long before the final curtain. Sparkling lines, clever dialogue and some excellent characterizations all add up to a great little show on which to close a successful season at Brattle Hall.

Jeanne Cagney, who has been at Brattle Hall throughout the entire season, has demonstrated repeatedly that she is able to uphold the feminine end of the Cagney family. Cast in a wide variety of parts—everything from innocent leads to maids of various nationalities—Jeanne has, week after week, scored heavily with the critics and public alike. There is no question that a brilliant future awaits this youngest member of the Cagney clan. Those who have not seen her in person at Brattle Hall will remember her great work in the prize-winning motion picture, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," in which she played the sister to her real-life brother and played it well enough to be given feature billing in a star-spangled cast.

Jeanne came to Cambridge expressly to learn all there is to know about acting on the legitimate stage. And how well she has mastered the intricacies of the profession can be seen when she steps on the stage next week at Brattle Hall in a role tailor-made to suit her great ability.

In the cast of "The Little Darling" will be seen the regular Cambridge company headed by Louise Valery, William Mendrek, Allan Tower, Richard Hart and Jean Gillespie. Mr. Mendrek has directed the production with the single set of the work of Andrew Mack, Cambridge's most capable scene designer.

There will be one matinee on Saturday, Sept. 4th, the day on which the Cambridge Summer Theatre closes its fourth successful season.

Newton Centre

Chester S. Holbrook celebrated his 18th birthday by giving his parents Mr. and Mrs. Chester T. Holbrook of 11 Chesley rd., Newton Centre.

He arrived last Tuesday from Lakeland, Florida, where he has been attending Florida Southern College since his graduation from Newton High School last June. Chester is studying for the ministry and has had an opportunity to preach at several of the smaller southern churches.

Florida Southern College is noted for its new Annie Pfeiffer Chapel, the first unit of the E. Sterling Jones Foundation, built in 1941. It was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Mrs. M. J. Connelly and Mrs. A. J. Isling, 29 Rotherwood rd., Newton Centre, and Mrs. Helen Morgan, 661 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, are guests at the New Weston in New York City.

Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, Miss Mary E. Stevens, and Miss Janet Grant, are guests at the Equinox House, Manchester-In-The Mountains, Vermont.

On Sunday morning at 11:00 Rev. Richard Cummings will preach in the First Baptist Church, in Newton. Rev. Charles N. Arbuckle, D.D., Pastor. This is the second in a series of three Summer Union Services to be held in this church. The other churches cooperating in these services are: The First Church in Newton (Congregational), The Methodist Church, and The Unitarian Church.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST OF NEWTON

391 Walnut St., Newtonville

SerVICES—Sunday, 10:45—Wednesday, 7:45

In The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and in all of its branches, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, August 29, on the subject: "Christ Jesus."

The Golden Text will be "Thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting" (Micah 5:2). Bible selections will include "Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly. Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me, . . . I and my Father are one" (John 10:24, 25, 30).

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon is: "That saying of our Master, 'I and my Father are one,' separated him from the scholastic theology of the rabbis. His better understanding of God was a rebuke to them. He knew of but one Mind and laid no claim to any other. . . . The opposite and false views of the rabbis, and from their sense Christ's sonship with God. They could not discern his spiritual existence" (p. 315).

Will your son have two strikes against him?

Sure, it's a cinch to get a job today.

But when the war's over, there will probably be a lot of fellows cooling their heels outside of employment agencies.

Will your son be one of them?

Or are you saving now for his education by putting every dollar you can spare into War Bonds and your savings account? Remember, every dollar you save now does double duty. It gives your son a fighting chance tomorrow—and someone else's son a fighting chance today.

Worth saving for, don't you think?

Rotary Club

The speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club last Monday was Rev. F. Davis Davis, minister of the Union Baptist Church, Cambridge. He was introduced by Rev. Louis E. Ford, pastor of the Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton. Both of these gentlemen are of our Negro brotherhood, well educated, and most highly regarded in their communities.

Bro. Davis has traveled extensively abroad, and has studied in European countries.

The speaker was secured for Rotary by Jim Melcher.

Mr. Rev. Davis spoke on the subject: "Better Race Relations" in a manner that left no doubt of his sincerity and loyalty toward his people yet gave his listeners no impression of bitterness or hatred over the r lot. Our country would do well to listen in on small groups such as we had today and hear both sides of a story told in calm discussion and not via riots. We hear much of the "Four Freedoms" and could do much to sell it to the rest of the World by solving the Race problem here in our own country as an example of what can be done by granting one and all, Freedom from Fear and Freedom from Want as this problem of Race discrimination. If these two Freedoms can be guaranteed to all it seems reasonable that Freedom of Security and Religion will almost take care of themselves. Rev. Davis is certain that the recent Race riots in this country were not fomented by Nazi agents but rather by the large influx of both white and Negro people from the South who are not willing to accommodate themselves to the ways of the North. Consequently when an argument starts these transients want to settle it the way they did in the South and if calm heads do not predominate a first class riot results. In almost a year the Negro quarter in Detroit has increased from about 8,000 to 350,000 colored people and then add to that another 250,000 people of the White Race and one can readily see the point of Rev. Davis' statement. Unity is badly needed in this emergency and for the lack of tolerance it seems to have failed as far as these Race riots are concerned. This delicate subject was so tactfully presented by this well spoken Negro Minister that more calm discussion among people seeking the real truth on this Race subject is to be recommended as a possible means towards its ultimate solution. Rotary Clubs throughout the Country with its high standards for service may do well to sponsor speakers such as we had the privilege of listening to.

Guests last Monday were: Ray Fallona, Brookline Club; Harold B. Wyrick, Waltham Club; "Robbie" Robinson, Newton Club; Fred Heaney, Watertown Club; Arthur Pierce, Lexington Club; John Doremus, Guest of C. A. Breed.

Next Monday Mr. Israel Leibman will entertain us on the subject of "Sightseeing Barker" and take us on a "make-believe" trip to the points of interest around Boston town.

All this from one who has had long experience in this phase of dealing with the public. Don't miss it. The speaker will be sponsored by our Past President "Maty" Ruane.

Washington — Two portentous facts dominating the war news have a bearing on Germany's prospects. One is the Nazis' admission that their U-boat campaigns have failed, the other is the partial evacuation of Berlin under the fear of air raids.

These facts are significant enough to those who are trying to foresee the shape of things to come. To military observers they reflect a state of mind in the Nazi Government and among the people that can only mean a fast deterioration of morale.

German cities are being ruined at a rate which must, each week, be adding years to the length of time it will take postwar Germans to restore them. They are beginning to realize that the progressive bombings of manufacturing plants, railroad shops and laboratories could run to a point where Germany's industries would disappear along with her hopes of revival after the war.

Perhaps Hitler and the Junkers who put him in power do not care how many lives they sacrifice, even if they are German lives. Perhaps Hitler does not even care how many cities and industrial plants are destroyed. But the Junkers do. The factories which enable them to make such a successful comeback after 1918 are now being blown up—and they don't like it!

The European scene is altering rapidly. Once more, as in 1918, the real rulers of Germany are worried—as are the people. And in August, 1943, they face a situation appallingly like that of August, 1918. Will they know enough to quit or must they be punished further? We shall have the answer soon.

Following the example of New Orleans, where food prices were cut five per cent in the month following the signing of pledges by more than 250,000 persons, cities throughout the country are launching their "Home Front Pledge" campaigns. Consumers are asked to pledge that they will pay or charge no more than ceiling prices and that they will avoid buying or selling rationed items without exchange of ration stamps. The concerted action of the American people who sign the "Home Front Pledge" can prove a decisive factor in driving the black market out of existence. Let's do it!

During the last war Marshal Hindenburg declared that he would never pursue the Russians far into their country because that would be like punching a pillow. The Nazis figured that the truck and plane had vastly extended operational limits—only to find that they were mistaken. From Leningrad to the Caucasus the Russians are on the offensive.

Day Jr. High

The F. A. Day Junior High School will give placement tests here on Tuesday, September 7, 1943 at 9:00 a.m. This is for all new pupils not yet registered, but does not apply to the seventh graders coming from our elementary schools.

The school office will open Tuesday, September 7 from 8:30 to 4:00 p.m. for registration of new pupils.

Pupils should bring transfer and report cards with them. Parents are urged to accompany children if possible.

School opens Wednesday, September 8, at 8:30 a.m. Also, the school office will be open to issue transfers and register new pupils on Wednesday, September 1, Thursday, September 2 and Friday, September 3 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

RAGWEED PICNIC

On Wednesday, August 18, the boys and girls at the Waban Playground held a ragweed picking contest in order to help rid the playground of this menace to hay fever victims.

There was to be a prize for the greatest pile of ragweed picked, but each participant gathered so much that all contestants were taken to Rhodes Pharmacy and treated to ice cream sodas and sundaes.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE DEPT. MOVES TO LARGER QUARTERS

The Life Insurance Department of the Newton Savings Bank has just moved into larger quarters on the second floor of the Bank Building, where, in the future, all

One by one the German strongholds are falling and the Nazi war machine, led ironically enough by space-conscious geographers, seems to be trying to wear out the Russians by yielding spaces in the same manner in which the Russians were out the Nazis in '41 and '42. With this difference, however, that the Nazis may have to yield space right up to Berlin before they wear out the Reds.

Most likely the Germans will attempt to shorten their lines by retreating to the Molke Line near Lake Peipus to Odessa, in the hope of holding it for the winter.

It is using language carelessly to describe the German withdrawal across the narrow Strait of Messina as "another Dunkirk." The Germans not only had several weeks in which to get ready but they knew from the day of the invasion that they were in a sticky situation. The main job from the beginning was to hold on as long as possible in order to gain time for military dispositions on the mainland.

To compare that operation—on well protected roads and the narrow body of water that separates Sicily from the Italian mainland—with the British retreat from the Channel is sheer stupidity. Courage and genius made the true Dunkirk possible, a retreat that may yet prove to be the most memorable action of the whole war.

WALTER PIERCE REPORTS: A few victories do not mean cancellation of war orders... or that the non-war industry is to be given the go signal... Germany is still very much in the war and has plenty of punch left in her... Italy's collapse simply means that the war is six months ahead of schedule—and guns, planes, ships and ammunition are needed six months earlier than had been anticipated... The watchword should be "full speed ahead!"... Here is the story of the Russian front: 1941—the Nazis attack on a front of 2000 miles; 1942—on a front of 400 miles; 1943—on a front of 30 miles—and that goes in reverse!... Reports of Ethiopian troops among the British in Sicily is false. Sicilians, however, still pale whenever they encounter a dark skinned soldier... Hitler's own words (to the Reichstag, 1940): "We know that if Fascist Italy were to go down, it would be the end of Nazi Germany." For once we agree with you, Adolf... Joe McWilliams, former small fry nazifile, blames intolerance for costing him his job in a war industry. Many other rats will be hollering "intolerance" soon...

business connected with Savings Bank Life Insurance will be transacted.

The Life Insurance Department of the bank was established in March, 1937, and today there is insurance in force amounting to over $7,500,000. This amount represents over 8,000 policies and is convincing proof of the popularity of this low-cost "over-the-counter" life insurance. In the system of Savings Bank Life Insurance in Massachusetts there is insurance of all kinds in force totalling over $235,000,000 and representing more than 260,000 policies.

NEWTON MOTOR CORPS DRIVES FOR PEABODY HOME

Members of the Newton Red Cross Motor Corps have been driving the children from the Peabody Home for Crippled Children to various mid-summer treats.

On Monday, August 16, 20 children were taken to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard in Oak Hill for an all-day outing. After a delicious lunch cooked on the outdoor fireplace (with Mr. Kennard acting as chef), an exciting treasure hunt was organized. The prize was a box full of pennies—but no one minded losing, as each child was given a "consolation" prize in the form of a box of crackerjacks. The youngsters were transported by Mrs. Kennard, Mrs. Edna Drescher, Mrs. Stuart Koster, Miss Jean Harvey and Mrs. Philip K. Brown.

Wednesday, August 18, was especially busy. In the morning Miss Ruthie Smith, Mrs. D. Morley Lodge and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard took 15 children and a nurse to the Esplanade Concert for children. And in the afternoon, Mrs. Kennard called for 6 boys and took them and a nurse to the double-header at Braves Field.

This WEEK, This WORLD

by Ted Friend

TRADITIONAL GERMAN SQUEALING for pity when it is up against it, is making itself heard once again. Having dragged the world into war, having maimed two score nations, having bombed, murdered, robbed, having conspired with fellow gangster nations, Italy and Japan, to sack the world, Germany is now getting ready to appeal to the soft-heartedness of its opponents. There can be no surer sign than that the day of reckoning is just around the corner.

Berlin newspapers smacked their lips with delight when reports came in of the Luftwaffe's bombing of London, Coventry and Plymouth. The firing of Rotterdam, after Holland's surrender, was considered just a pleasant day's work. The leveling of Belgrade, which had been declared an open city to save its historic monuments, was treated as a glorious feat of German arms.

But now that German cities are getting a taste of what they gave to others, the Berlin Lokanzeiger, among other German newspapers, whines: "This bombing is a stab against people without defense!"

It is doubtful if the German people will succeed in hoodwinking the world as they did after the last war. For one thing, the streamers which are likely to have been in fashioning the peace—Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin—will know better than to trust German professions of good faith. For another, the millions of victims of German handiwork—in Norway, France, Poland, Holland, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Greece among others—will insist upon a proper and prolonged breeding out of the insidious Teutonic will to conquest.

That—or another World War in 1965!

EPITAPH FOR MUSSOLINI: "Intrabit ul yulps, regnabit ul leo, mortuul ul canis"—Dierckx speaks in like foxes, reign like lions, die like dogs.—Horace.

QUOTE - OF - THE - MONTH: "When the United Nations have won the present conflict—and we are winning it—the battle to win the peace to safeguard the world from future wars still remains to be fought. And in that battle, as in the war we are engaged in today, the free press of this world will be called upon to help to shape the course of human destiny." Frederick E. Hasler, president of the Pan-American Society, in an address before a group of Latin-American journalists.

ONE OF THE MOST important meetings ever held in the United States was that which took place in the Atlanta Hotel when the Southern Council on Regional Development, consisting of 16 whites and 13 negroes, met to concern itself with racial problems. Headed by Howard W. Odum, of Chapel Hill, and Charles S. Johnson of Fisk University, the Council went on record that "The negro in the United States is entitled to and should have every opportunity that every other citizen has within the framework of the American democratic system of government."

The Council's courageous stand will find no support in Ku Klux Klan, Silver Shirt or Black Legion circles—which have profitably exploited race and religious problems to attract the crackpot contingent in American life—but it will make a hopeful impression on Southerners who have long deplored the arid thinking of latter day Simon Legrees. Now if the race and religious provocateurs in the Northern States, such as the bloody gangsters who ran loose in Detroit, can be effectively curtailed, the United States may be truly on its way to an era of good feeling.

Organizations such as the Southern Council on Regional Development are to be commended for their activities in counter threatening friction between racial or religious entities. Their acceptance of the responsibility—shared by all right thinking citizens irrespective of race, creed or color—of seeking out ways and means of preventing and/or eradicating misunderstanding is in the traditions of American democracy.

THIS OUGHT to stun Messrs. Hitler, Himmler, Goebbels and Goering: War Production Board Chairman, Donald M. Nelson, has set a goal of 10,000 planes per month by the end of the year!

THE MOST RECENT Gallup poll indicates that while neither Dewey nor Willkie could quite defeat Roosevelt, if national elections were held this week, that Dewey would make a slightly stronger Republican candidate than Willkie.

An important advantage enjoyed by Dewey over Willkie, however, is his resplendent job of fence-sitting on important issues. It is doubtful if he could maintain his 4 per cent margin over Willkie as a candidate in the give-and-take of an election fight, particularly with Roosevelt as an opponent. One small slip in political judgment and even his short end of 45-to-55, which favors the President, would shrink.

Important observation to be made from the Gallup poll is that the fourth-term is a cropper and done for. Obviously, when the people overturned the two-term tradition they did not mean for a three-term tradition to take its place. If anything, they underscored the fact that there may be as much wisdom in the right circumstances of electing a President three or more times than there is a Governor, a Senator or a Mayor.

Among the political know-nothings opinions are that Republican chances would be brightened with a progressive slate made up of Wendell Willkie and Earl Warren. With the country reassured as to foreign affairs—the Democratic Party, particularly its Reynolds, Dies, Rankins and Nyes assume a dangerous ascendancy—might be turned out of office.

Working in favor of Willkie and Warren are their realistic thinking on foreign affairs, and their approach to essential social measures, and their personal and political integrity.

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND Vichy traitors have been judged in absentia and condemned to death by the French Underground movement. There will be no further trials when Free France again comes into its own. Only execution of sentences by quick moving two-men execution squads! This is in line with the recent statement of Gen. De Gaulle: "France will punish as traitors those so-called leaders who rushed headlong into capitulation in June, 1940, who used disaster to strangle liberty, who delivered themselves to the Germans under the symbol of collaboration."

T. A. Harrington, special free delivery inspector of the post office department, was in Newton to see about the request for free delivery. He was surprised to find that Newton was so large a place, and after driving about agreed that it had over 9,000 population. The sidewalks and streets signs and the revenues of the office, he said, were all that were required for free delivery and the only objection he saw was that few of the houses were numbered. This would have to be done before any action was taken, and as soon as it was done he could see nothing to prevent free delivery. The matter now remains with the people and if they desire free delivery, they must number their houses and the proper numbers can be obtained of the City Surveyor.

Mr. Miner, the proprietor of the depot barge in Newton Upper Falls, has reduced the fare, giving now 16 rides for a dollar, which is certainly cheap enough. The old store building in Newton Highlands is on rollers again, and this time will go westward.

50 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 25, 1893

William Frazier has been granted a license to run a barge from Oak Square to Newton, and is receiving a fair amount of patronage.

The supply of peaches this year is said to be unusually large, and some fine ones are coming to Newton. The local grocers say their orders now are mostly for sugar, which indicates that the canning season has begun.

The consensus of opinion here among the old time fire laddies is that the "Nonantum" is a star tub and capable of winning a good share of the prize money offered in the various tournaments. Its performance at Worcester, where it won 4th prize, is considered very creditable, especially when it is remembered that all the crack tubs of the state entered the competition.

Mr. B. S. Hatch has opened a coal and wood office in the old post office, Robinson block, which will be very convenient to West Newton people. He sells coal of the best quality and all orders will be promptly attended to.

The trustees of the Newton cemetery have purchased of Mr. Henry Ross, the property on the corner of Walnut and Homer sts., comprising 7 acres of land and several houses, and will probably add it to the cemetery grounds. As his property adjoins the cemetery it is wise for the cemetery to control it, so that no undesirable buildings can be constructed there.

The kindergarten, opened at the Hamilton school last spring, but discontinued after a short time, will be tried again Sept. 11, and it is thought with good success.

25 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 23, 1918

The Hostess House, which was made possible by the hospitality of the Newton Club, for the use of the soldiers in training at the Technical High School, will be reopened. During the stay in Newtonville of the first detachment about 200 soldiers and friends were entertained, and 25 laddies served as hostesses. The

A Soldier Speaks

Hitherto most of the comment about the highly-publicized Senatorial tour of the globe has been confined to newspapermen, politicians and interested citizens in this country. A week ago, however, a Boston paper started its readers by publishing some pungent comments by our fighting Yanks in North Africa. Most of my readers undoubtedly realize that Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is a member of this distinguished party. As a matter of fact, I seem to recall that our Junior Senator had made plans to report the entire tour for the benefit of the Associated Press. Somebody in Washington didn't care for the idea and the scheme was called off.

Now to the point. The Boston paper referred to quotes a sergeant in North Africa as follows:—"While Congress is on vacation, and the armies go on gloriously without respite, these intrepid Representatives fly through the air with the greatest of ease.—That they should burn up tens of thousands of gallons of the gas we have, which is precious and the oil which is so needed, isn't enough. No, there's the time taken up of those who must stand about and hang on every one of their words. Two planes stand idle for days while they, in smoke-filled rooms, go into huddles with themselves and with our officers, should men and cargo and mail for the boys who are fighting be left waiting in the field while these planes stand about?"

At this juncture there is a rather torrid blast at Senator Lodge, due to his apparent isolationist stand in the early days of the war and prior thereto. Then the sergeant winds up in this manner: "If the Senators pretend that they know a damned bit more about anything when they return, they are off the beam. Meantime, they consume time and money which could certainly be put to more effect in the war. They've done more tearing down on soldier morale in their grand manner than even they realize. Realization may come when they listen to the 1944 election returns."

Suppose we let this matter rest right there.

Watch New York

The rabid anti-Willkie politicians who have been engaged in frantically building up Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York have recently run into a bad snag. The Court of Appeals—the highest in the state—has ruled that a successor to the late Lieutenant Governor, Thomas W. Wallace, Schenectady Republican, must be chosen at the November 2 polls. Certain G.O.P. leaders had been hoping that the office could remain unfilled until 1946, inasmuch as the duties of Lieutenant Governor devolve upon the President pro tem of the State Senate. (I wonder how they got that way!) However, the point is just this: if a Democrat should win in November and Gov. Dewey should, by some strange chance, be nominated for President the following June, the state would automatically go back into the Democratic column, because Dewey would have to resign and his second-in-command would take over. That would be a rather heavy price for the G.O.P. to pay for Dewey's advancement into the national arena; too heavy, probably.

One more point. It seems to me that there is an underlying note of insincerity in this entire Dewey publicity. The New York Governor has stated flatly and without equivocation that he WILL SERVE his entire four-year term. If he really means what he says, why in the name of common sense doesn't he call off his resourceful promotion boys and keep his eye on the ball in New York? Running the Empire State is a tremendous job, especially in war-time. Dewey apparently made an excellent start. Let him finish the job and THEN take his chances with the whole flock of White House aspirants in 1948, which will be only two short years after the expiration of his term as Governor.

Finally, frankness compels me to record my belief that all this publicity about 1944 may turn out to be "much ado about nothing." My thought is that in June, 1944 our country will almost certainly still be at war, even if the intuitive paper-hanger has been tossed into the ash-can by then. What possible chance does ANY Republican, with single exception of Wendell L. Willkie, have against our very astute Commander-in-Chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, provided Mr. Roosevelt decides that he would like to run for a fourth term. The argument against swapping horses in mid-stream would be even more effective in 1944 than it was in 1940. Think that over and see if there is not considerable merit in it.

Robert T. Bushnell

The day after the Herald came out with a humorous front-page story about the absence from town of our fighting Attorney General, I was given a tip that Bob Bushnell is NOT engaged in lack in Newtonville of hotel facilities has made this a convenient meeting place and resting place for the friends and relatives of the soldiers, and many expressions of pleasure and gratitude were made by tired wives and mothers for the benefits of the Hostess House.

2nd Lt. Willetta Mosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Mosser of 128 Avalon rd., Waban, is now stationed at an Army hospital in England. Lt. Mosser served at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York before enlisting in the Army Nurses' Corps in March, 1942. Her brother, Jacob Mosser, is serving with the U. S. Navy.

First Lieutenant Richard C. Schofield, of 56 Pierrepont rd., Newton Lower Falls, has been promoted to the grade of Captain, according to a recent announcement by Col. Donald B. Smith, commanding officer of this technical school in the Army Air Forces Training Command at Seymour Johnson Field, N. C. The son of Dr. and Mrs. Otho L. Schofield of 60 Washington st., Wellesley Hills, Capt. Schofield is a graduate of the University of Toronto, class of 1938. He was a practicing veterinarian at the time he entered the Army at Boston, Mass., June 20, 1939. At this field he is attached to the post veterinary clinic.

Capt. Schofield is married and the father of a one-year-old daughter, Jill.

Pfc. Robert W. Brewer was graduated Aug. 26 from the Liberator bomber mechanics' school at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., and is now ready for line duty or further training under the Army Air Forces Training Command. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brewer, 49 Bowers st., Newtonville.

Now qualified as a B-24 mechanic, Pvt. Brewer will join the ranks of the green-clad army maintaining the big four-engine aircraft, be sent to a factory school for further specialized training, or go to one of the Training Command's aerial gunnery schools.

Paul R. Viles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell I. Viles of 6 Orchard st., Newton, was promoted to the grade of Corporal for his excellent work at the Marianna Army Air Field, Florida, where he is an airplane mechanic. He was formerly shop foreman for Barclay Chemical Company, Cambridge.

Morris M. Ringel, of Manhattan, N. Y., C. New York, is now stationed at the Army Air Forces Basic Training Center, Kearns, Utah, it is announced by Col. Conner R. Lewis, Commander. Pvt. Ringel has been in the Army Air Forces since July 12, 1943.

His wife, Mrs. Tybee Ringel, resides at 32 Park lane, Newton Centre. He has a brother, Capt. Wm. E. Ringel, of AAF Dothan, Ala.

Rinaldo F. Santucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi S. Santucci of 418 Langley rd., Newton Centre, has just been appointed a flight officer at the "Home of the Winged Commandos," at Lubbock, South Plains Army Air Field, Texas.

The graduating officers have completed intensive training in large cargo and troop-carrying gliders. SPAAF is the largest glider school in the country.

Eugene Daniels of 29 Ellison rd., High School, 1942, has just completed a course at the Photography School, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., and was graduated as Photographer's Mate, 3rd Class. He is now stationed at Anacostia, D. C., where he is taking a two months' additional course in advance motion pictures.

Clovis von T. Crummett of 57 Walnut st., Newtonville, who volunteered in the Signal Corps before Pearl Harbor and rose to Staff Sergeant, has recently received his commission as Second Lieutenant at Officers Candidate School, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. He has just been assigned to Fort Devens as Visual Aid Co-ordinator. A graduate of Newton High School and a photographer in civilian life, Lt. Crummett is married and has one little boy, Lance.

Pfc. Lester Frederick Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Paterson of 22 Bowers st., Newtonville, has graduated today from the armament school at Lowry Field, Col. of the Army Air Forces Training Command.

Pfc. Paterson was graduated from Newton High School in 1937 and was a member of the Order of DeMolay. He enlisted on June 10, 1943, and was graduated from the aerial gunner school at Lowry Field. He arrived at Lowry Field on July 11, 1943.

PFC. Ruth Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fulton, 55 Hillside ave., West Newton, was among a group of WACS sworn into the Women's Army Corps at an impressive ceremony in historic St. Peter's Church, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16.

Helena B. Mein, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Klein, 68 Larchmont ave., Waban, a member of the Women's Reserve of the Navy, was recently graduated from the Naval Training School for Yeoman, located on the campus of the Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls, Ia. She was advanced to the petty officer rating of yeoman, third class, upon graduation.

Lt. Arthur C. Marquardt of 20 Crofton rd., Waban, is attending the Antiaircraft Artillery School, Camp Davis, N. C.

CLARENCE L. HAUTHAWAY

Clarence L. Hawthaway, noted amateur naturalist and sportsman, of 227 Temple st., West Newton, died on Sunday, August 22, at the New England Baptist Hospital.

Mr. Hawthaway was graduated from Harvard College in 1910. He was president of C. L. Hawthaway and Sons of Lynn and was a recognized authority on fish and wild life in New England. He was a trustee of the New England Baptist Hospital and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Boston.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.
Floy (Wisher) Hawthaway, and three sons, John R. of Quincy, Clarence L., Jr., and Bartlett N.
Hawthaway, and also by two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from his home on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. H. A. Dunham has filed a claim against the City of Newton for damage to her property at 70 and 70 1/2 Cottage st., Newton Upper Falls resulting from the explosion on May 31 at the Masten
& Wells Fireworks Manufacturing Company on Needham st., Newton Upper Falls.

Oscar Berenson of 29 Cloverdale rd., Newton Highlands, reported that gasoline had been stolen from the tank of his car while it was parked in front of his home.

The Boston Chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants, through its President, James F. Cullen, announces the reappointment of Earl B. Bourne as associate director for the coming year.

Mr. Bourne is a life-long resident of Newton, now residing at 128 Danehill rd., Newton Highlands. He is connected with the H. A. Johnson Company, Boston, as head of the Accounting Department; a graduate of Newton
High School, Bryant & Stratton and Bentley School of Accounting & Finance.

Mr. Bourne is a member of Norumbega Lodge of Masons and active in the ARP organization in the Oak Hill section.

Newton police on Saturday of a break at the home of the late Mrs.
Ellen H. Kelley at 43 Floral st., Newton Highlands. Entrance had been gained through a rear window. Considerable damage was done to the house and windows in the garage and henhouse were broken.

William A. Thompson of 134
North st., Newtonville, reported that 12 chickens had been stolen from the hencoop on his property.

Kiwanis Activities

The annual outing for the children of the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children, was held Tuesday, under the auspices of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

Under the leadership of "Eddie" Cannon, Chairman of the Underprivileged Child Committee, and assisted by "Jim" Daly, "Bob" Wilcox, "Wallie" Finlay, "Archie" Bellinger, "Jack" Cable and "Bill" Sullivan, the children were escorted from the hospital to the Newton Y.M.C.A., where they received a chicken dinner, with all the fixings.

After the dinner, which was heartily enjoyed by all, the children were taken to Norumbega Park. Mrs. William Payne, wife of the Club Secretary, accompanied by Miss Bishop and one attendant, helped to bring the two-ty-five children to the Park. On their arrival there, Mr. Gill, Manager of Norumbega Park, made available to them all of the amusement facilities.

After an afternoon of merrily-go-rounds and paddle boats, etc., the children were escorted, tired but happy, back to the Home.

Those children who could not make the trip, received kindness through the kindness of one of the Club members, Frank Lombard.

Walter Hood, Acting President, welcomed the children, and told them how happy the Newton Kiwanis Club was in furnishing this entertainment.

The work of the Underprivileged Child Committee, is one of the principal objects of Kiwanis.

Real Estate News

Carley Realty reports the sale of two outstanding homes in the Auburndale area of the Newton.
The picturesque English brick home located at 244 Woodland rd., near Lassell College, consisting of 9 rooms, 3 baths, double garage and 28,295 sq. ft. of beautiful grounds, has been conveyed to Fern D. Haselton for Fitzhugh W. Traylor, now of Indianapolis.
The same office also has sold the new white Colonial at 194 Islington rd., in the Kingswood area, to Alden P. and Jessie A.
Gardner of Hingham. The property has 6 rooms, 1 1/2 baths, and a spacious lot overlooking the winding Charles.

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that they have sold the brick and frame home located at 31 Lodge rd., in the West Newton section. The house contains 6 rooms, lavatory, tiled bath and basement playroom. Together with 6720 sq. ft. of land, the house is valued at $7100. Vincent Capisi was the purchaser and Thomas H. Enokian was the grantor.

In the Newton Highlands district Burns' office has sold for John R. and Myrtle Elliott the single frame residence of 7 rooms to Charles J. Crowley, Jr. The house and the attractively graded lot of 5500 sq. ft. is taxed for $6300.

The property numbered 65
Capital st., comprising 8 rooms, 2 baths, has been sold by the same office to George Howard.
Arnold and Thelma Woodward conveyed title. The house, 2-car garage and the 6000 sq. ft. of land has a tax assessment of $6600.

The office of Charles J. Kinchla reports the sale of the Garrison Colonial located at 11 Prospect Terrace, Newtonville. The house, a frame Colonial, contains 6 rooms, sunporch, tile bath, together with an attached garage and 6500 sq. ft. of land. The City of Newton carries a valuation on the property in the amount of $7700. Title was conveyed by Royal B. Parker to William J. and Mary E. Halpin.

Alvord Bros., active realtors of Newton, report that they have sold the trim, barn-red, frame house at 106 Brookline st., which is in the Oak Hill section of Newton Centre. The structure is of Colonial design, with a living room, dining room, kitchen, chamber and bath on first floor; and two chambers and bath compose the second floor. The heating system is gas and the dwelling incorporates many modern conveniences. There is a single-car attached garage, and the lot contains approximately 7791 sq. ft.
Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hall, of Rockport, Mass., gave title to Mr. and Mrs. Eric H. Hansen, of Newton, Mass., who have already occupied their new home. The premises are valued for tax purposes at $8400.

The above office further reports having consummated the sale of a West Newton property, at 170
Fuller st. This charming, older type home contains 6 rooms and bath, and there is a 2-car garage with attached workshop. There is an interesting lot, which is large, well shrubbed and landscaped, being one of the showplaces of this section. Title was conveyed by Harriet L. Frost of Boston, Mass., to Robert C. Appel and Helen R.
Appel of Belmont, Mass. The buildings, together with 16,276 sq. ft. of land, are assessed by the City of Newton for tax purposes at $8700.

NEWTON SOLDIERS MAY NOW RECEIVE CIGARETTES DIRECT

A carton of cigarettes will be sent free to every Newton serviceman overseas whose address is given to the Citizens Committee for Service to Newton Service Men, Chairman Roy S. Edwards announced today.

Chairman Edwards' announcement follows: "Since the Citizens' Committee, two months ago, sent 400,000 cigarettes to service men in the Pacific and North African battle fronts, postal regulations have been changed so that cigarettes can now be sent directly to the individual servicemen overseas."

"The Committee has a balance of money on hand from its citywide collection and wants to send to each Newton serviceman overseas a carton of cigarettes. Relatives and friends are requested to send to Chairman Roy S. Edwards a City Hall the complete military mailing address of Newton men overseas. Promptly on receipt of the information Chairman Edwards will send a carton of American cigarettes to the serviceman."

Nurse's Aide

A day class will be started the middle of September at the Newton Hospital. After the course of training, these Aides will help the overtaxed nursing staffs at the hospital, the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, the Wellesley Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital and the Newton District Nursing Association.
They will also be eligible for service at the new Federal Hospital, now under construction in Framingham, where they will have an opportunity to help the returning wounded service men. Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., chairman of this Corps, will interview applicants on Tuesday, August 31, Wednesday, September 1, and Thursday, September 2, from 10 to 12 in the morning, at the Chapter House, 21 Foster st., Newtonville.

Sewing Workrooms

The various sewing groups throughout the Villages are planning to meet immediately after Labor Day, on the usual day of the week and at the regular meeting places. The only exception is the Newton group meeting at the Methodist Church, which will resume work on September 13.

DR. L. CURTIS TURNER

Funeral services for Dr. L. Curtis Turner of 4 Avondale rd., Newton Centre who died on Monday, August 23, at his summer home in Hollis, N. H., are being held at 2:30 this afternoon at the W. C.
Goodrich Funeral Home in Lynn.
Burial will be in the Swampscott Cemetery.

Dr. Turner was in his 78th year.
He was born in Duxbury, Vermont and was a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy.
For the past 25 years he had conducted an office in Boston.

He was a past master of Joseph Warren Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and St. Andrew's Chapter, Knights Templar.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.
Etta B. Turner, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Heath of Newton Centre.

Camp Frank A. Day

One of the feature programs of the year at Camp Day was the appearance on Tuesday evening of Chief Henry Red Eagle, a full-blooded Algonquin Indian. He arrived in camp just as the boys were assembling for their evening meal. They gave him a rousing welcome singing lusty Camp Day songs. "For he's a jolly good fellow."

After supper campers and coun-sellers gathered on the boat house piazza and watched Red Eagle give an interesting demonstration on the proper handling of a canoe.
In his canoe demonstration Red Eagle emphasized the safe handling of a canoe and disparaged tricky maneuvers of the Charles River variety.

Following the canoe demonstration at the waterfront which was interspersed with humorous remarks about the dry canoe given him with water up to his ankles, the crowd gathered in front of the dining-hall where he gave a demonstration of axmanship. As he had done so many times at sportsmen's shows in Boston, New York and other leading cities of the country, he severed a large log in record time.

The evening wound up with Red Eagle talking to the campers in the mess hall on Indian custom and legend. He gave the campers a genuine sample of an Indian war dance and a moose call. Red Eagle's visit is still being talked about at camp, and the current question that the program director has to answer, "Will he be back next season?" "We hope so, boys."

Another big event of the past week was Campers' Day and all the events leading up to it. On Wednesday evening a pre-election town meeting of the air was held at which time the party platform of the Whigs, Tories, and White Caps were presented and at which time each candidate for office had an opportunity to present reasons for his election to office. It was an hilarious affair with candidates presenting ridiculous promises in the face of hecklers from the opposing parties. The Tories seemed to be the most alert and aggressive of the parties with candidates for election. They outtalked their opponents on Wednesday evening, and the next day at the polls they also overwhelmingly outvoted them returning to office almost their entire slate of candidates.

The able leadership accorded them.
The polls were open from ten to twelve on Thursday. Voting booths were built on the front porch. The voters entered from one end of the porch, had their names crossed off on the checklist, proceeded to vote, and on the way out on the opposite end of the porch dropped their ballots in the ballot box. The election was run off in orderly fashion with none of the boys going to the polls, in fact a much larger percentage went to the polls at Camp Day than go to the polls at an ordinary political election in one of our towns or cities.

The following boys were elected to office: Camp Director to fill
Mr. Johnson's position, Don
Keith; Program Director to fill
Mr. Riley's position, John Earle; Waterfront man, Richmond Gleason;
Senior Director, Fred Allen;
Midnight Director, Bob Watson; Senior Officer of the Day, Steve Feinberg; Junior Officer of the Day, Ken Hoyt; Midway Officer of the Day, Dave Nunez; Camp Doctor, Allison Whorf; Camp Bugler, Allan Good.

On Campers' Day eve, Thursday night, the weekly movie was shown "The Mark of Zoro."
Friday the candidates selected to office took over the running of camp. They showed a fine spirit of responsibility. There was no rough house as in recent years, and the day passed in good orderly fashion. We congratulate the campers elected to office for their fine handling of Campers Day.

Friday evening the Camp Day Basketball team took on the Brookfield Town Team once again and overwhelmingly defeated them by the score of 52 to 28.
Noel Roberts was high scorer for the game. Following the ball game, the entire camp was given a quick in and out swim, and the evening was topped off with a camp fire in the council ring from 6:30 to 9 o'clock. Loudon did a fine job building a council fire, the atmosphere was just right, and the best camp fire of the season was enjoyed by the campers.

At the Saturday Nighter, Fred Brown, our chef, was the feature of the evening with his talk on Ind music, taking up where Red Eagle left off, and with the special numbers that he selected to play. All the campers want Mr.
Brown again. He certainly elevated the character of the Saturday
Nighters we have had this season.

Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon the final canoe regatta of the season was run off. The results were as follows:

MOTION PICTURE MEN PLEDGE COOPERATION TO WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE IN THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE

Full cooperation of the motion picture industry in the Third War Loan was pledged today by Samuel Pinanski and Nathan Yamins, co-chairmen of the industry's War Activities Committee, and I. H.
Rogovin, distributor chairman for this area.

The co-chairmen made it clear that the industry in all its branches has placed itself at the disposal of the War Finance Committee to serve with newspapers, radio, retailers and outdoor advertisers in combined operations.

"The motion picture industry's national, state and local organization dovetails with that of the War Finance Committee at every point," they said. "In this campaign we are working for the government. Local arrangements for the industry's participation are being made after consultation with representatives of the WFC in each community. That will insure teamwork all along the line."

Plans for participation in the campaign by film stars are being worked out by the Hollywood Victory Committee in consultation with General Chairman Griffith, he said. He assured the Massachusetts War Finance Commtee chairman, Albert P. Everts, that he could count on the services of a veteran army made up of the management and staff of Massachusetts motion picture theatres enrolled in the film industry's state War Activities Commtee.

DR. WALTER G. BRIDGE

Dr. Walter George Bridge, 68,
